U. S. FARM CREDIT AGENCIES CONSOLIDATED, STABILIZATION BUYING ENDED BY PRESIDENT

DEPUTY PREDICTS FRENCH PAYMENT OF OVERDUE DEBT

Ambassador Claudel and Jacques Stern Visit President Roosevelt While Lindsay Talks With Secretary Hull.

PARIS ASKS SPEED ON TRADE PARLEY

Stern Gives Unofficial Opinion That France Will Pay $19,000,000 Delinquent Installment.

By F. G. VOSBURGH.

WASHINGTON, March 27.—(AP)—At both the White House and the state department today, representatives of America's biggest war debtors—Great Britain and France—engaged in economic discussions of world import.

The opinion that France will pay its $19,000,000 war debt installment due last December 15, was expressed to newspapermen by one of the callers upon President Roosevelt, a member of the French chamber of deputies.

In making this prediction the French legislator, Jacques Stern, emphasized that it was his own personal view and that he had not been personally in touch with conditions in France for the last two weeks. Stern, a Paris banker, voted in the minority when the chamber last December decided against meeting the payment.

Early Conferences Asked.

Ambassador Paul Claudel, who introduced Stern to the president, said war debts had not figured in their 20-minute conversation although other economic matters were discussed. The French poet-ambassador said he had told Mr. Roosevelt he hoped the world economic conference would be held as soon as possible. The date for the conclave, for which American statesmen are busily preparing, has not yet been set although it is expected to take place about midsummer in London.

Claudel's statement today that the sooner the conference is held the better, was seen as indicating a possibility that efforts would be made to hold it possibly as early as May or June.

At the state department, meanwhile, Anglo-American parleys on questions expected to come up were resumed in an hour and a half of earnest consultation between Secretary Cordell

Struck Down by Auto, Girl Instantly Killed

Struck down by an automobile as she dismounted from a school bus in front of her home, Leslie Virginia Stewart, 7-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. F. Stewart, of Flat Shoals road, was almost instantly killed Monday afternoon. The driver of the car, Ansley Goddard, 20, of Second avenue, East Lake, is being held by DeKalb county police pending an investigation.

The little girl attended the Panthersville school and was returning home in the bus from the afternoon session. She was struck as she walked from the machine onto Flat Shoals road near Sugar creek. Goddard carried her to a near-by filling station and she was brought to Grady hospital but was dead upon arrival. Goddard then reported the matter to police.

Marksman Ends Life After Drawing Crowd

LONG BEACH, Cal., March 27. (AP)—Joseph A. Rucker, 37, mail clerk on the U. S. S. Vestal, told an attendant at a shooting gallery today "Let's see how good I am."

Rucker emptied four rifles. His marksmanship was far above the average. A crowd gathered to watch.

"I'll try it again," he said, and picked up a fifth rifle. With the crowd gazing horror-stricken, he shot himself through the brain.

A note in Rucker's clothing said he was wanted by the navy for being absent from his ship without leave since March 21 and by federal authorities for misappropriation of funds.

NAZIS THREATEN TO BOYCOTT JEWS IN DEFENSE MOVE

Step Would Be Taken in Retaliation for Anti-German Activities In Other Nations.

By the Associated Press.

An "anti-lie" campaign was started Monday night by the German government as mass meetings were conducted in many parts of the world in protest against alleged mistreatment of Jews in Germany.

Chancellor Hitler's nazi party threatened imminent boycotts against Jewish business in the reich in answer to similar threats against German goods.

"Sharp counter-active measures" were announced by the nazi minister of propaganda against those responsible for reports of Jewish atrocities.

Eleven anti-Hitler meetings were conducted in Warsaw, and a score of gatherings were held in other Polish cities. At Lodz, orthodox Jews fasted.

Despite statements that there were no atrocities in Germany, thousands of Jews in New York met to express their sorrow and indignation over the reported developments in the reich.

In Sofia, Bulgaria, 15 persons were hurt when young fascists, cheering for Chancellor Hitler, stormed a mass meeting of Jews.

A number of nationalist steel helmet leaders and many civilians were arrested in Brunswick, Germany, on charges of plotting a counter-revolutionary attempt against the nazi party.

Telegrams expressing indignation at "exaggerations" of atrocity reports were sent to America by members of the protestant clergy, industrialists, and representatives of Jewish organizations in Germany.

Twenty Jewish physicians were ousted from Berlin hospitals in a "clean-up" campaign.

Representative Sirovich, of New York, offered a resolution in the United States house of representatives asking that all treaties between the United States and Germany be abrogated unless the abuses charged come to an end.

Dr. K. O. Bertling, director of Amerika Institut, in Berlin, in a telegram to Nicholas Murray Butler, president of the Carnegie endowment for international peace, said he was "shocked at the gross misinterpretation of recent German events."

The former German crown prince cabled George Sylvester Viereck, the author, deploring that the American people should have become "victimized" by a "propaganda of lies" against the German government.

U. S. Will Protest Bombing of Mission

PEIPING, China, March 28.—(Tuesday)—(UP)—The United States will make representations to the Japanese diplomatic authorities here as a result of an air raid by Japanese planes that bombed the American Methodist mission property at Taotowying, near Peiping, it was announced today.

United States Minister Nelson T. Johnson told the United Press that as a result of his study of official reports on the bombing, which killed nine Chinese men, women and children and endangered the lives of two American missionaries, he would take up the incident with Shoichi Nakayama, Japanese charge d'affaires here, at once.

GENEVA MAY ASK U. S. TO SUPPORT BAN ON JAP ARMS

Drummond Replies to Nipponese Withdrawal in Brief Letter; League Committee Meets Today.

By STEWART BROWN.

GENEVA, March 27.—(UP)—The United States will be expected to participate in a world arms embargo against Japan, to be declared as a result of her withdrawal from the League of Nations, it was indicated here tonight.

Sir Eric Drummond, secretary-general of the League, announced he had received a dispatch from Tokio giving notice of Japan's withdrawal from the League as a result of the censure in that body's report on the Chinese-Japanese controversy in Manchuria.

Drummond immediately wrote Japan a brief letter acknowledging the cable and recalling the terms of paragraph three, article 1 of the covenant. This paragraph emphasizes that 'any member of the League may, after two years' notice of its intention so to do, withdraw from the League, provided that all its international obligations and all its obligations under this covenant shall have been fulfilled at the time of its withdrawal."

Arms Embargo Issue.

The next step, it was indicated, would be for the advisory committee on the Manchuria dispute to ask an arms embargo against Japan, in which officials confidently expected America's full co-operation.

The smaller powers very likely will demand immediate economic sanctions, or penalties, delegates believed, together with the withdrawal of ambassadors and ministers in Japan, under the vague provisions of article 10.

Article 10 recites the undertaking of the nations to "respect and preserve as against external aggression the territorial integrity and existing political independence of all members of the League," and gives the council power to advise upon the means of enforcing this declaration of principle.

The advisory committee will meet tomorrow afternoon.

The receipt of Tokio's withdrawal notice was a signal for the marshaling of the League's forces in an attempt to force Japan to respect the League's decision that Manchuria belongs to China.

Mandate Situation.

The first clash, it was feared, would be over the 1,600 islands in the Pacific turned over to Japan under a mandate from the League at the end of the World War. The League, possibly at the request of Germany, who once owned the islands, will be asked to cancel Japan's mandate.

The next move in that delicate problem would be to ask the former allies to decide on the disposition of the islands, to which the powers, in fact, still hold the title. Japan has signified her intention to hold the islands, no matter what action the League takes, and further difficulties were feared.

CRITICISM BY LEAGUE IS ASSAILED BY JAPAN

WASHINGTON, March 27.—(AP)—Japan's announcement of its withdrawal from the League of Nations today contended that the League of Nations' refusal to recognize Manchukuo was based on a misapprehension of Japan's desire to maintain peace in the orient, and that the League report "contains gross errors both in the ascertainment of facts and the conclusions deduced."

The Japanese embassy made public a copy of the formal communication to the League by Count Yasuya Uchida, Japanese minister of foreign affairs.

It said Japan had concluded that the majority of the League "have at-

Mayor of Pittsburgh Is Ousted By Court

PHILADELPHIA, March 27.—(AP) Judge Thomas H. Finletter today issued an order ousting from office Mayor Charles H. Kline, of Pittsburgh.

The order modifies the sentence imposed on the mayor as a result of his conviction on a charge of malfeasance in office in connection with alleged illegal letting of city contracts.

He was sentenced to six months in jail and fined $5,000. The modified order eliminates the jail term, ousts him from office and allows the fine to stand.

The order was issued after counsel for the mayor had conferred with Judge Finletter and presented to him a physicians' report describing the mayor's physical condition.

Thousands Hear Al Smith Condemn Jews' Persecution

NEW YORK, March 27.—(AP)—Alfred E. Smith told thousands of Jews, massed in Madison Square Garden tonight in protest against anti-Semitism of the German Hitler government, that the "only thing to do is to drag it out in the open sunlight and give it the same treatment we gave the Ku Klux Klan."

Joining representatives of many races and creeds at the indignation meeting called by the American Jewish Congress, Smith said "it makes no difference to me whether it is a brown shirt or a night shirt."

The keynote of protest was sounded by Rabbi Stephen S. Wise, honorary president of the American Jewish Congress.

"This protest is not against the German people whom we love and revere," the noted Rabbi said. ". . .It is not against the political program for Germany, for Germany is master within its own household, but solely against the present anti-Jewish policy of the nazi government. We are not against Germany and it is an unforgivable calumny to declare that we are 'Deutsch-feindlich'."

Flanked by American and Jewish flags, others who voiced this sentiment were Alfred E. Smith, Mayor John P. O'Brien, William Green, president of The American Federation of Labor, the German-born United States Senator Robert F. Wagner, Bishop William T. Manning, of the Episcopal church, Bishop Francis McConnell, of the Methodist church, and Dr John Haynes Holmes, of New York's Community church.

4 Slain, 3 Others Shot In Week-End Gun-Play

Two persons were near death and a third was given a fair chance for recovery Monday as the sequel of a series of shootings which cost four lives over the week-end. Police, swamped with homicides and other shooting cases, had their work increased by two robberies, one by bandits and the other by yeggmen.

Dr. Wilborn A. Upchurch, prominent Atlanta physician, who fought a short-range pistol duel with two bandits on March 20, died Monday morning at Georgia Baptist hospital after a brave fight against the effects of seven wounds.

Mrs. Maggie Burch, of 565 Tenth street, N. W., whose husband, Fred L. Burch, unemployed, killed himself Sunday night after wounding her, was in a serious condition at Grady hospital with a bullet wound near the heart.

Algie Henson, 24, of College Park, was being held in Fulton tower pending full investigation of the fatal shooting of his sister, Mrs. Climie Mitchell, 26, Saturday night at a Red Oak dance.

The body of J. Ben Cooper, 26, was was killed Saturday night by his brother, William E. Cooper Jr., was in Knoxville, Tenn., for burial after a coroner's jury returned a verdict of justifiable homicide.

L. A. Wingate, owner of the Sixth Street pharmacy, who was shot in the abdomen Sunday night by two negro bandits, was in a "fair" condition at Grady hospital while police sought clues leading to the bandits.

Henry C. Hancken, 33, employe of the traffic department of the Missouri Pacific railroad, was in Georgia Baptist hospital with a bullet wound near the heart, said by police to have been self-inflicted in his hotel room. Hancken's condition was said to be serious.

COLOR-LINE JURIES SCORED AT TRIAL

Retrying of "Scottsboro Negroes" Begins in Decatur Court.

By T. M. DAVENPORT.

DECATUR, Ala., March 27.—(AP)—A tedious battle to set aside the indictment against the Scottsboro negroes was launched in Morgan circuit court today as the defense sought to establish its contention that the defendants had been deprived of their rights through exclusion of negroes from the grand jury that indicted them.

Samuel S. Liebowitz, of New York, chief of defense counsel, and Attorney-General Thomas E. Knight Jr., directing the prosecution, clashed frequently as the former sought to prove through witnesses that negroes were "habitually excluded" from juries in Jackson county.

While the defendants drowsed against the wall behind their counsel table, occasionally showing interests in the proceedings, the attorneys who seek their freedom read into the records an amended petition to quash the indictments.

Delay in bringing the negroes from the Jefferson county jail in Birmingham to Decatur, delayed proceedings until the afternoon session and attorneys sparred cautiously through their statements setting up the premise for testimony.

Leibowitz in setting forth his case contending that the exclusion of negroes from the grand jury had denied the defendants of their constitutional rights, declared "there has never been a negro serve on an Alabama jury."

Attorney-General Knight in a brief statement told the court he denied the allegations and was "at issue" with the defense and "we will show the court no such administration of the laws to show that negroes are systematically excluded from the juries."

J. S. Benson, editor of the Progressive-Age at Scottsboro, the first witness under direct examination by Leibowitz, said to his knowledge no ne-

NEW U. S. PAY CUT EXPECTED APRIL 1

Reduced Living Costs Are Cited As Basis for 15 Per Cent Slash.

WASHINGTON, March 27.—(AP)—A formal report from the department of labor that living costs in the United States have dropped 23 per cent since 1928 is expected in administration circles to bring to 15 per cent the cut in the salaries of government employes, effective April 1.

The reduction would be applicable upon the base salary of the workers and not in addition to the furlough plan, which is to be dropped. This plan, imposed during the present fiscal year, involved a cut of 8 1-3 per cent by compelling leaves without pay.

The president was empowered by the economy bill to reduce salaries up to 15 per cent based upon the reduction in living costs.

The executive order for the action is being prepared by the budget bureau and official word has gone out that it would be issued in time to take effect the first of the month.

After a special survey, the labor department's bureau of statistics reported the following drops in costs between 1928 and December, 1932:

Foods, 37 per cent; clothing, 25 per cent; rent, 24 per cent; fuel and lights, 13 per cent; house furnishings, 26 per cent; miscellaneous, including doctors, medicines, street car fares, moving pictures, newspapers, telephones, laundry, toilet articles and tobacco, four-tenths of 1 per cent.

The costs of living in the District of Columbia, where thousands of government employes live, was placed at 21 per cent less.

Sale of $3 Auto Tags Passes 55,000 Mark

The total sales of $3 automobile tags passed the 55,000 mark Monday as the motor vehicle division of the department of revenue continued its rushing business resulting from Governor Eugene Talmadge's executive order of last Monday fixing the tag price.

The 55,000 includes about 5,000 which were sold at last year's prices, W. L. Joiner, acting director of the division, said

Governor Talmadge has announced that when the department's rush is over he will issue an executive order which will refund to the purchasers of these 5,000 tags the difference between last year's prices and the flat $3 rate.

WOODIN PLEDGES SUMMARY ACTION IN BANK TANGLES

Irregularities Will Be Given Full Publicity and Dealt With Promptly, Secretary Says.

WASHINGTON, March 27.—(AP)—Secretary Woodin, answering questions as to a six-month delay in submitting a formal report on "irregularities" in the Harriman National Bank and Trust Company of New York, today asserted there would be no delay in reporting bank irregularities or suppression of the irregularities under the present administration.

The treasury secretary said it was his policy and that of the president that whenever banking irregularities are revealed by any treasury department officer, agent or investigator, they shall be considered promptly and referred to the proper authorities for immediate attention.

"I want to make it clear," Woodin said, "that the public can be assured that nothing will be withheld or suppressed under this administration."

The announcement of the treasury's policy was made in answer to a question as to what the department would do in such cases as that of Joseph W. Harriman, whose prosecution for irregularities in the Harriman National of New York was held up for several months during the previous administration on the grounds that action at that time might have injured the bank and hurt the depositors.

FEDERAL INVESTIGATION IS BEGUN IN DETROIT

DETROIT, March 27.—(AP)—Representatives of the federal government moved into Detroit today to investigate its banking situation as reverberations continued from the controversy over the treasury department's refusal to permit reopening of the city's two largest national banks.

The investigators were headed by John S. Pratt, assistant United States attorney-general, who said his mission was "highly confidental" and would not be the subject of interviews.

He came specifically to investigate the affairs of the First National Bank-Detroit and the Guardian National Bank of Commerce. The results of his investigations, he said, would be reported to Washington and acted upon there.

Coincident with the arrival of the investigators, E. D. Stair, newspaper publisher and banker, made public a telegram to President Roosevelt, in which he urged a complete investigation of the local situation.

Rev. Father Charles E. Coughlin was interviewed by Prosecutor Harry S. Toy, concerning certain charges he made in an address yesterday in which he denounced the Detroit Bankers Company, holding company for the First National bank and its directors. Mr. Stair, who is publisher of the Detroit Free Press, is also the non-salaried president of the Detroit Bankers Company.

Father Coughlin in his address charged that $63,000,000 had been taken from the First National bank on "inside information" immediately preceding the banking holiday and asserted that the bank was only 12 1-2 per cent liquid a few days before the holiday, although depositors were being told it was 80 per cent liquid.

Mr. Stair, in his telegram to the president, referred to Father Coughlin's remarks as a "slanderous attack" against "myself and other citizens of this city." Father Coughlin, he added "presents himself from time to time as the spokesman for your administration."

In supporting the government's plan to establish the new National Bank of U. S. Calls for Lists Of Gold Hoarders

WASHINGTON, March 27.—(AP)—The deadline for the return of hoarded gold having expired at the close of business today, the Federal Reserve banks tonight had a store of the precious metal worth $503,000,000 as a result.

Each of the 12 Federal Reserve banks was under orders tonight to dispatch to the treasury here as quickly as possible the names of those who, during the past two years, had drawn out large sums of gold without returning it up until this afternoon.

What action the government will take toward the persons who do not return their gold has not been announced, but the treasury is working on regulations which might allow publication of the names under the emergency bank law.

Mrs. Walker Granted Divorce From Former N. Y. Mayor

MIAMI, Fla., March 27.—(AP)—Final decree of divorce in the suit of Mrs. Janet Allen Walker against James J. Walker, former New York mayor, was signed by Circuit Court Judge Worth W. Trammell here late today. Mrs. Walker in her suit alleged the former chief executive of New York deserted her in October of 1928.

Benjamin Cohen, retained as attorney by Walker by cable from Cannes, France, joined A. Frank Katzentine, counsel for Mrs. Walker in waiving the 10 days specified by Florida law for the granting of final decree when testimony is taken by a master, and the divorc econtested.

Mrs. Walker testifying last Tuesday before master in chancery Thomas J. Dowdell said Walker left their home at 6 St. Luke place late in October of 1928 to take up his residence in the Ritz Carlton hotel. Later she said he maintained residence at other New York hostelries.

The one-time mayor gave her no reason for the desertion, Mrs. Walker testified between sobs and numerous efforts on her part to effect a reconciliation had been rebuffed.

When she took up her residence in Florida she testified. Walker promised he would visit her here. Again this year shortly before his departure for Europe he promised to visit her, Mrs. Walker said.

No alimony was asked but Mrs. Walker, when asked during her testimony if Walker had supported her, replied, "Oh, yes. He has never been anything but kind and generous in that respect."

Under the Florida law either party to the divorce can remarry at any time they please.

White House Pool Gift Is Approved in House

WASHINGTON, March 27.—(AP) The house today adopted a resolution authorizing federal acceptance of $22,000 for a swimming pool at the White House for President Roosevelt.

Representative Byrns, democrat, Tennessee, told the house that between $13,000 to $15,0000 of the money would be used and the remainder returned to the donors.

The swimming pool, he said, would be of simple design and would be on the west terrace, and would not mar the design of the architecture of the White House.

Funds for the construction of the pool are being raised by a group of newspapers.

CONGRESS PUSHES ROOSEVELT'S PLAN FOR JOBLESS AID

Reforestation and Direct Relief Proposals Are Sped Toward Enactment at Capitol.

WASHINGTON, March 27.—(AP)—Congress hastened today toward enactment of the first two steps in President Roosevelt's unemployment relief program—work for 250,000 men in the nation's forests, and $500,000,000 for direct federal aid to the destitute.

In a swirl of rapid developments, the forestation plan was approved by committees at both ends of the capitol as the direct relief bill was introduced and marked for speedy approval, possibly as an amendment to the other measure.

The senate shortly afterward opened debate on the revised bill to put the jobless to work in the forests, but action was postponed until tomorrow by Senator McNary, republican leader.

The house agreed to take up the measure Wednesday after its labor committee had rejected a substitute offered by Chairman Connery and approved the Roosevelt sponsored bill.

Far-reaching in its scope, the $500,000,000 bill was laid before congress by Senators Wagner, democrat, New York; Costigan, democrat, Colorado, and La Follette, republican, Wisconsin, who have been working on it at the request of the president.

They introduced it as a separate bill, but planned to offer it as an amendment to the forestation measure in order to speed consideration, provided administration leaders approve.

Senator Wagner expressed confidence the bill would be enacted by Friday either separately or as part of the forestation measure, since at least one state—Illinois—has about exhausted its quota under the present Reconstruction Corporation fund.

In sharp contrast with the federal government's past policy, the bill proposes to create a fund for outright grants to the states instead of loans as under the Hoover administration.

From the first $200,000,000 each state would be allowed one-third of the total public funds expended for relief by its political subdivisions.

The remaining $300,000,000 would be allocated on the basis of need by a federal relief administrator responsible directly to the president. This administrator would take over responsibility for federal relief funds from the R. F. C., but the latter would raise the money through borrowing.

Senator Robinson, the democratic leader, attempted to obtain senate approval of the forestation bill today, but McNary objected, and asked that it go over until tomorrow.

The republican leader agreed to de-

Catholicism Embraced By Horace A. Mann

WASHINGTON, March 27.—(UP) Colonel Horace A. Mann, director of the Hoover forces in the south in the 1928 campaign against Alfred E. Smith, has become a member of the Catholic church.

Mann, now practicing law here, confirmed an announcement of his conversion which appeared in the Catholic Review of Baltimore.

The church publication quoted Mann as follows in connection with the 1928 campaign in which the religious issue figured prominently:

"I know of all the organized bigotry and anti-Catholic propaganda in that campaign, and although I have been accused of being directly responsible for the bigotry in the southern states, I can truthfully say before God that while I was in the office I never permitted anyone to make use of anti-Catholic propaganda."

EXECUTIVE ORDER PUTS MORGENTHAU IN FULL CONTROL

Secretary Wallace Also Submits Plan for Adjusting Farm Indebtedness Through Government Financing.

NEW UNIT TO DIRECT REFINANCING WORK

Farm Board Is Abolished and Commodity Trading by United States Halted by Roosevelt Order.

By FRANCIS M. STEPHENSON.

WASHINGTON, March 27.—(AP)—The scattered federal farm credit agencies, including the farm board, were tied into a single unit today by President Roosevelt in the first of his reorganization moves.

Traveling swiftly upon the heels of the chief executive's submission of this order to congress, Secretary Wallace sent to Capitol Hill a wide-flung program for adjusting farm indebtedness through a huge government financing plan.

The secretary of agriculture carefully refrained from saying that his proposals constituted the administration's plan for aiding the debt burdened farmer. The plan paralleled, nevertheless, the program discussed at the White House on the farm mortgage situation.

In sending his farm agency consolidation to congress, the president named Henry Morgenthau Jr., present head of the farm board, to be governor of the new farm credit administration which goes into operation 61 days hence, provided a majority of both houses does not vote the proposal down within that time.

"We are going to administer this organization for the farmers and in the interest of the farmers and along sound lines," said Morgenthau as he left a conference with President Roosevelt.

Through this new government unit the president will operate the billion-dollar refinancing of agriculture which he will propose to congress later this week.

The program submitted by Wallace today would have the refinancing of farm mortgages handled by the machinery of federal land banks and the regional agricultural credit corporations, using reconstruction corporation funds.

The credit corporations would be authorized to make loans direct to farm debtors for paying interest, amortizing installments and taxes for a period of not more than two years.

Federal land banks using Reconstruction Corporation funds would refinance the existing indebtedness for farm owners, including interest or taxes. The land banks would be authorized to purchase existing mortgages or to exchange Reconstruction Corporation bonds for the mortgages.

Congressional democrats have been working with the president and his advisors for months on his plan to consolidate the farm loan agencies, and were prepared to block any effort which might be made to prevent it from going into effect.

There was little likelihood of such a move, however, as no one on the republican side voiced objection to the plan. Leaders were confident the order would be unmolested by congress.

An important part of the president's

DR. ELWOOD E. RICE HERE TO OBSERVE TRADE CONDITIONS

In rebuilding confidence and restoring the stability of American industry, it is more essential than ever to stress the importance of human qualities in business and cause people to appreciate what a vital factor personality is in all worthy commercial achievement, said Dr. Elwood E. Rice, founder and president of the Rice Leaders of the World Association of New York, Monday night on his arrival here.

Dr. Rice is in Atlanta to confer with important businessmen of the state, including Colonel Sam Tate, president of the Georgia Marble Company, of Tate, a member of his association, and to observe business conditions at first hand.

"For 21 years I have based my life's efforts on the thought that personality reflects character, and commands confidence, and certainly we have recently had an inspiring national demonstration that this is true, in the confidence that has been given so universally to our president, Franklin D. Roosevelt," Dr. Rice said.

Dr. Rice is held in international esteem as an economist, author and exponent of high business standards. His organization this year will celebrate its "coming of age" by carrying on an intensive campaign to emphasize character and high standards as the foundation upon which American business must be rebuilt. Qualifications for membership in the association are based on honor, quality, strength and service.

Trial of Rader Davis To Reach Jury Today

The trial of Rader Davis, negro, charged with the murder of Mrs. Sam H. Henderson and the wounding of her husband and baby, in their isolated home on Childress drive, is slated to draw to a close in Fulton superior court sometime this afternoon. The case opened before Judge E. E. Pomeroy Monday morning.

Davis, on trial in the Henderson slaying, also is jointly indicted with Emmett Gibson, another negro, for the murder of Hamp McGee, recluse taxi driver. Gibson's case also was slated for trial Monday, but was carried over until the conclusion of the Davis case. Though Davis made a signed confession to police he entered a plea of not guilty and it is expected that attorneys for the defense will attack the validity of the confession. The prosecution, conducted by Solicitor John A. Boykin and his assistant, Ed A. Stephens, is expected to end its case this morning and the defense by mid-afternoon.

Monday's trial was featured by the testimony of Henderson himself, weak from his wounds, who told of the shooting.

OBSOLETE RAIL CARS REPLACED BY ROADS

54 Per Cent of Old Locomotives Also Replaced by New Equipment.

WASHINGTON, March 27.—The railroads of the United S. have replaced in the past 10 years more than 51 per cent of their freight cars and nearly 54 per cent of their locomotives with more modern equipment.

As a result of the retirement of worn-out and obsolete equipment, installation of new freight cars and locomotives and modernization of the remainder, the railroads have reduced their car and locomotive ownership to the lowest point in 23 years.

Since January 1, 1923, there have been installed 826,593 new or rebuilt freight cars which have taken the place of old equipment in use up to that time. Installation of these new and rebuilt cars, including cars of larger capacity than formerly in use, and increased speed with which cars are being handled, have enabled the railroads to retire 257,506 additional obsolete freight cars.

That makes a total of 1,084,099 freight cars retired or replaced in service by cars of more modern construction.

The railroads since January 1, 1923, have also installed in service 15,465 new or rebuilt locomotives, replacing old ones. These new locomotives, because of increased efficiency and economy, have made possible the retirement of 12,670 additional obsolete locomotives.

That makes a total of 28,135 locomotives retired or replaced in service by motive power of more modern construction.

In other words, the increased efficiency of these new locomotives has permitted the retirement of almost two locomotives for every new one placed in service, the association reports.

TUBIZE CHATILLON LOSES PROCESS SUIT

NEW YORK, March 27.—(AP)—The Tubize Chatillon Corporation was ordered today to account for its profits from use of a rayon-making process invented by James A. Singmaster, and was enjoined from further use of the process.

The order was issued by Federal Judge Francis G. Caffey after a three-week trial of a suit brought against the corporation and Singmaster by the New Jersey Zinc Company.

The zinc company alleged Singmaster discovered the process while employed in its research department under obligation to assign any inventions to the company.

Singmaster resigned from the company May 1, 1927, patented the process in 1929 and then assigned it to the Tubize Corporation. He denied at the trial that he had discovered the process before he left the zinc company.

Jig-Saw Puzzles Pass Time

Orvell and Benita Post, two of the entrants for the marathon dance prizes, are trying to win additional money by piecing together The Constitution's $250 cash prize jig-saw puzzle. Orvell and Benita both find that working jig-saw puzzles makes the time pass quickly, and takes their minds off the tedious grind. Several other of the marathon dancers have spent 25 cents of their prize money in advance, and will enter their completed puzzle in the contest.

Chicago Man Donates $5,000 In Campaign for Georgia Hall

Drive Aided by Many Citizens of Other States. Committee Reports Prompt Response Here.

Hailing the humanitarian aspects of the movement to raise $100,000 for erection of Georgia Hall at Warm Springs, citizens of other states joined Monday in contributing to the fund to memorialize President Roosevelt and furnish adequate housing for patients at Warm Springs. Contributions were received from several states, including one donation of $5,000 to purchase equipment and apparatus for the building.

The largest contribution was given by a Chicago businessman who did not wish his name disclosed.

While the Atlanta committee, under the direction of Vice Chairman Cator Woolford, was reporting excellent response by citizens here, Cason J. Callaway, of LaGrange, chairman of the campaign, was working in the state at large. They visited Warm Springs Sunday and reported Meriwether's quota far oversubscribed with committee members still active.

The Atlanta group met at the Capital City Club as guests of Mr. Woolford at a luncheon Monday. Arthur Carpenter, manager of the Foundation, was present and announced that every patient at the springs had subscribed liberally. The village of Warm Springs, he said, had contributed $153 to the Georgia Hall fund.

Inspirational speeches were made at the luncheon. Mr. Woolford reported on his visit with Mr. Callaway to the Foundation and called attention to the fact that Georgia is receiving much publicity through the patients representing 44 states.

"We are doing this to show our president how we appreciate his genius," he said, "but in addition to that we are doing a humanitarium work and something which will be of direct benefit to the state in effort and money it will bring here."

Ivan Allen also spoke of the material benefit the state will receive, asserting that Warm Springs brings more people to Georgia than any other single attraction.

Commenting on the plan to erect Georgia Hall, Frank Neely said the completion of the hall would be more than a memorial to the president and would enable the Foundation to use the natural resources of Warm Springs to the best advantage.

Speaking of the contributors to the Foundation, Mr. Carpenter pointed out that only about 50 of the 1,200 were Georgians.

All speakers were confident that with the impetus of the last half of last week given the fund, that most of the money would be in hand by the end of this week. All classes and races, they said, are contributing freely.

Reports from various county chairmen also indicated a willing response. In many places committees of Kiwanians were working with the chairmen and their groups. Victor Allen, of Buford, chairman of the Gwinnett county committee, reported that with $450 already raised, prospects were bright for exceeding the county's quota.

Arid Georgia Is Left High and Dry In Trade Increase Beer Will Bring

Georgia not only won't have beer on and after April 7, but it also will miss any benefits, financially and otherwise, which will accrue to many states from the sale of the 3.2 per cent "aqua tempura."

Officials of what were once brewing companies pointed out these facts mournfully Monday, as other states looked forward with glee to the return of beer and what goes with it.

There isn't an old-fashioned brewery left in the state. Those which have not been abandoned have been turned into ice houses, cold storage plants and other things. But for the most part the buildings have been abandoned.

Joseph Hirsch, general manager of the Atlanta Ice and Bottling Company, nee the Atlanta Brewing Company, pointed out these salient facts Monday:

Georgia, by remaining bone dry, will miss from $400,000 to $500,000 a year in revenue a state tax on beer which Georgians would consume would yield.

Georgia won't even make a keg, as these come chiefly from Minnesota and Michigan.

Georgia won't make a beer bottle, as there isn't a bottle plant in the state.

Georgia won't produce five cents worth of the hops and malt that go into the beer other states will drink.

Georgia won't produce any of the syrup that will go into the beer.

Georgia won't produce one single case the bottled beer will be transported in.

Georgia won't produce a cap for a bottle.

The state, however, doubtless will produce a good number of consumers as already the boys are eyeing border states which will join the wet parade on April 7.

All in all, Georgia is one of the very, very few states which won't benefit in some way or another from the most recent effort to restore employment and prosperity.

IMPROVEMENT SEEN BY ROOFING HEAD

A more hopeful feeling throughout the southeastern territory, especially in the rural districts, is seen by R. B. Crabbs, president of the Philip Carey Roofing Company, of Cincinnati, one of the largest concerns of its type in the United States, who was in Atlanta Monday.

He had just visited points in Virginia and the Carolinas, and while here consulted with the members of his local agency.

"I find that people everywhere have greater faith in the future as a result of President Roosevelt's aggressive action, especially in the direction of governmental economy.

"I think that 1933 will be better than 1932. Of our ultimate recovery and prosperity I have no doubt. The business of our company has been good in volume, but, of course, off in dollars.

"The first improvement in building will come in repair and replacement work. There is enough of this in existence to provide a lot of business. In some respects we are undoubtedly overbuilt, and are confronted with many vacancies. This condition will have to be overcome first.

"I notice that the feeling is better and that there is more activity away from the cities. In the country you see the people making needed repairs, and working on the land, putting it in shape for new crops. These people are not handicapped by over-extension and development as are the cities.

"In one small place I visited there were only two banks, and these were still closed, but the people were cheerful. The town issued its own scrip and was going ahead as if nothing had happened."

Senate in Delaware Votes Repeal Conclave

DOVER, Del., March 27.—(AP)—The house bill providing for a convention to consider ratification of repeal of the eighteenth amendment was passed by the state senate today by a vote of 9 to 8.

The measure, which now goes to the governor, provides for 17 delegates to be elected at large. The date of the election is to be fixed by the governor.

How to Relieve Headaches In Three Minutes

When you have one of those violent, nerve-racking headaches, from inorganic causes, you can get soothing relief in three minutes with "B. C.," a reliable, pleasant-to-take remedy. "B. C." is prepared by a registered pharmacist, compounded on a different principle from most relief-giving agencies in that it contains several ingredients so blended and proportioned as to accomplish in a few minutes what we believe no one drug formula can do in so short a time. "B. C." should also be used for the relief of muscular aches and pains, common colds and neuralgia; for reducing fever and quieting a distressed nervous system without opiates, narcotics or such habit-forming drugs. Get "B. C.," in 10c and 25c packages, wherever drugs are sold.—(adv.)

Gray Hair

Best Remedy is Made At Home

To half pint of water add one ounce bay rum, a small box of Barbo Compound and one-fourth ounce of glycerine. Any druggist can put this up or you can mix it at home at very little cost. Apply to the hair twice a week until the desired shade is obtained. It imparts color to streaked, faded or gray hair and makes it soft and glossy. Barbo will not color the scalp, is not sticky or greasy and does not rub off.—(adv.)

ROBERT E. GANN, 58, EX-ALDERMAN, DIES

Former Employe of The Constitution Was Leader in Labor Circles.

Robert E. Gann, 58, former sixth ward alderman, a leader in Atlanta labor and a former employe of The Constitution composing room, died Monday morning at his home, 301 Williams street, N. W., after a long illness.

Funeral services will be held at 10 o'clock this morning at the chapel of J. Austin Dillon. The Rev. C. R. Stauffer will officiate. Interment will be in the Dallas (Ga.) cemetery.

Mr. Gann, a native of Dallas, spent several years in Anniston, Ala., and later lived in Augusta, Ga. He came to Atlanta more than 25 years ago. He was one of the oldest members of Atlanta Typographical Union No. 48 and was a past president of the Atlanta Federation of Trades. He was prominent in activities of the Georgia Federation of Labor.

Mr. Gann also was a past president of the Alabama Federation of Trades and a past president of the Augusta federation. He was named representative of the Atlanta union to international conventions on several occasions.

Former Alderman Dies

ROBERT E. GANN.

Ill health caused the resignation of Mr. Gann as sixth ward alderman in 1930, after serving since January, 1927. He was succeeded by L. O. Moseley by election of council, and after Mr. Moseley resigned the place was taken by W. W. Waits. Mr. Gann resigned his post in The Constitution composing room last fall because of ill health. He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Nancy Gann, and his mother, Mrs. Martha Gann.

DO HEADACHES DRIVE YOU CRAZY?

It's the worst kind of folly to dope and drug yourself every time you have one of those blinding, throbbing headaches. For drugs only relieve the pain for the moment, and in a little while the headache returns worse than ever and you have to drug yourself all over again. You've got to get at the cause.

Poisons created in your own body cause these severe headaches, and you must remove the poisons to get relief of a lasting nature.

By starting the new harmless Cream of Nujol treatment, today, you may free yourself from this constant torment.

This new form of Nujol is specially designed to rid you of poisons which very often cause this condition.

Cream of Nujol contains no drugs, and does not in any way interfere with work or play. It is delicious to take. Moreover, you can use this modern treatment at a cost of but a few cents a day.

Take Cream of Nujol night and morning. Begin this very night and give it a real trial. Buy it at any drug counter.

PENETRO NOSE AND THROAT DROPS

● If your cold has become deepseated and systemic, drive it out with Penetro, the mutton suet salve, the deepest penetrating, most effective cold salve ever developed. Three economical sizes, 25c, 50c and $1.

Kill the Cause Of Skin Trouble

This formula for skin diseases is astounding the most skeptical in the marvelous way it heals severe cases of Ringworm, Athlete's Foot, Eczema, Tetter, Itch and other parasitic skin troubles. The minute it touches the sore spot, you feel a soothing, cooling sensation; in a few days you marvel at how your skin has healed. If you suffer with skin diseases of any kind, get from any druggist a 60c box of Tetterine, and get relief or get your money back.—(adv.)

ister of the interior, following a raid on the steel helmeters' guard house, during which 1,350 persons were arrested.

The minister gave orders for the raid on the suspicion that his rightist allies were plotting a counter-revolution with the aid of "Marxists." The entire Steel Helmet organization in Brunswick, which has served as an auxiliary police force, was disarmed.

Those arrested included 200 members of the steel helmet organization and 1,150 leftists who, the minister charged, were being recruited by the steel helmeters.

The state leader of the reichsbannermen, a group with republican sympathies, was arrested. Police alleged that he was negotiating with the steel helmeters to take over his men.

In a statement, Interior Minister Klagges, of Brunswick, said that "during the last few days the steel helmet group enrolled hundreds of former reichsbannermen, socialists, communists, and members of other Marxist organizations."

FIFTEEN ARE INJURED AS FASCISTS STORM JEWS

SOFIA, Bulgaria, March 27.—(AP)—Fifteen persons were injured tonight when a mass meeting of Jews, who were protesting against alleged anti-Semitic activities in Germany, was stormed by young fascists.

The youths, who cheered repeatedly for Chancellor Hitler, rushed on the gathering three times, but were finally dispersed by police.

ANTI-HITLER MEETINGS ARE HELD AT WARSAW

WARSAW, March 27.—(AP)—Jews held 11 anti-Hitler protest meetings in Warsaw today and there were a score of gatherings in other cities.

Street demonstrations were forbidden and a group of Jews who violated an order by carrying a placard reading "Down With Hitler" were arrested. At Lodz, orthodox Jews fasted.

BLANTON SEES "PERSECUTION" WITHIN WASHINGTON

WASHINGTON, March 27.—(AP)—Interrupting a speech by Sirovich, democrat, New York, on the treatment of Jews in Germany, Blanton, democrat, Texas, told the house today there is "an unreasonable foolish persecution of Jews right here in the nation's capital."

Meanwhile, the state department today made public a telegram from officials of the American Jewish congress expressing appreciation for Secretary Hull's assurance that he would continue closely to watch the reported anti-Jewish activities in Germany.

The telegram expressed the belief that "Jews of Germany are in great and imminent jeopardy of life and prosperity, of civil rights and religious liberty."

Salesmen Praise Methods Employed in Grizzard School

Not only executives, but rank-and-file salesmen who have attended Grizzard Sales schools attest by the hundreds in personal letters received by Vernon T. Grizzard, head of the Grizzard School of Salesmanship, the practical information and inspirational benefits derived from attendance upon the classes. Mr. Grizzard, specialist in theory and practice, will conduct The Constitution's sales training school, to be at held at night April 3 to 7, from 8 to 9 o'clock, at the Wesley Memorial auditorium.

As Mr. Grizzard went on the platform to deliver the last lecture in the series recently delivered under the auspices of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, he was handed the following telegram signed by R. K. Thrower, salesman for the D. Mifflin Hard Brick Company, and sent from Florence, S. C.:

"Called out of town on business. Regret exceedingly missing tonight. You must mail me tonight Atlanta address notes on tonight's lecture. Your four lectures have been an inspiration to me. They are most interesting, instructive and helpful. Best wishes for your continued success."

Excerpts from another letter which Mr. Grizzard prizes highly, written by Jack Berchenko, manager of the Standard Oil Company's filling station at the corner of Georgia avenue and Pryor street, N. W., is as follows:

"I have reaped benefits that words cannot express. You have awakened within me qualities that I did not know I had, and have aroused qualities that I have had to such an extent that they are 'rarin' to go.'

"I sincerely regret that your lessons cannot go on because I have learned pointers that I will carry with me the rest of my days, not only in a business way, but in the walks of every-day life."

Frank Hudson Jr., agent for the National Life and Accident Insurance Company, wrote in part:

"I cannot begin to tell you how much I have benefited from the few hours I have spent in your classes. You have made me realize the real opportunities in selling and I am going to put your ideas into practice. Again let me thank you, and I wish you all the success in the world wherever you go."

Miss Marion C. Kauffman, Atlanta representative of Maisonette Frocks, wrote as follows:

"Attending your school of salesmanship has been a pleasure and an inspiration and the knowledge I have gained gives me more confidence to impart to my sales force the subjects and truths I have learned for successful saleswork."

An interesting feature of The Constitution's coming school is the offer of cash prizes of $20, $10 and $5 for the three best notebooks kept during the lecture lessons and submitted at the close of the school. Mr. Grizzard uses charts which graphically illustrate the principles taught and pointers given and presents the material in such a way that everyone can make individual outlines for future study and development.

An unusual feature is that the cost involved is a registration fee of only $2 for a course that ordinarily costs from $10 to $25.

Enrollment may be effected by clipping the accompanying coupon and mailing with your name, address and check for $2 to The Constitution, and season ticket for the entire course of five lectures will be mailed you immediately.

The Grizzard School of Salesmanship

You are authorized to enroll the undersigned in The Atlanta Constitution's special session of the Grizzard School of Salesmanship to be held at Wesley Memorial auditorium Monday to Friday, inclusive, April 3-7.

Registration fee of $2.00 is inclosed.

will be held at 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon at Central Presbyterian church. The Rev. S. R. Oglesby will officiate. Interment will be in West View cemetery.

Upchurch Shot March 20.

Dr. Upchurch was sitting in his car on Ponce de Leon avenue waiting for is wife when he was approached by two men who sought ot rob him. Resisting the bandits with an automatic pistol, Dr. Upchurch was shot through the legs and hip. Complications set in and brought about his death.

Dr. Upchurch was born December 5, 1883, in Gwinnett county, and came to Atlanta as a young man. He was graduated from the Atlanta College of Physicians and Surgeons, and took post-graduate work in the east. He was a past president of the Grady visiting staff, and a member of the staffs of Grady, Crawford Long and Georgia Baptist hospitals. Active in the Fulton County Medical Society, he also was a member of the American College of Surgeons, the American Urological Society, the Pan-American Medical Society, the Southeastern Surgical Congress, the Southern Medical Association, and the Georgia Medical Association.

Dr. Upchurch was a member of Alpha Lambda Tau literary fraternity, Alpha Kappa Kappa medical fraternity, and the Kiwanis Club. He was master of Jason Burr Council No. 13, R. S. L.; past master of Malta Lodge No. 641, F. & A. M.; past commander of Atlanta Commandery No. 9, Knights Templar; past high priest of Mount Zion chapter, No. 16, R. A. M.; past master of Hermes Lodge of Perfection, Scottish Rite; knight commander of the Court of Honor, Scottish Rite; an officer of the Red Cross of Constantine, and second alchemist in the divan of Yaarab Temple. He was a member of the board of deacons of Central Presbyterian church.

In addition to his wife, Dr. Upchurch is survived by a son, Dr. Wilborn E. Upchurch; a daughter, Miss Frances Upchurch, and a brother, C. A. Upchurch, of Greenville, Ga.

Mrs. Mitchell Burial Today.

Funeral services of Mrs. Mitchell will be held at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon at Pleasant Hill Baptist church. The Rev. W. J. deBardeleben will officiate. Interment will be in the churchyard.

County police were told that Henson was shooting at a male companion of Mrs. Mitchell, the charge from the shotgun striking his sister.

Funeral arrangements for Burch were delayed pending an inquest scheduled for 2:30 o'clock this afternoon at the funeral home of Blanchard Brothers. The shooting of Mrs. Burch and the husband's subsequent alleged suicide were said to have developed from domestic difficulties, involving separation of the couple and an alimony suit. In a note left by him, Burch requested that his body be sent to Victor Burch, Hiawassee, Ga.

Policemen who answered a call to the hotel found Hancken on the floor with a pistol near by. They reported finding a note stating that "this act has been committed on account of financial difficulties." The note gave instructions as to funeral arrangements, and hospital care "if necessary." Police said that Hancken called a friend, Herbert Campbell, just before the shooting, and that Campbell notified police of the call.

Missille Draws Fire.

Wingate and his soda dispenser H. W. Smith, of East Point, were held up by two negroes armed with revolvers. One of the negroes looted the cash register of $50, while the other covered the two white men. Smith hurled a milk bottle at one of the negroes, and the other opened fire, hitting Wingate.

Three armed white men Monday afternoon held up John Fouquett, manager of the Wormser hat store, 63 Peachtree, and robbed the store of $107, according to police reports. W. O. Treanor, of 55 Lafayette drive, and Hugh A. Shelton, of 10 Pryor Street building, entering the store during the robbery, were held up and robbed of $20 and $14, respectively. The bandits entered the store and purchased three hats before announcing their intentions of robbery, it was said.

The safe of the Baptist tabernacle, Luckie street, was blown by yeggmen who took $375, according to police reports. The robbery was discovered by Miss Vivian Perkins, secretary to the Rev. W. H. Knight, pastor, when she opened the office Monday morning.

A home-made burglar alarm went off Monday morning at the store of Nathan Masier on Techwood drive, and while it failed to awaken Masier, it scared off the burglars and attracted the attention of police, it was said.

Succumbs to Wounds

Pay for City Workers This Week Predicted

Probable payment this week of half a month salaries for the 4,000 Atlanta municipal employes, including school teachers, was seen Monday following a conference between Acting Mayor Alvin L. Richards and attaches of City Comptroller B. Graham West's office.

There now is $105,000 in cash in the treasury, and a total of only $180,000 is needed to pay half a month of the past due salary obligations to employes, it was pointed out.

It was estimated that Revenue Collector Riley Elder and employes of that office will obtain sufficient funds to make up the difference this week, and Richards said he would authorize a pay roll as soon as sufficient funds are obtained.

Meanwhile Alderman Ed A. Gilliam, chairman of council's finance committee, called a session of the finance committee for 3 o'clock Thursday afternoon to attempt to balance a finance sheet.

Non-school employes received their last pay day February 5, and school teachers have not been paid since January 15.

gro had ever served on a jury there in the 14 years of his residence.

Liebowitz sought to establish through Hunt Stuart, former president of the Jackson county jury board which made up the list from which the grand jury indicting the defendants, that negroes were excluded from the lists because of their race.

Stuart replied that he had no way of knowing the race of every man on the lists and he could not say that there were no negroes' names in the jury box.

The witness described how the lists were made up on recommendations of leaders in various precincts, but that the commissioners had no way of determining race or creed. "A man's race, religion, fraternal or political affiliations were never discussed," he said, but that he could not recall a negro serving on a jury in the county.

The defense established through an affidavit from Mrs. Marie Owen, director of the state department of archives, that the 1930 census showed 36,881 persons in Jackson county, of which 2,689 were negroes, and later got into the record that of this number 666 met the qualifications of age for jury duty.

John Sanford, a negro plasterer of Scottsboro, recited various qualifications he held as a probable juror, but said he had never been called for duty, nor had any other member of his race. Under Liebowitz' questioning he named a number of negroes whom he believed qualified to serve as jurors, but said none to his knowledge had ever been called for service.

Sanford, who was on the stand when court was recessed for the day, faces cross-examination on the opening of court tomorrow at 8:30 a. m.

World-Wide Conversion Needed, Dr. Stanley Jones Tells Audience

The world needs conversion, or entire renovation of the inner life, Dr. E. Stanley Jones, "Ambassador of Christ to India" as missionary of the Methodist Episcopal Church, Monday night told an audience of several thousand Atlantans and Georgians at the city auditorium.

Dr. Jones related a conversation with Fahatma Gandhi, Indian leader, in which Gandhi told him that if his party wins out, "missionaries will be allowed to proselyte, but under our protest." This was Gandhi's last word in connection with a previous statement that all missionaries would be run out of India, Dr. Jones said.

"We do not want to proselyte," Dr. Jones said. "There is a difference between proselytism and conversion. When you get a man to change his belief in religion or anything else without changing his character, that is to proselyte. The New Testament bans proselyting.

"On the other hand, conversion is the changing of the inner man. People say to me, 'how do you get people to let you baptize them?' I tell these people that I do not ask anyone to let me baptize them, but that when a man comes to me and asks to be baptized, I first look into his inner soul and see if he is right to be baptized."

Christianity is communism without the class war and hatred, and with a deep disagreement with communism as practiced in Russia today, Dr. Jones said. "If the Christ spirit was loosed among men today, we would not have the inequalities with which we are confronted." he said. "Every feast that comes to me sticks in my throat, when I recall the haunting picture of poverty. He who fed the multitude would have us today organize so as to give decent meals to the poverty stricken among us."

Dr. Jones has been missionary to the high caste for 25 years. He has traveled extensively in the Orient, and his address Monday night was rich in recollections of his visits to China, Japan and other countries. He told of missionaries who truly practiced Christianity by nursing back to health those who had done to death persons near and dear to the missionaries.

Dr. Jones was introduced by Dr. Herman Turner, pastor of the Covenant Presbyterian church, who presided. Dr. C. R. Stauffer, pastor of the First Christian church, offered the opening prayer, and Dr. J. Sprole Lyons, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, the benediction. Dr. Charles Sheldon Jr. played organ accompaniments for the hymns. Dr. R. L. Russell, presiding elder of the Atlanta district, Methodist church, is chairman of the steering committee for the meetings.

Dr. Jones spoke Monday to 1,100 ministers and their wives at the First Baptist church. He will speak at 10 o'clock this morning at Clark University and Gammon Seminary, and at noon today to church and Sunday school officers at Wesley Memorial church.

Dr. Jones is on a year's furlough. He will leave this afternoon for Memphis, Tenn.

THE WARM SPRINGS FUND.

The splendid response to the appeal for contributions to a $100,000 fund for the construction of a new building to take the place of the antiquated old inn at Warm Springs is a gratifying demonstration of Georgia's appreciation of the humanitarian work of Franklin D. Roosevelt in the development of the Warm Springs Foundation.

The approval with which the suggestion was received, and the liberal manner in which contributions are coming in to the committee headed by Cason J. Callaway, assures the successful completion of the fund.

Prompt subscriptions to the fund are being urged by the committee, not only that the present unsightly and inadequate structure can be replaced at the earliest possible date, but that advantage may be taken of the low construction costs now existing, and which are now giving indications of an early rise.

It should be borne in mind that those who subscribe to this fund will be entitled to income tax deduction, as the contribution goes to a humanitarian foundation.

Thus every subscription to the fund will go not only to the addition of a modern and badly needed structure for an institution that has become known in all parts of the world, but it gives the donor the privilege of an income tax deduction.

No more worth-while project was ever launched in Georgia and the people of the state should carry the fund over the top quickly so that the work will be well under way by the time of the next visit of President Roosevelt to the state of which he is an adopted son.

THE GOOD AND THE BAD.

Strong opposition to an extra session of the general assembly and a warm defense of those members of the senate who "insisted that the campaign pledges of the party be adhered to and that honesty, decency and economy in the administration of the state's affairs should be maintained," is contained in a communication, appearing elsewhere on this page, by Senator Gordon Knox, of Hazlehurst.

He was one of those who, despite the stampede of the longhorns, fought valiantly to protect the interests of the people while the majority of the senate played politics.

These men, and men like them in the house, stood by their guns and, resisting all patronage or other temptations, sought to save the session from the obloquy which has been heaped upon it throughout the state.

In a Sunday sermon, Dr. Witherspoon Dodge, castigating the legislature, said that "the voters should think a hundred times before voting to return any member of the general assembly, for they are not only unworthy but are a disgrace to the state which they misrepresented." He modified this somewhat, however, by paying tribute to "the few of these men who proved themselves worthy."

The people will know who of the members of the present general assembly proved true to their trust and who did not. They will take this into consideration at the proper time.

Every member of either the house or the senate will be measured by his record.

Of course Dr. Dodge did not mean that the good should be punished equally with the bad.

Senator Knox, speaking from "inside," makes an interesting presentation of the situation.

THE GEORGIA-FLORIDA CANAL.

Revival of the project to build a canal from the Atlantic to the Gulf of Mexico, from a point on or near the coast of Georgia to a Florida port on the gulf, should receive the earnest support of the full delegations in congress from both states.

The construction of this canal would revolutionize conditions in south Georgia and north Florida counties and the beneficial effects would be generally felt throughout the two states. All the country would profit from the elimination of 800 miles in round trips to and from the eastern ports, with consequent saving in time and freight rates.

Such a canal is a logical addition to the comprehensive canal system in the country and would be in keeping with the record of inland waterway construction set up in the United States during a century and a half in order that water hauls might be shortened.

The first canal in this country was built in 1793 around the falls of the Connecticut river at South Hadley Falls, Mass., being followed in 1796 by a canal around Turner's Falls on the same river, opening it up to navigation for many miles inland.

The first canal for passengers and freight was completed in 1804, at a cost of $700,000, running a distance of 31 miles from Middlesex to Charlestown, thus permitting ships to travel inland from Boston harbor.

Washington was deeply interested in canal projects, favoring the connection, so far as possible, of all natural waterways with man-made waterways. Under his direction examinations were made to ascertain the feasibility of canals between the Potomac and Ohio, the James and Ohio and the Mohawk valley and the Great Lakes.

The Erie canal, joining the Hudson river and Lake Erie, was completed, from Albany to Buffalo, a distance of 363 miles. The Chesapeake and Ohio, 184 miles, from Georgetown to Harper's Ferry, was opened in 1850. Following during the next three-quarters of a century came the Illinois and Michigan, the James River and Kanawha, the Ohio falls and numerous other canals.

By the close of 1882, the Erie canal had collected $121,000,000 in tolls, against a total cost of $78,000,000 for construction improvements and maintenance, leaving a credit balance of $42,000,000. Most of the other major canals have not only rendered valuable service but been financially successful projects.

That this would be the case with a canal from the Atlantic to the gulf coast, through the northern part of Florida, is certain.

Of even greater importance to Georgia and Florida, it would mean the development of the territory along the line of the canal, with new life being put into dozens of small towns and villages, and agriculture and the lumber industry being given the benefit of water rates.

As a part of the relief program of the federal government, this canal can be constructed at a record low cost and the tremendous amount of shipping now going back and forth between the gulf ports and the east assures toll receipts which could easily make the investment a paying one.

THE WORLD'S WINDOW

BY PIERRE VAN PAASSEN.

The Scene and The Mirror.

Wisdom comes with the years. That is what our ancestors said. But they traveled in the post-chaise, listened to long sermons and had leisure to meditate. Our arm-chairs stand on transcontinental flyers. Our chimney-corner is a quick-lunch counter in a frozen frontier station. We are obliged to do our meditating in lumbering street cars, flashing motors and forsooth in airplanes. The tempo of our time is so terrific that it bewilders you.

What is new today is antiquated tomorrow. This does not apply to battleships only. How long exactly did technocracy last? Do children still play yo-yo on America's streets. The humanists in literature who swamped the market with their books not long ago, where have they gone? It has virtually become impossible to write an inventory of the epoch. Every day the tangible world appears in a new cloak, unrecognizable at first glance, so dissimilar it is with yesterday's. There were many things President Roosevelt said in his inaugural address to give us food for thought. One stands out above all others in my estimation. It is this: It is not the people of the United States who have failed, he said. The people, the overgreat majority of them, have been like straws in the wind, blown hither and yon. They scarcely know to what foundation to clamp themselves. It was leadership they lacked. There are men who would have us all sit down in sackcloth and ashes and moan our fate. They talk of this as if it were a program. Death is no program. When things go wrong the thing is to get together and reason it out, analyze, examine, probe, question, debate, argue and dig down into the phenomena of our time.

The physician can intervene effectively only if he knows what the trouble is. There is no use operating on the appendix when it's the kidneys that are sick. What we need more than anything else at present is an enlightened and courageous press, which shall perform the function of a true mirror, showing us at all times the reality. Not one of those trick mirrors you see at Coney Island. No, one as clear as crystal. We must know the truth. And the truth shall make us free.

Strange Question.

It seems to have slipped attention during the stirring events in Manchuria and Jehol that Japan is not at war with China. A remarkable situation would thus arise if the Japanese seized a foreign ship bearing munitions to China, for that would, of course, be an act of piracy on the high seas, as at present no state of war exists.

Health Talks

BY DR. WILLIAM BRADY

AH! AH! NAUGHTY—MUSTN'T TOUCH!

An injury brushed some skin off from the front of the leg below the knee. As a first-aid disinfectant mercurochrome was applied. The patient dressed the wound herself every day. While showing it to her friend she dropped a bit of cotton on the floor, picked it up, and placed it over the raw surface and applied the bandage. Her friend remonstrated that this was unsafe. The patient thought not, as the mercurochrome is so powerful that it destroys any germs there might be on the cotton. Is that so? In this case it would seem at least questionable, for a few days later the patient was seriously ill with infection of the leg.

Mercurochrome is all right as a first-aid disinfectant. Probably it is as efficient as tincture of iodin for the purpose. It has one advantage over iodin as a first-aid remedy for use in the home, namely, that it doesn't bite or smart so much on a large wound or raw surface. The bite or smart of iodin is only momentary, however. Any one who has used plain tincture of iodin or iodin and glycerin half and half as an application to a canker sore in the mouth (for which it is an excellent remedy) knows it bites for a moment and then seems to leave the canker less sensitive. On the other hand, mercurochrome has one or two disadvanctages which in my opinion render it less satisfactory than iodin. It makes a conspicuous red stain on everything, and it costs too much.

The breach of surgical technic committed by the woman who picked the bit of cotton off the floor and placed it in contact with the raw surface was a glaring one, but most laymen commit just as grave errors when dealing with minor wounds, even though they are meticulous about using antiseptics.

The layman has a childlike faith in antiseptic or germicidal agents which is not shared by the physician, surgeon or even the well-trained nurse.

Perhaps the most fatal error of the layman who attempts to treat his own or another's wounds is the touching of the raw surface with finger or with any object that is not sterile. This common breach of surgical technic doubtless accounts for many more cases of septicemia, blood poisoning, septic infection than are caused by such obvious errors as the correspondent describes.

A fundamental principle which the wiseacre layman seldom comprehends is that with proper care we can keep germs out of a wound, but if they once get into the wound we haven't a germicide that will kill the germs without damaging the tissue cells and retarding or preventing the natural healing process.

It is upon that principle that the practice of first-aid wound disinfection is based. One application of iodin (or mercurochrome) immediately may destroy any germs that were implanted by the implement that made the wound. But after that immediate disinfection, it is better to avoid further germicidal or antiseptic medicaments and simply strive to protect the wound from further infection while healing is in process. Here is where real skill and knowledge come in. Aseptic care of any wound, minor or major, assures the quickest healing and the least scar, but aseptic technic is a closed book to the wiseacre layman with his pet antiseptics.

Five Go on Trial Today As Dry Law Violators

Four men and one woman, placed under bond last week and indicted Monday by the federal grand jury on a charge of conspiracy to violate the prohibition law, will go on trial this morning before Judge E. Marvin Underwood in district court. The indictments grew out of a raid on a distillery on Fairview road a year ago by DeKalb county police.

They were indicted on information given by W. E. Hartley Jr., who served a sentence in DeKalb county for operation of the still. They are: A. T. Jeans, alias "Pee Wee" Burns, under $10,000 bond; Ralph Owens, under $10,000 bond; Miss Frances Booth, under $500 bond; John Smith, president of the Smith Bottling Company, under $1,000 bond, and James H. Cantrell, clerk of the A., B. & C. railroad, under $100 bond.

To Cast a Bronze to Fit the Mold, You Do It Before the Metal Is Cold

By Robert Quillen

In country towns and old communities where changes are few and slowly made, comradeship often begins in childhood and ends at the tomb.

Boy and girl playmates choose one another before they reach their teens. In high school they are sweethearts. If they go away to college or in search of better fortune, there is wordless understanding that the separation is temporary. They marry when they have learned to support themselves and continue as inseparable companions until their lives are finished.

Theirs is the perfect mating. They understand one another without speech. Their loyalty and trust are absolute. They walk together without dissimulation, pretense or concealment. In spirit and in fact they are one, and they live for one another as they would die for one another.

Such perfect comradeship is almost impossible to attain if the beginning is made after maturity, but those who meet and marry young can be comrades if they will.

At 25 they can be playmates. With love to smooth the way, they can learn to understand one another—to be patient and tolerant and kind—until the habit of comradeship wears away offending differences and their spirits merge in perfect harmony.

Marriage without comradeship isn't marriage. It is merely an arrangement by which two individuals share an income and board at the same place.

Much is written about the failure of marriage, but most of the married people I know fell in love while they were young enough to be pliable and now are comrades. Whatever their pleasures or duties, they dream and plan and build together and have no unshared interests.

We boast of our "rugged individualism," but the truth is that life seems barren and all attainment profitless if there is no comrade to share it. And since comradeship requires community of interest, the one sure way to achieve it is to find a comrade mate.

It can be done late in life if the heart remains young, but the best way to twine a vine around an oak is to let it grow there.

Urges Credit for Senators Who Fought For 'Honesty, Decency and Economy'

Editor Constitution. I have read with considerable interest a number of editorials appearing in The Constitution during the past week in reference to the session of the general assembly, which adjourned on last Saturday. Each of these editorials condemns in the severest terms the failure of the legislature to enact legislation of a remedial nature and in accordance with platform of the democratic party adopted at the convention held in Macon.

I have no quarrel with The Constitution relative to these editorials. In fact I fully agree with them in the statement that this session of the general assembly was a disgraceful failure, and that the condemnation heaped upon the legislature by the press and the people is abundantly justified.

However, in this connection I call your attention to the fact that the censure placed upon the legislature as a whole is manifestly unjust to a number of men in each branch of the general assembly who did everything humanly possible to prevent the session from becoming the fiasco it finally became. I am not familiar with the deliberations of the house of representatives but I know there was a number of men in the senate who insisted that the campaign pledges of the party should be adhered to, that promises to the people should be respected, and that honesty, decency and economy in the administration of the state's affairs should be maintained.

On the floor of the senate during the day and in the committee rooms at night these men fought with unceasing determination for the enactment of legislation designed to attain this end, and the fact that their efforts were nullified by the actions of a wilful and determined majority of the senate, does not make them deserving of the ridicule and condemnation now being heaped upon the legislature as a whole. On the contrary I know that these men are entitled to the gratitude and appreciation of the people of Georgia even though their efforts were futile and unavailing.

Actuated by Politics.

I have no desire to sit in judgment upon the senate or to question the motives of its members. However, my impressions are that the majority of the senate were apparently actuated by two major considerations, to wit: First, an unshakable determination to uphold the activities of the highway department, and second, an irresistible desire to harass and embarrass the present governor of Georgia.

In support of this statement I call attention to the fact that there never was at any time the slightest inclination on the part of the majority to divert any portion of highway funds for any other purpose whatsoever. Notwithstanding the fact that more than 1,000 schools in Georgia had closed their doors and 1,500 more were on the verge of closing, the majority of the senate turned a deaf ear to every proposal to divert a portion of the highway funds in order to keep these schools open. Day after day I witnessed the amazing spectacle of seeing men vote against these proposals even though the teachers in their own schools had not been paid in months and nothwithstanding the fact that the common schools in their own counties had either closed their doors or were on the verge of doing so.

But this is not all. The senate by practically a unanimous vote authorized investigations of the department of agriculture, the schoolbook commission, and the prison camps of Georgia, and yet with the state audit showing repeated instances of illegal expenditures, extravagance, favoritism, and political rotteness in the highway department, the senate by a vote of 27 to 21 refused to even investigate these charges.

In marked contrast to this action was the attempt in the last few days of the session to pass a resolution condemning the governor and authorizing suit on his bond as commissioner of agriculture, without even the formality of an investigation or without giving him any opportunity to be heard in the matter at all. Senator Boykin, the author of this resolution, stated on the floor of the senate that he had submitted this resolution to 17 members of the senate before it was introduced and that they had given it their sanction and approval. Without any knowledge whatsoever of who these 17 members were, I am sure that I can say with perfect safety that they were the same men who would not investigate the highway department under any circumstances.

Salary Bill Defeat.

Another instance in this connection resulted in the killing of a bill by Senator Render Terrell Jr. known as the salary reduction bill. This bill provided for a general reduction in salaries for all state employes whose salaries were not fixed by the constitution. After much delay and obstruction we finally passed this bill in the senate. The house failed to pass the bill but sent back a substitute which was reasonably satisfactory to the friends of the bill in the senate. The senate then tacked on an amendment the effect of which was to retain in office all officials who the law requires to be confirmed by the senate. In other words these officials would remain in office until their successors were confirmed by the senate regardless of the fact that their term of office had long since expired.

It was freely talked in the capitol that the chief beneficiary under this amendment would be Captain Barnett, chairman of the highway department.

The captain's term of office as chairman of the highway department expires on January 1, 1934, and the governor has already expressed the determination to remove him promptly on this date. Under this amendment the captain, although his term expires on January 1, would be able to continue in office until his successor was actually confirmed by the senate. Inasmuch as the senate will not convene again for a period of two years it will thus be seen that the captain would continue to hold office until another senate was elected and convened. It is true that the senate may be convened in extra session but it is also true that the present majority of the senate would never confirm a successor to Captain Barnett.

Under this amendment, if the same could be passed through the house, it would put the governor in the position of vetoing an economy measure in order to render the said amendment inoperative, or it would force him into the intolerable position of being forced to accept the amendment in order to save the economy bill. Thanks to Speaker Rivers, of the house, the amendment was promptly, and I think properly, held not to be germane to the bill in question. However, the bill failed to reach the senate again and thus was killed.

Other instances in this connection might be indefinitely cited but I have neither the time or space to recount them. I have merely written this letter to emphasize the fact that whatever condemnation may be merited by the legislature as a whole is not applicable to a number of members of the senate, who honestly endeavored to prevent the debacle which occurred. I fully agree with The Constitution, and other newspapers, in the statement that there should not be any extraordinary session of the general assembly. It is hardly possible that a majority of the senate who were so little inclined to do anything in a regular session would be more inclined to do so in an extra session.

GORDON KNOX,
Senator, Third District.
Hazelhurst, Ga., March 25, 1933.

bate the measure today, and Chairman Walsh, of the labor committee, explained the bill to the senate, clearing the way for action tomorrow.

As approved by the committee the bill will permit the president to enlist 250,000 men in a civilian conservation corps at $1 a day, as he originally proposed. It is broad in its terms, however, and does not write into the law the $1 a day wage proposal to which organized labor objected.

Decision to act on the $500,000,000 bill separately was reached at a conference between senate leaders and President Roosevelt late in the day.

After the conference, Senator Robinson predicted the reforestation bill would be approved tomorrow by the senate.

In order to take care of the Illinois situation, Robinson said, an amendment would be added to the forestation bill lifting the limitation which prevents the Reconstruction Finance Corporation from lending more of its present funds to that state.

Under the present law no state can obtain more than 15 per cent of the $300,000,000 relief fund of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation. Illinois has exhausted her quota.

Speedy approval of the direct relief bill still was sought, however, and it was to be called up tomorrow before the senate banking committee.

THOUSANDS HEAR AL SMITH CONDEMN JEW PERSECUTION

tion of Hitler's name brought loud and long booing. The lone placard of protest, hung from the balcony, read: "Protest against Hitler and his persecution."

Before the rapping for order, a crowd in a balcony corner burst into song. Someone on the platform quieted them with the gavel and announced: "This is a protest, not a celebration."

The Garden's doors were opened shortly before 6 o'clock. Within half an hour, the balconies were packed. Dozen of Jewish organizations that paraded to the protest were denied admittance and trooped off to an overflow meeting at Columbus Circle.

Soon after 7 o'clock, all of the garden's approximately 23,000 seats were filled with lines of standees.

Showers From West To Arrive Here Today

Showers moving eastward from Texas and Louisiana probably will visit Atlanta today as the mercury climbs to something like a spring level, George W. Mindling, United States meteorologist, said Monday.

Temperatures today are expected to range from 55 to 75 degrees, as compared with 42 to 66 degrees Monday. Temperatures will moderate and be a little cooler after the rain, the weather man said.

OIL LEADERS OUTLINE LEGISLATIVE PLANS

WASHINGTON, March 27.—(AP) After a day of heated clashes between divergent factions, representatives of oil-producers and the governors of producing states worked privately tonight in search of proposals to be placed before the administration-sponsored oil conference tomorrow.

One faction, labeling itself as "uncontrolled independent producers," however, broke away from the general group and tonight held a stormy protest at a hotel.

Its leader, John B. Elliott, of the Independent Petroleum Association of California, maintained that the larger companies were putting forward a program that would "work to the detriment of the real independents and to the people." He led his group out of a meeting yesterday, asserting that it was "packed in the interest of the major oil companies."

Secretary Ickes, who called the conference in an effort to see if some iron-clad agreement could be obtained to curtail over-production, tonight expressed himself optimistic, nevertheless, after meeting with a committee of 15 appointed by a majority of the oil representatives.

Planes, Engines Ready For Mount Everest Hop

PURNEA, India, March 27.—(By Wireless.)—The Mount Everest flight expedition's airplanes and their engines have now been thoroughly examined and adjusted in preparation for the big hop over the world's highest peak and will be ready for full trials after slight alterations of the equipment in the observers' cockpits.

The delay thus caused does not affect plans for the main flight. The weather the last two days has been quite unsuitable for trials. At five this morning the wind strengths varied from 22 miles an hour at 1,200 feet to 74 miles an hour at 16,000 feet. Two hours later, when Lord Clydesdale, squadron leader of the expedition, and Flight Lieutenant McIntyre flew as far as the Nepal border to examine conditions, they found a 70-mile wind at 10,000 feet and evidently much higher velocities on the mountain tops.

Nevertheless they had a magnificent view of the whole Everest range from a distance of 100 miles. The lower slopes were hidden in haze, and some haze immediately below the airplane indicated the possibility of trouble in measuring the drift at the height. While the risk of heavy beam winds exists, this is important, and will mean picking out definite landmarks only. The haze at lower altitudes will make this a little difficult.

U. S. FARM GROUPS ARE CONSOLIDATED

move was the abolishment of the Hoover-created federal farm board and its stabilization activities. Morgenthau, who is still busy determining the status of the board's involved operations, estimated the total loss of this four-year-old institution would amount to $350,000,000, principally through its stabilization activities and loans.

The president transferred to the farm board credit administration, in addition to the farm board, the federal farm loan bureau, the agricultural credit corporation, the crop production and seed loan offices in the department of agriculture, and the functions of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation relating to regional agricultural credit corporation.

$2,000,000 Saving.

A saving of more than $2,000,000 is expected by the president from the reorganization which he submitted to congress.

Morgenthau is given authority to select his assistants and probably some members of the abolished farm board and farm loan board will be chosen as his chief deputies.

The president's plan for lowering the interest rates on mortgages held by farmers is gradually taking shape and there is a prospect it will go forward to congress by the middle of the week.

Counselors To Be Named.

Under the voluntary phases of the adjustment scheme, the secretary of agriculture would be directed by congress to appoint regional debt adjustment counselors who would name a voluntary debt adjustment committee of seven farmers, businessmen and bankers in each agricultural county.

The financing would be handled in two parts, all funds being provided by the Reconstruction Corporation.

Loans for interest, amortization installments and taxes would be made by regional agricultural credit corporations. Distressed farm mortgages would be refinanced by the federal land banks.

The loan for delinquent taxes would cover not more than one year. If more than one year's taxes were delinquent, the credit corporation loans would be conditioned upon state action that would avoid sale of the property during the life of such loans.

Extension of Loans.

Credit Corporation loans would be conditioned upon an agreement from the mortgagee to extend the maturity of the loan for a period of not less than 10 years.

Federal land banks would refinance distressed farm mortgages. They would lend on a long-term amortization basis not over 75 per cent of the fair value of the farm which "would be clearly distinguished from forced sale or foreclosure value and be determined by the reasonable debt carrying capacity of the mortgaged property over a period of years more nearly normal than at present."

These long-term loans would be the collateral for trust certificates, issued by the federal land banks and purchased by the Reconstruction Corporation. The certificates would bear not more than 3 1-4 per cent interest.

The land banks would have the alternative authority of purchasing existing mortgages or exchanging Reconstruction Corporation bonds for them.

Relief for Debtors.

The report said of the proposal in general:

"The plan of debt adjustment outlined below assumes that assistance would be needed principally in cases where the debt on a farm is excessive, or delinquent, or both. If financial assistance were limited to delinquent loans, it would tend to give preference to debtors who in general had been less prudent in their financial affairs. Farmers who are excessively indebted but who by undue sacrifice have managed to keep their loans in good standing should not actually have to become delinquent before being eligible for financial assistance.

"Under this plan any farmer unable to meet his mortgage payments, or any creditor who held a delinquent farm mortgage, or a mortgage on a farm on which taxes had become delinquent, or any farm mortgage debtor and creditor who agreed that the mortgage in question must otherwise presently become delinquent, would have the right to apply to the county committee for assistance in negotiating a voluntary debt adjustment.

"The plan provides facilities primarily to help indebted farmers to retain farm ownership. Such loss as creditors would assume in scaling down their original claims, in all probability would be far less than the losses they would be required to bear if no opportunity were afforded for systematic adjustments and refinancing. Extension of material aid is predicated upon some material increase in farm income.

Five Methods Outlined.

"This plan contemplates five alternative methods of refinancing the mortgage debt of the individual farmer.

"(1)—Advances would be made for paying not more than two years' interest and taxes when the mortgage holder has a reasonable chance of working out of his difficulties if given additional time in meeting his obligations.

"(2)—Long-term loans for refinancing mortgages, which are not in excess of or scaled down to 75 per cent of the fair value of the security would be available where existing mortgage indebtedness including delinquent interest and taxes cannot be extended or adjusted.

"(3)—Second mortgage loans would be made as an inducement to the holder of a 'distressed' first mortgage to scale down this claim to an amount not exceeding 75 per cent of the fair value of the farm. The proceeds of such second mortgage would be applied to reduce further the principal of the first mortgage loan.

Exchange of Bonds.

"(4)—Provision is made for exchanging Reconstruction Finance Corporation bonds for outstanding farm mortgages. This would apply to mortgage holders who prefer to exchange their mortgages for low interest rate bonds of the same principal amount.

"(5)—Provision is made for the purchase of mortgages. In numerous cases it may be possible to purchase mortgages at a substantial discount and rewrite them on the basis of the reduced principal.

"In none of the five loan plans is it contemplated that the farmer would increase his total indebtedness. These plans represent an outright reduction in indebtedness through providing credit facilities which will induce existing holders to scale down the principal of their mortgages and the shifting of loan obligations from existing mortgage holders to the federal agencies which will defer foreclosures."

ROOSEVELT FARM BILL EXTENSIVELY CRITICISED

WASHINGTON, March 27.—(AP)—Criticism of the Roosevelt farm relief bill piled up end on end today before the senate agriculture committee as the administration's measure bumped along toward the senate floor.

Harry W. Farr, of Greeley, Col., presenting the objections of the live stock industry, led off the list of witnesses. He opposed the measure as unsound and costly to producer and consumer.

Francis J. Clair, of Chicago, and J. E. McDonald, of Austin, the Texas commissioner of agricuture, offered a substitute that in substance was the domestic allotment plan submitted at the last session of congress.

John A. Simpson, president of the National Farmers' Union, appearing for the third time in as many days, reiterated his opposition to the bill, and urged a price-fixing guaranty of production costs.

Fred J. Lingham, of Lockport, N. Y., representing the Millers' National Federation, added his objections, declaring a belief that the plan would not work, while the proposed processing tax would result in a per capita cost of $11.75 to each American for his food.

W. F. Jensen, of Chicago, manager of the American Association of Creamery and Butter Manufacturers, announced his organization's neutrality, but proposed that processors should be represented in the groups in charge of distributing benefit payments.

"We are not opposing the bill and we are not advocating the bill," he said, and answering Senator Norris, republican, Nebraska, added "if it is enacted we will give it our wholehearted support."

Chairman Smith announced the hearings would be pushed through tomorrow in the hope the bill might be laid before the senate some time this week. There were indications a compromise would be worked out in committee between the widely divergent views of members, farm and business spokesmen.

Prosecutor Clears Officer Of Premeditated Treachery

LONDON, March 27.—(AP)—The court martial trying Lieutenant Norman Baillie-Stewart on charges that he sold his country's military secrets was informed by the judge advocate today that the young officer had no treacherous intent when he left England for Germany last summer.

The prosecution contends that the sale of secrets took place in Berlin. Lieutenant Baillie-Stewart has testified that money he received from the German capital came to him from an attractive young German woman who paid him for making love to her.

Before sunset tomorrow trial of the case should be completed and the lieutenant's fate will be in the hands of the court martial. It may be several days, perhaps week, before the verdict is known.

Belief was expressed tonight that the charge by the judge advocate would be largely in favor of acquittal in view of the indication at today's session that he would instruct the court there was no evidence showing treacherous intent when Baillie-Stewart went to Berlin.

When the judge advocate had made his statement the prosecution countered with a declaration that it never said premeditation would be proved.

"I never have said the accused went to Berlin with the preconceived idea of doing what he is charged with doing," said Major Shapcott, the prosecutor. "Perhaps it was the opportunity which made the criminal rather than the criminal who made the opportunity."

The judge advocate will sum up the evidence at the opening of court tomorrow.

Testimony for the defense was given today by Mrs. Elsie Beatrice Wright, mother of the accused officer, and Lieutenant Eric Stewart Wright, his brother. In 1929 Baillie-Stewart changed his name from Wright.

The mother said she knew all about her son's visit to Berlin but she was not informed of subsequent trips to Holland, where, he testified, he again met the unidentified "Marie Louise" who paid him for his attentions.

"I don't mean this question unkindly," said the prosecutor, "but from the first to the last, did he tell you about these happenings in Berlin?"

"It was not natural that he would," Mrs. Wright replied.

Lieutenant Wright said his brother had told him about "Marie Louise" and about receiving money from her. This information annoyed him very much, the witness said, and he called his brother a "fool."

"Women were on his mind the whole time," Lieutenant Wright testified.

Victor Sylvester, a dancing school teacher, testified for the defense that he had been introduced to a girl named Marie Louise at a dancing demonstration in Berlin last summer. He was the first witness, other than Lieutenant Baillie-Stewart, who testified to having seen the girl.

Chief Provisions of Order Combining Farm Agencies

WASHINGTON, March 27.—(AP)—Here is what President Roosevelt's order for consolidating farm credit agencies provides:

1. Name of the farm board is changed to the "farm credit administration," with post of "chairman" changed to "governor."
2. Functions of the secretary of the treasury as a member of the farm loan board, and the offices of the appointed members of the farm loan board, except the office of the member designated as farm loan commissioner, are abolished—all powers and functions of the loan board transferred to the commissioner, subject to the jurisdiction of the "farm credit administration."
3. Functions of the farm loan bureau, the farm loan board, the treasury, agriculture, crop production office, seed loan office, and the Reconstruction Corporation directed toward extending aid to farmers is transferred to the credit administration under Henry Morgenthau Jr.
4. The activities of the farm board are abolished, with the credit administration directed to wind up stabilization activities.
5. Governor Morgenthau is directed to dismiss, furlough, transfer or act otherwise with officers and employes of the various organizations not needed in the new organization.

The order, issued today under authority granted the president to regroup executive and administration agencies to effect economies and co-ordination, takes effect after 60 legislative days unless congress acts to make it effective immediately.

Dr. J. C. McAfee Succumbs in Macon

MACON, Ga., March 27.—(AP)—Dr. J. C. McAfee, a leading Macon physician for many years, died suddenly tonight following a heart attack at his home here.

At one time Dr. McAfee was president of the Macon Medical Society of Bibb county, and he was a former president of the Idle Hour Country Club.

He was born in Crawford county and was 59 years old. He attended Mercer University, graduating in 1894. He then enrolled in the Baltimore Medical College, where he was graduated in 1898.

It was in 1898 that he opened his office in Macon and he had been actively engaged in the practice of his profession since.

Ansell Again Files Suit Against Long

WASHINGTON, March 27.—(AP)—Another libel suit for $500,000 was filed against Senator Long, of Louisiana, today by Samuel T. Ansell, former adjutant general of the army, as a result of charges the senator made against Ansell in a recent speech in the senate and elsewhere.

Ansell said he also was basing his today's suit on "the libelous kangaroo court circular which he (Long) issued just before the suspension of the senate committee hearings at New Orleans at which he assumed to act as counsel for Senator Overton.

DEPUTY PREDICTS FRENCH PAYMENT OF OVERDUE DEBT

Hull and Sir Ronald Lindsay, British ambassador, and their aids.

A joint communique issued as the conference ended said:

"We have continued our preliminary and tentative discussions of the world economic situation, confining our discussions to those topics contained in the agenda recently prepared by the preliminary committee in Geneva. We feel gratified with the value of these talks in clarifying the views of the officials of the two countries. We expect to continue these discussions."

While the agenda specifically excluded the war debts from the list of topics to be taken up, it said:

"It is essential that this question shall be settled and that the settlement shall relieve the world of further anxiety concerning the disturbing effects of such payments upon financial, economic and currency stability.

"Until there is such a settlement, or the definite prospect of such a settlement, these debts will remain an insuperable barrier to economic and financial reconstruction. We, therefore, attach the greatest importance to the early resumption and successful conclusion of negotiations upon this problem."

ROOSEVELT DISCUSSES COAL MINE CONDITIONS

Lewis, Cabinet Members and Solons Attend Conference.

WASHINGTON, March 27.—(AP)—President Roosevelt discussed the conditions in the bituminous coal industry in an hour's conference today with representatives of the miners and Secretaries Perkins and Ickes.

John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers, headed the delegation of mine labor representatives.

Senator Hayden, democrat, Arizona, and Representative Lewis, democrat, Maryland, joined in the parley.

Miss Perkins said further conferences would be held. She said the miners presented numerous suggestions which will "be explored."

New Refrigerator Appliance Will Feature Ice Convention

R. T. Frazier, vice president of the Tennessee Furniture Corporation, and a director of the American Society of Refrigerating Engineers, is holding the fan used in a new type of ice refrigerator on display for its first public showing at the 15th annual convention of the Georgia Ice Manufacturers' Association.

One of the features of the 15th annual convention of the Georgia Ice Manufacturers Association, opening this morning at the Piedmont hotel, is an entirely new development in ice refrigerators being displayed by the Tennessee Furniture Corporation of Chattanooga.

The new refrigerator is said to maintain temperatures never before achieved in an ice refrigerator. Such performance is made possible by a small fan, which is built into the inside wall of the refrigerator, between the ice compartment and the top food compartment.

This fan, which is thermostatically controlled, automatically starts operation when the temperature in the top of the refrigerator rises to 49 degrees. As it operates, it circulates cold air from the ice cake through the entire box, thus lowering the temperature in all food compartments. Tests made under various climatic conditions prove the efficiency of the invention.

According to R. T. Frazier, vice president of the Tennessee Furniture Corporation and inventor of this new fan principle, the fan consumes no more electric current than a 20-watt light bulb when it is in operation and it operates only about one-fifth of the time. It is entirely automatic and is so enclosed and guarded that there is no chance of dishes or fingers catching in it.

MOONEY WITNESSES WILL BE RECALLED

Testimony of Man Now Deceased To Be Admitted In New Trial.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 27.—(AP)—Defense preparations for the forthcoming new trial of Thomas J. Mooney, on a heretofore unused indictment growing out of the Preparedness Day parade bombing here in 1916, included plans today to subpoena all living defense witnesses in the original case, as well as many others.

Leo A. Gallagher, defense attorney, answering a statement by Police Captain Charles Goff, conditionally offered to stipulate to the testimony given in the original trial by Frank C. Oxman, Oregon cattleman, whose surprise appearance on the stand for the prosecution in the original trial was credited with having brought about Mooney's conviction. Oxman died several years ago.

Gallagher said the defense would make the stipulation providing it were given a chance to rebut the Oxman testimony.

The defense said its subpoenas would name Mrs. Rena Mooney, wife of the convicted bomber, and Israel Weinberg, jitney driver, both of whom were similarly accused and acquitted after Oxman's testimony had been discredited. Gallagher said Weinberg was in Cleveland and Edward Nolan, associate of Mooney, who was accused but never prosecuted, was in Los Angeles. Mrs. Mooney lives here.

CARBON MOUNTAIN ACTS LIKE VOLCANO; SLIDE CONTINUES

DURANGO, Col., March 27.—(AP) Disintegrating Carbon mountain acted like a volcano for its Sunday visitors but today had resumed its methodical breaking apart.

There was a muffled explosion, followed by a puff of gas and steam. Afterward old Carbon belched jet black smoke from a vent near the summit.

Geologists, who have claimed the faulting action of the mountain is due to the burning of an immense subterranean coal bed, thought the explosion was caused by the igniting of a gas pocket in the vein. A strong odor of coal gas and blue vapors have been noticeable throughout the months of action of the phenomenon. The burst of smoke was the first external evidence of the conflagration apparently raging underneath the peak.

On the southeast slope an estimated 35,000,000 tons of rock and dirt continued moving eastward into Animas valley. The movement of the mass can be seen. It travels 12 to 15 feet a day to the accompaniment of a rumbling and grinding noise. Trees and brush in its path are obliterated.

Record Altering Seen By Wendel Will Counsel

The Tennesseeans today renewed their effort to establish their relationship, which would entitle them to contest for a share in the estate. Their claims were dismissed last January when they were unable to prove they were the grandchildren of John Hammond Dew, a conceded relative of Miss Wendel.

More than 150 Atlantans will be included in the cast of "Follies of 1933," to be presented by the Atlanta Post No. 390, Veterans of Foreign Wars, in conjunction with a healthy baby show and a popularity contest, according to announcement by Frank Greene, chairman of the entertainment committee. Three shows will be given on nights of April 27, 28 and 29 at the city auditorium.

Mr. Greene said the cast would be trained by a New York director and would include the best talent in the city. Others on the committee are William G. McRae, John H. Bush, W. W. Jones Jr., Henry H. Green, James K. Finch and Kenneth Murrell. Headquarters for preliminary work have been opened at 254 Peachtree street, where entries in the baby show and popularity contest are being received.

TALMADGE EXPLAINS COUNTY MERGER VETO

Bills providing for city and county mergers vetoed by the governor were disapproved because they sought to abolish constitutional offices, Governor Eugene Talmadge said in Miami before leaving for Cuba, where he is spending a brief vacation.

The governor vetoed measures which would have provided for mergers of Albany and Dougherty county and Brunswick and Glynn county. A merger of Macon and Bibb county was approved because it did not carry the clause abolishing the constitutional offices. This plan, however, is subject to a referendum.

RAILROADS TO RUN 1-CENT EXCURSIONS

LIGHTNING PAINTER IS AT WORK HERE

"Lightning" Moragne, a familiar figure throughout the south, who has painted his amusing, colorful cartoons on half the show windows in Dixie, is in Atlanta strutting his stuff on the dealers' windows, advertising Ernst Whole Wheat Flakes.

He paints pictures equal to the average cover on a magazine in three to five minutes. Large crowds gather wherever he goes. In some cities crowds were so large that they had to call the cops to clear the sidewalks. He is painting the Q. S. S. stores this week.

GOODRICH HEAD URGES ROOSEVELT SUPPORT

The B. F. Goodrich Company will support President Roosevelt in his farm program, James D. Tew, president of the company, said on Monday. This company is a large user of cotton.

Declaring that everyone should forget his selfish interests, Mr. Tew said that President Roosevelt was now in command of the ship of state, and it is the duty of the public to stand by him.

"Our own company proposes to do this in spite of the fact that our production and distribution problems might become more acute should the farm bill increase the price of cotton in common with other commodities," Mr. Tew said.

"The president's farm relief program is designed to increase the price of farm products, including raw cotton. The realization of this purpose will obviously increase the production cost of most rubber articles as the majority of such articles will incorporate a substantial percentage of cotton. We feel very strongly, however, that in the interest of the farmers and the welfare of the country as a whole, it is our duty to forget selfish interests and back up whole-heartedly the efforts of our president in restoring stability to the economic life of the nation."

The Goodrich Company recently restored the salaries of employes in all departments to the level in effect prior to March 6, with the expectation that constructive legislation at Washington will soon result in greater business activity.

Mother, Watch Baby's Cold

Bad colds are a dangerous and trying time for both baby and mother, and thousands of mothers know that they may guide these colds to a safe and harmless conclusion by keeping the little bowels open and purified with Teethina, the revised formula of Dr. C. J. Moffett. Teethina moves the mucous from the bowels, relieves discomfort and acts as an intestinal antiseptic to keep baby's stomach pure and sweet, the first and most necessary step to cold-relief. This two-fold action is why Teethina gives such excellent results in treating baby's colds. Get a 30c package from any drug store, give baby relief and rid yourself from worry and anxiety.—(adv.)

YOUR BANK AND MINE

Hidden Money

10.

In a small city recently, a man made an interesting experiment. Seeking to get some idea as to the circulation of money, he pasted a dollar on a sheet of paper, dated it and requested each holder of the money to mark the date he received and spent the dollar. At the end of one day, seventeen people had handled the dollar.

Think what that means. Seventeen families could each have received a dollar's worth of food and still the dollar would be traveling on, helping others. Money in circulation in the channels of trade multiplies itself in the credit which it establishes, and moves the wheels of industry.

There are still many otherwise intelligent men and women who think they are doing a smart thing in hiding money. They are just as smart as the ostrich which hides its head in the sand and believes that no one can see it.

To begin with, they are blinding themselves to the fact that this money deposited in a bank will grow, will compound itself, will earn money for them. If they want to regard it from a purely selfish standpoint, they are actually losing money for themselves. But that hidden money actually affects other people. Economists estimate that $325.00 in circulation will keep a man at work for a year because money makes a circuit about six times a year. This means that $325.00 turning over about six times a year would give one man a total income of $1,950.00, or approximately $40.00 a week. Let us analyze that still further. A man earning $1,950.00 a year does not receive it all at once. At no time does he receive more than $40.00 of it. He takes that money, spends it with the butcher, the baker and the grocer and the various other merchants. They, in turn, pass it on to their various sources of supply and so his $40.00 travels along, providing income for each person who handles it.

Poor business conditions are due in great part to the hoarders and the hiders of money.

To this blind attitude on the part of people hiding money, you can also add their failure to realize that hidden money is never safe. It is subject to constant peril of fire and theft. I wish that I could distribute among poor people, all the hidden money that has been lost through fire and theft. I would be among the world's greatest philanthropists, for it runs into millions.

I know not whom I may be addressing, but may I say to anyone reading this message who has hidden money—in the name of sane common sense, pick out a good bank—deposit your money where it will be safe, where it will earn interest for you, where it can be loaned out into industry and trade, where it will put men and women to work, where it will benefit humanity in general and yourself in particular.

THE extending of credit to worthy individuals and enterprises is one of the most important services of a bank.

There has never been a time in the past two-thirds of a century when The First National Bank of Atlanta did not welcome applications for loans from individuals, firms, corporations, and institutions of Atlanta, Georgia, and the Southeast.

The credit facilities of this bank are available to our customers at this time in the customary way, and we are always pleased to have applications for loans for legitimate business purposes which can be handled on the usual current repayment basis.

BREAK of the DAY!
By Ralph McGill

No Wonder They Call It The Grand National

'Twas the Irish, God rest them, who started the sport of steeplechasing. And if boxing, which the Irish once dominated, is known as the manly art of modified murder, what, pray, shall we call steeplechasing?

The story goes that some Irish fox hunters, returning from the chase, agreed to race across country to a church whose steeple could be seen across the miles between them and their village. The first to reach the church was winner of the race.

And so began one of the world's greatest spectacles—the Grand National. Hunters ran it first in 1752. The Grand National, which was won last week by an American horse, was originated in 1834. It makes our oldest races look like kids in rompers.

It was not until reading the experiences of Pete Bostwick, the millionaire amateur hunter and jockey, who was thrown in the Grand National, and that of the winning rider, that the Grand National seemed so grand. The hair stands on end and a mighty respect for the courage of man and horse grows with the story of the race.

Those writing the story of the race say that the greatest crowds congregate at the dangerous jumps where the convergence of so many horses causes numerous spills and falls, a great mass of kicking hoofs and rolling weight. It is something, in our American races, to see the jockeys bring their mounts around a turn and into the stretch and to see a horse go down and the others pile up.

One of the greatest thrills in covering sport came some time ago at the Bainbridge track just outside Cleveland. They were bunched in the stretch with the bats flying and the yipping of the jockeys coming out of the dust, when a horse went down.

There was a swirl of dust and a whirl of flashing silks and steel-clad hoofs in the sun. There was the scream of horses and the echoing scream of an ambulance's siren. And then the lifting dust, riderless horses and one inert figure, pitiful in his bright-colored silks, and others crawling from the track. And one patient horse waiting, on three legs, for the merciful shot of the destroyer.

Those things etch on one's memory. I don't know about the Grand National!

THE JUMP OF DEATH.

Writers, giving descriptions of the race, tell of the jump before the royal box. It is there the crowd is most dense.

In the past 10 years more than 400 horses have gone to the post in the Grand National and less than a hundred have finished. "The jump of death" claims most of them.

An English paper describes it thusly: "The horse and rider must clear a thorn fence two and a half feet high and immediately beyond is a water hazard 12½ feet wide, making a total leap of 15 feet.

"This could be made with a moderate amount of safety were it not for a jump immediately preceding it. The rider and mount must jump it and then make a right angle turn to be confronted with the leap of death. Eighteen of last week's 34 entries finished, an unusually high average."

All sports call for courage—but the Grand National calls for physical and competitive courage both. And it requires, in its four and a half miles of grind and the specters of 30 dangerous jumps, as much timing and skill as any other event in the world.

THE IRON DERBY.

It isn't long now until the Iron Derby will be run on the great brick dish at Indianapolis. It makes the Kentucky Derby and all other large sporting spectacles of this country seem small in comparison. It is the only American sporting event drawing annually crowds of about 200,000.

And the 2,500,000 bricks of the big two-and-a-half-mile track have each seen their share of thrills. They have seen great displays of courage and iron nerve. They have seen lives go. It is our Grand National—the big Iron Derby.

The crowds gather thickest at the dangerous turns where the roaring cars go hurtling into the bends, their tires screaming and fire spitting from the exhaust. The gathering roar of the crowd, rising to a shrill crescendo, cascades over the great track.

They have seen cars go over in flames; have seen them lock wheels and go catapulting down the track; have seen heroes bring their cars in safe although in flames. And the crowd thickest at the danger points.

THE RINGSIDE SEATS.

We are a curious people, I guess. It is something more than a morbid curiosity, this urge to be in close where the danger is—although out of it. It is an atavistic something.

Football, the prize ring, baseball, the turf—all our sports bring their quota of death and broken bones. No more, of course, than the ordinary courses of life. Airplanes descend out of the dark and wipe out a whole family, trains smash up and automobiles, tornadoes and earthquakes take their toll.

But we all want ringside seats at the fight and we want to be close by at the dangerous jumps in the Grand National; and we want seats at the turn at the Iron Derby and seats on the 50-yard line at the football games.

PETE BOSTWICK'S THRILL.

Pete Bostwick, who was thrown in the Grand National, said in part:

"It was at Becher's brook, one of the giant fences in this terribly difficult course, that Dusty Foot met disaster. On the take-off of this fence there is a slight depression and the horse found this in leaping. The result was it jumped short and fell on landing, turning completely over. I went right on over his head and fell on my face. I lay there dazed, knowing the danger from the following horses, just sufficiently conscious to hear the hoofs thundering about my ears."

It would be a dull life without these fellows who supply the spectacles for the occupants of the ringside seats. "Just sufficiently conscious to hear the hoofs thundering about my ears." Ah, well. No wonder they call it the Grand National.

Toy Bulldog Sued For $10,000 by Girl

LOS ANGELES, March 27.—(AP)—Mickey Walker, known in boxing circles as the "Toy Bulldog," today was named defendant in a suit for $10,175 damages filed by Maybelle E. Stephen, who charges assault and battery.

Miss Stephen alleges the light-heavyweight boxer knocked her down last Sunday in Hollywood and had started to kick her, only to be prevented by a pedestrian who threw himself between her and Walker. The woman asks $5,000 actual damages, $5,000 punitive damages, $100 for medical aid and $75 for the dress she says was "ruined."

Cubs Send Newsom To Los Angeles

LOS ANGELES, March 27.—(AP)—Chicago's National league championship Cubs started spring housecleaning today when Louis (Buck) Newsom, young right-hand pitcher, was turned over to the Los Angeles club, of the Pacific Coast league.

Newsom won seven and lost seven games with Albany last year. He was forced to make a late start because of a broken leg suffered in midwinter. Newsom completes the player deal which will take George Stainback, young Angel outfielder, to Chicago next spring.

SAVOLDI MAKES INITIAL STAND AT AUDITORIUM

Meets Zarnos in Feature Tonight; Dick, Steinborn Matched.

Football and wrestling fans alike will be attracted to the city auditorium tonight when Jumping Joe Savoldi, Notre Dame's great fullback of three years ago and now reputed to be a real championship prospect in the mat realm, makes his local debut as a grappler, opposing Jack Zarnos, Ohio University Greek, in the final match of Henry Weber's all-star card.

Preceding the Savoldi-Zarnos encounter and also billed to go two falls out of three with a 90-minute limit, is a tussle between Milo Steinborn, German strong man, and Richard (Sock) Dick, a newcomer who hails from Indiana University. A brief preliminary between Atlanta middleweights will open the card promptly at 8:15 o'clock.

REAL ATTRACTION.

Although both Zarnos and Steinborn are well known and popular here, there is no doubt that the most potent boxoffice attraction of the evening will be Savoldi. The Italian youngster with the sunny smile and the perfect physique has taken the fancy of the crowd everywhere he has appeared, and there has been a strong curiosity to see him in action here. Savoldi does not have to depend on his pleasing personality to get by, however. He is a wrestler and a good one.

Zarnos figures to make the going decidedly interesting for Savoldi in their match tonight, and may well come off the victor. The Greek is only a year or two older than his rival, and will have an edge in weight and experience. Furthermore, Jack is one of the roughest grapplers who has appeared here. His bout with Whitey Hewitt was a classic as a bar-room brawl. If Savoldi is not on his guard every moment tonight he may be the recipient of some effective if unethical species of punishment.

MAKES HIT.

Steinborn made a great hit with the fans by curbing Hewitt last week, and most of them will be pulling for him to keep up his winning streak at the expense of Dick. The latter is young and powerful, however, and comes here with the reputation of being one of the finest grapplers in the middle west. Even the best of them wilt under the pressure of Steinborn's famous bear hug, however, and Dick's chances tonight depend on how well he is able to avoid that grip.

The auditorium doors will be opened at 6:45 o'clock tonight, but, in order to minimize crowding, as many fans as possible are urged to purchase their tickets in advance today at the Piedmont Hatters or the Miner & Carter Drug company.

NORTH-SOUTH OPEN STARTS

PINEHURST, N. C., March 27.—(AP)—Some of the niftiest golf displayed at Pinehurst in many a day was trotted out here this afternoon to usher in the 31st annual north and south open which gets under way tomorrow with a crack field of 90 pros and amteurs participating.

Craig Wood, Deal, N. J., who lost last year's playoff for the title to Johnny Golden, Noroton, Conn., and Paul Runyan, the White Plains, N. Y., sharpshooter, did most of the shellacking.

They played an exhibition match with Tommy Armour, the Black Scot; Walter Hagen, winner of the Charleston open last week, and Gene Sarazen, former national open champion, and were clocked in 68 and 69, respectively, for the par 71 championship layout.

Prep Boxers To Meet Tonight

Boys' High and Tech High will renew their athletic rivalry at 7:30 o'clock tonight in the Henry Grady gymnasium in a boxing match.

Tonight's match marks the opening of the Purple boxing schedule and is the second for Tech High, as the Smithies recently defeated University School boxers.

Tech High and Boys' High finished all square in two boxing matches last year and tonight's will be a "rubber" affair.

Members of the Boys' High team will include Aldrich, Groves, Clausman, Johnston, Sherman, Jones and Leathers, while Tech High will be represented by Gaddis, Simons, Williams, Cox, Hinds, Evans, Friand and Orr.

Emory's Golfers To Meet Richmond

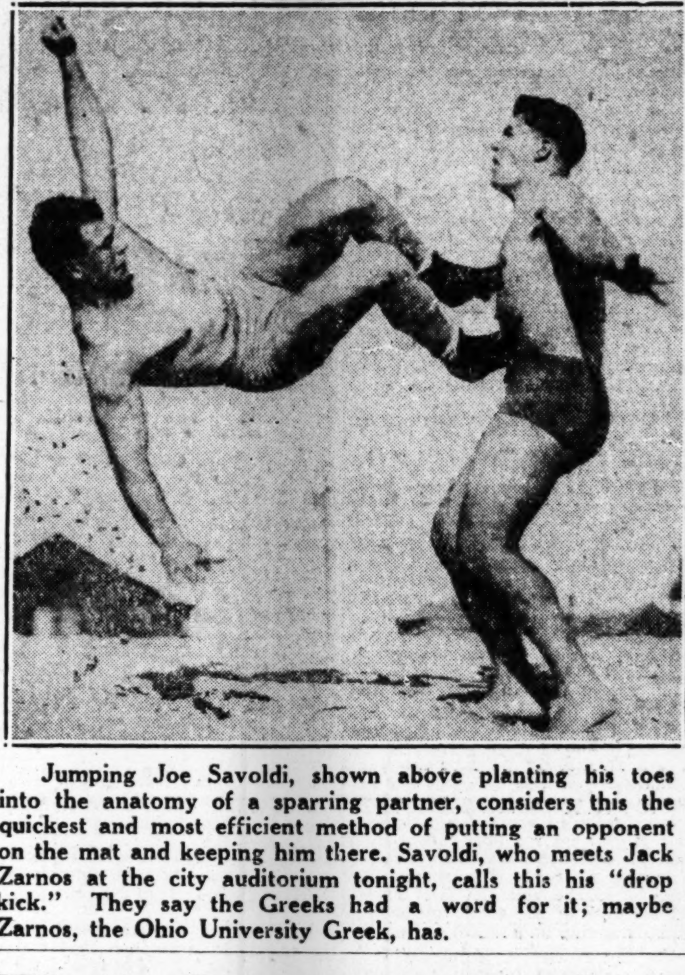
Emory University's golf team will open its 1933 schedule at 1:30 o'clock this afternoon on the Druid Hills course with the University of Richmond team as opponents. Emory will play Furman Saturday morning.

A veteran team will represent Emory this afternoon with last year's captain, Bobby Chambers, slated for No. 1 position. Others are Harvey Hill, Joe Horacek Jr. and Albert Stubbs. Russell Bridges is a reserve member of the team.

HENDRIX WINS.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 27.—(AP)—Arthur Hendrix, Lakeland, favorite, won the west coast tennis singles championship late today by defeating Jimmy Dodd, youthful Cincinnati star, in the finals of the tournament. Hendrix took a three-set match, scoring 6-2, 6-3 and 6-4.

This for Zarnos



Jumping Joe Savoldi, shown above planting his toes into the anatomy of a sparring partner, considers this the quickest and most efficient method of putting an opponent on the mat and keeping him there. Savoldi, who meets Jack Zarnos at the city auditorium tonight, calls this his "drop kick." They say the Greeks had a word for it; maybe Zarnos, the Ohio University Greek, has.

Wally Dashiell Finds Partner to His Liking

Buster Chatham Fits in Splendidly in Cracker Keystone Combination.

By Jimmy Jones.

MOBILE, Ala., March 23.—John Wallace Dashiell, the nimble fellow who will play the second base position for the Atlanta Crackers this year unless he breaks a leg or an arm, has found himself a playmate exactly to his liking for the all-important business of executing double plays, since coming to the Atlanta club. The young man about whom Wally is so enthusiastic is none other than Charles (Buster) Chatham, the well-known cotton buyer from Texas and probably the most improved infielder in camp, both in spirit for his work and all-around performing at shortstop.

Dashiell, after one week of pairing with the wee Buster in infield practice, has indorsed his partner lavishly.

"He's the most ideal shortstop for starting double plays, as far as I am concerned, that I ever played with," Dashiell said just the other day. "He gives you the ball just right and times his throws wonderfully."

Dashiell, incidentally, is lighting itself when it comes to covering the bag and he likes a shortstop who has the ball there waiting for him. Hustling, bustling Buster is just the boy to do that. Result is that they have been improving so much that Manager Charles Moore says he wouldn't be at all surprised if the pair didn't lead the league in making double plays this year.

SHOWS IMPROVEMENT.

Last year, Chatham came to the Crackers from the Boston Braves about mid-season and was not in very good condition. He had been used very little at Boston and when he was used, it was either at third or second. He had to get accustomed to short all over again. Along toward the end of the season, he began to pick up, both on his hitting and fielding, with the result that he was the only infielder retained when the club cleaned house this spring. It is said that Chatham learned to like Atlanta more than he anticipated and looked forward to playing a full season there. In fact, he told the writer last summer that if he started at shortstop and was kept there, he felt sure that he would hit over .300 and do the club more good all the way around. Buster has his wish and a good infield to play with. Watch him go this summer.

Dashiell, who took a healthy salary whack on coming to the seventh place Crackers from the pennant winning Chattanooga club, did so like a man. His remark, after he signed the greatly reduced contract, pleased Manager Moore no little.

TO GO OUT AND WIN.

"Well, now we'll have to go out and win the pennant and get the ball players' salaries back up," Wally told his boss with a grin.

Dashiell, although comparatively young, has been playing professional ball ten years. He started with Marshall, Texas, in 1923 and batted .346 his first year out. He was bought by Chattanooga from Pensacola, Fla., in 1928. That season he stole 51 bases. He has always been quite a base runner and likes to travel on the sacks. But Bill Rodgers and Bert Niehoff, two of his managers at Chattanooga, didn't let him run much, for they counted on batting power to get their runs.

Charley Moore is a man who believes in running the sacks to a fare-thee-well, and this also pleases Dashiell greatly. The latter is a fast man, having played halfback at Austin college in Texas. He is considered one of the best lead-off men in the Southern league and also one of the best base runners. He does not take wild chances on the bases, preferring to steal only when the base means something. He had his best year in the Southern in 1931 when he batted .332 and went to the Boston Red Sox. He was at Chattanooga five years, and under three managers, first Jimmy Johnston, then Bill Rodgers and Bert Niehoff. He has always played on a winning club.

Miss Coleman Announces Marriage

MIAMI, Fla., March 27.—(AP)—Georgia Coleman, Olympic diving champion, tonight announced her marriage to Roof Gilson, salesman, of Jackson, Mich.

The swimmer said her husband, whom she married in Fort Lauderdale Friday, is now at Pinehurst.

In a statement issued here tonight the diving champion said:

"It is reasonably well known that I have contemplated a professional career beginning this summer.

"I wanted to carry out my own idea for a number of reasons, chiefly because I feel I have a responsibility to my family, who have made it possible for me to do the things I have wanted to do while giving me every advantage within their means.

"I felt when we were married that marriage might interfere with my career—that it might jeopardize the consummation of a contract now pending with a beach in the metropolitan New York district.

"I had planned, however, to abandon next fall the business of diving and swimming, and be just what I want to be—plain Mrs. Gilson."

Stanley Poreda Stops Tom Heeney

NEW YORK, March 27.—(AP)—Stanley Poreda, young Jersey City heavyweight, won by a technical knockout over old Tom Heeney tonight in the scheduled 10-round feature bout of the St. Nicholas arena.

Heeney, once the "Hard Rock from Australia," was led to his corner by Referee Jack Dorman after one minute and 24 seconds of the tenth round.

CHICAGO, March 27.—(UP)—Otto Von Porat, lean heavyweight boxer from Norway, will meet Tommy Loughran, of Philadelphia, former light heavyweight champion, in a 10-round bout at Philadelphia on April 19. Von Porat accepted terms for the fight today.

CRACKERS PLAY MILLERS TODAY; HOME THURSDAY

Two-Game Series In Montgomery; Open With Solons Here.

By Jimmy Jones.

MOBILE, March 27.—The Crackers packed up bag and baggage today following a three-hour morning workout at Hartwell field and shoved off for home the return trip to be punctuated by a two-game series with the Minneapolis Millers Tuesday and Wednesday in Montgomery.

Reaching home Thursday the Crackers immediately will plunge into a heavy exhibition schedule, starting with Washington Thursday afternoon.

Bob Hasty, Lefty Carrithers and Bunny Hearn have been selected to work in the Miller series, Manager Moore announced just before leaving.

SQUAD INTACT.

The 21-player squad will remain intact until the Crackers reach home, Manager Moore announcing he was through cutting until he had a chance to see more of the younger players in action.

While he is none too optimistic, Moore is well pleased with the developments obtained in the four-week spring training program here. For the most part excellent weather favored the Crackers and a great deal was accomplished in the way of fashioning a contender for the Southern league pennant.

There were words of the highest praise for two rookie outfielders who have developed fast in the spring drills. Freddie Sington, the ex-Alabama star, and Duck McKee, the representative from Monroe, have been hitting and fielding in such a way as to bring joy to the heart of the critical Cracker pilot.

DALY WORKS.

And it seems that old Bill Daly, the trainer, has again worked wonders with recalcitrant muscles and ligaments. Red Rollings had been troubled with a sore throwing arm. But in the final exhibition game with the Southern Kraft semi-pros, of Mobile, Sunday, Rollings was zipping the ball across the diamond like a bullet.

The Cracker squad as a whole is in splendid condition. The pitchers are in shape. Andy Messenger and Ted Kleinhans were commended. The latter has shown that he can control his curve ball deliveries to the satisfaction of all concerned.

Art Weis, who is engaged in a battle with Joe Bonowitz for the other outfield position alongside Sington and McKee, has found his batting eye and favor with Moore.

Atlanta fans will find their Crackers in a spry and winning mood when they meet Washington Thursday at Ponce de Leon.

Moore is bringing along Pat Moulton, former Auburn star pitcher, for further trials in exhibition games in Atlanta.

SOUTH ATLANTIC FALLS THROUGH

AUGUSTA, Ga., March 27.—(AP)—A scheduled meeting of representatives of cities interested in reviving the defunct South Atlantic Baseball league failed to materialize here today when only one baseball figure attended.

Baseball enthusiasts from Columbia, S. C.; Greenville, S. C.; Macon, Ga.; Savannah, Ga.; Florence, S. C., and Columbus, Ga., had been invited by Cliff Farr, of Augusta, to meet today and continue plans for the reorganization of the league following an unsuccessful meeting last week in Columbia.

However, Farr and local newspapermen were the only men in attendance at the specified time today. Farr said he had received no word from officials in other cities that they would not attend the meeting and that now, so far as he knew, plans for the league this year were at an end.

Coaches Complete Track Schedules

Details pertaining to prep track schedules, drawn up Sunday, were completed Monday night at a meeting of representatives at the Atlanta Athletic Club.

With few exceptions, the meets will embrace the events that are contained in the regular prep and high school meets throughout the country.

C. S. Ward, of Boys' High, Frank Kopt, of Tech High, and M. Padget, of G. M. A., are members of the schedule committee.

Primo's Manager Sought by U. S.

NEW YORK, March 27.—(AP)—A federal warrant was issued today for William J. Duffy, manager of Primo Carnera, the boxer, charging him with evading tax of $2,007 on an alleged net income of $34,170 in 1930.

Duffy's attorney, Harry S. Hechheimer, promised to surrender his client for pleading tomorrow.

Coucci Rides Three Winners; One Pays $244 for $2 Ticket

CORAL GABLES, Fla., March 27.—(AP)—Opening a brilliant exhibition of horsemanship by scoring with the longest priced winner of the meeting, Silvio Coucci, the "Bronx Express" of the turf, today rode three winners at Tropical Park.

The little Italian jockey brought Romac, a three-year-old owned by Mrs. W. M. Moore, home in front of his field in the third race to pay $244.30 for a $2 straight ticket. It took one of Coucci's best rides to bring the gelding to the judges' stand a nose in front of Baptism, another outsider.

Coucci followed his triumph aboard the longshot by winning with C. V. Whitney's Banderlog in the mile feature and Revonah in the mile and one-sixteenth sixth event. The three victories gave Coucci a total of 16 for the meeting, which will close Saturday.

The Whitney representative, under a perfect ride, ran the eight furlongs in 1:38. At the finish he was a length and a half in front of Outbound, ridden by Johnny Westrope, Coucci's nearest rival for riding honors. Third money went to Honey Locust.

Bobby Jones, Physician for Golfing Ills, Scores Once Again

LOS ANGELES, Cal., March 27.—One of the most interesting angles of a California visit, along sporting lines, has been to watch Bobby Jones working in his role as physician for the cure of golfing ills.

The celebrated Georgia star has just completed a two-month job along this line and leaves today for his Atlanta home, after one of the hardest assignments he has ever faced, for the ills and the troubles of the average golfer are manifold and myriad; they are almost innumerable, unaccountable; and to provide cures for all these ailments in anything like an individual manner, or method, would be beyond the power of a golfing army.

Knowing this in his next set of instructive pictures, Bobby has adopted a much saner and much sounder method. He has, along one line, shown the most common and the most destructive faults of the average player, and against this he has provided the correct method and manner of handling the fundamentals that really count.

His main idea has been to provide a foundation upon which a golfer can start, an oasis to which he might return from the desert for a new start, a place to come back to when he is in trouble.

The main trouble, of course, with most golfers is that when they get badly off, when the swing begins to break up, when stark trouble sets in, they have no real foundation upon which they can rebuild.

For the main part, they are struggling in the dark, unless they happen to seek out some first-class instructor who can put them right.

The Selective Group.

There are six different angles that Bobby Jones has selected for his new group of instructive presentations. In his original picture he was largely concerned with shot making. In this group he is almost entirely concerned with the right method of swinging. He has included six varieties in the following order: First, grip; second, position and back swing; third, hip action; fourth, down swing; fifth, impact; sixth, fine points (in which he covers the downward blow for back spin and for play from close, or down-hill lie, also intentional hooking and slicing).

I think he made an extremely wise choice in opening his instructive offerings with grip and position. Less than two months ago, with no knowledge of what Bobby Jones had in mind, I asked both Gene Sarazen and Tommy Armour what they considered two of the most important fundamentals connected with the golf swing. Each stated grip and position at the ball.

There is, of course, a reason for this. If you have an incorrect grip it is almost impossible to swing the club properly, since the hands, after all, are the only part of the body that touch the shaft of the club. If you have an incorrect grip it is extremely difficult, even with what looks to be a good swing, to bring the face of the club into the ball along the right line of flight.

It might be noted here that gripping isn't a matter of the interlocking or overlapping, or the old-fashioned two-handed grip. All of these have won many national championships. Correct gripping concerns the position of the hands and fingers on the club.

In the same way, if one's position at the ball is wrong, it is again almost impossible to have anything like a correct swing. The golfer who stoops over too much, who places his feet too wide apart, who stands with stiffened legs, is certainly in no position to swing the club smoothly and freely and bring the body into play, as it should be brought.

The correct body action, as Bobby Jones shows, is a very vital part of the swing. This can be totally wrecked by an awkward, uncouth, stiffened position in addressing the ball.

Certainly the golfer who stands with the correct position in address and the correct grip is at least equipped with a chance to build up the right swing. If he hasn't the correct grip and the correct address, he has no chance to get a good swing going.

From these two starting points Bobby Jones proceeds to show the proper method of swinging the club, explaining just how the hands, wrists, arms and body must work in order to develop maximum clubhead speed at the moment of impact.

"In most cases," he says, "the average golfer is working against himself. His hands and arms are working against body action, his body action is lessening the power of his hands and arms, his left hand and arm are more often than not actually interfering with his right.

"The golf swing must be largely team play among hands, wrists, arms and body. They must work together in one blend. This isn't as difficult as it might seem, once the golfer gets a clear picture of what he ought to do to swing the club in the right way.

There is no reason at all why so many intelligent, healthy people, who have been playing golf from 10 to 15 years, should show almost no improvement in the average of their scores. It is simply because they have fallen into certain fixed bad habits which now control their swings.

The Positive Side.

"In the place of trying to arrange a cure for every fault, it has seemed to me much better to move over into the positive side and try to show the right thing to do. This has been one of our main ideas all the way through these pictures.

"I know that there are certain things that I have to do in order to get results. If I do not do these things, I do not get results. I have also found out that practically the same things that affect me affect all other golfers, in regard to right and wrong methods of swinging.

This new series is the most interesting I have yet seen along instructive lines. It will help clear up many an argument and many a debate as to what actually happens when one is hitting the ball in champion form.

Mile Skate Race Booked Tonight

A mile race for Class C skaters and a free-for-all half-mile event will feature the racing program tonight at the skating rink, 671 Peachtree street.

Skating passes will be awarded the winners, and a host of local speed aces are expected to enter.

The weekly block party will be held Thursday night with several contests and fancy skating exhibitions planned for the skaters.

NATIONAL LOOP, TRUE TO WORD, CHANGES SLATE

First Inter-Sectional Clash Is Moved Up Five Days.

NEW YORK, March 27.—(AP)—The National league today fulfilled its promise to make a radical change in its 1933 baseball schedule, advancing the first intersectional clash five days and the second east-west series nearly three weeks. The 154-game schedule opens April 12 in Boston, Philadelphia, Cincinnati and Chicago.

In comparison with last year when the east invaded the west, May 5 and 6, the western clubs this year will come east for their opening series May 1 and 2. After closing the intersectional series on the Atlantic seaboard, the eight teams will move into the western cities May 15 and 16. Last year this shift was not made until June.

The Pirates will be the first team to move eastward, opening a three-game stand in Philadelphia, May 1. The following day, however, the Cardinals will be in Brooklyn, the Cubs at the Polo Grounds meeting the Giants and the Reds at Boston.

When the scene shifts back to the west, the Phillies will play in Pittsburgh, the Cardinals will be at home to the Dodgers, the Giants will play in Chicago and the Braves will invade the Reds' home grounds.

For the season's openers in the west, the league champions, the Chicago Cubs, will entertain the revised Cardinals at Wrigley field, while the Pirates, picked by many as the team to beat, will invade Redland field.

The two eastern inaugurals will bring together Bill Terry's New York Giants and the Braves at Boston, with Brooklyn playing at Philadelphia.

MRS. READE WINS MEDAL HONORS

By Roy White.

A new medalist was crowned in Atlanta's women golf circles Monday when Mrs. Frank Reade carded an 86 on the Capital City Club course in the first match play tournament to be sponsored by the Atlanta Woman's Golf Association this year. The tourney drew 41 entries, the largest opening tournament crowd in recent years.

Mrs. Charlie Black Jr. was second low with a 93 and Mrs. Ben Barrow finished third with a 94.

First-round matches in the tournament will be played this morning with the championship flight slated to start at 9 o'clock. Other flights will follow in order and the twosomes will tee off at five-minute intervals.

There were 16 players placed in the championship flight and the defeated eight today will form a consolation flight. All other groups will contain eight players each and handicaps will apply.

Officials of the association were very much enthused over the interest being manifested in the first event of the year and the scores were much better than expected, since the weather for the past two months for the most part has been unfavorable for women's golf play.

Mrs. C. E. Williamson is chairman of the tournament and is being assisted by Mrs. Charlie Black Jr. and Mrs. M. S. Mentzer in co-operation with Howard Beckett and Willie Livingstone, the club professionals.

The pairings:

CHAMPIONSHIP FLIGHT.

Mrs. Frank Reade vs. Mrs. J. C. Harris Jr.
Mrs. L. H. Beck vs. Mrs. M. S. Mentzer.
Mrs. R. C. Hale vs. Mrs. Jimmy Burns.

Mrs. John Appleby vs. Mrs. Mike King.
Mrs. Grady Black vs. Mrs. C. E. Williamson.
Mrs. Warren Pollard vs. Mrs. Johnny Welch.
Mrs. R. M. Howell vs. Mrs. Charlie Black Jr.

FIRST FLIGHT.

Mrs. M. Edgerton vs. Mrs. George Sherrill.
Mrs. Charlie Black Sr. vs. Mrs. Evelyn Sheffield.
Mrs. George Reid vs. Mrs. F. G. Gordon.
Mrs. Van Wilkinson vs. Mrs. O. W. Miller.

SECOND FLIGHT.

Mrs. D. T. Cannon vs. Mrs. Clark Howell Jr.
Mrs. Harry Vaughn vs. Mrs. Asa Candler.
Mrs. W. W. Barr vs. Mrs. Clyde King.
Mrs. George McKeeby vs. Mrs. Wayne Patterson.

THIRD FLIGHT.

Mrs. J. O. Childs vs. Mrs. T. F. Davenport.
Mrs. M. Anderson vs. Mrs. Van Hart.
Mrs. John Woody vs. Mrs. F. O. Gibbs.
Mrs. Louise Cramer vs. Mrs. S. B. Ives.
Mrs. Joe Regenstein, bye.

Commercial, Fulton Play Here Today

Temporary leadership of the North Georgia Interscholastic Conference baseball league will be reduced by at least one team today when Commercial and Fulton, two unbeaten teams, meet at Almand park in the third round.

University and Decatur also are unbeaten in two previous games, but rule a favorite in their games today with Marist and Russell, respectively. Decatur will meet a strong Russell team that went ten innings before losing to University last Friday afternoon.

Fulton High has won the past two championships and except for pitchers has a much improved team over last year. Commercial also has shown considerable improvement and should give Fulton plenty of trouble this afternoon.

Other games on the afternoon card include Gainesville and Druid Hills at Druid Hills and Marietta and North Fulton at Buckhead.

YANKS CRUSH REDS BY 16 TO 3; A'S ROUT CARDS

Senators Blast Caldwell To Defeat Birmingham, 6-4.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 27.—(AP)—With Charlie Devens, Harvard graduate, and Lefty Gomez pitching five-hit ball, the New York Yankees pounded the ball to all corners of Huggins' field today to defeat the Cincinnati Reds, 16 to 3.

Devens held the Reds to two hits and one run in the five innings he was on the mound. The National leaguers got the remainder of their hits and runs off Gomez, one of them a homer by Lombardi in the seventh. Bill Dickey also drove out a home run in the midst of the Yankees' six-run rally in the fifth.

Cincinnati (N.) ..100 001 100—3 5 4
New York (A.)..102 060 61x—16 16 0
Rixey, Johnson, Ogden and Hemsley; Devens, Gomez and Dickey.

CARDS ROUTED.

FORT MYERS, Fla., March 27.—(AP)—Held to three hits until the eighth inning, the Philadelphia Athletics unloosed a counter-attack which routed the St. Louis Cardinals, 6 to 4, from the American league team's training camp today.

Frank Higgins started things with a triple and Doc Cramer, pinch hitting for Tony Freitas, drove the third baseman in with a double. Then Mickey Cochrane beat out a single and Ed Coleman's high fly behind second got away from Estel Crabtree, St. Louis outfielder. The two runners scored, giving the A's their margin of victory.

The line score:
St. Louis (N.) ......011 002 000—4 12 2
Philadelphia (A.) ...003 000 03x—6 6 0
Dean, Carleton, Derringer and J. Wilson, O'Farrell; Mahaffey, Freitas and Cochrane.

SENATORS WIN.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., March 27.—(UP)—Washington's Senators took the second of their spring training games from the Birmingham Barons today, 6 to 4. The Senators pounced on Ray Caldwell, former Yankee hurler, for five hits and five runs in the opening inning. Buddy Myer and Fred Schulte hit home runs during this rally. Caldwell, Vines and Hayes yielded 10 hits to Washington, while Whitehill and Weaver limited the Barons to six.

CLEVELAND.

NEW ORLEANS, March 27.—(AP) Wesley Ferrell will be given his first pitching assignment of the training season this week in one of the Cleveland Indians' exhibition games with the New Orleans Pelicans, Manager Roger Peckinpaugh said today. Ferrell, who was a holdout for nearly a month after the Indians reached training camp here, will be used for three to five innings in his first start, Peckinpaugh said.

RED SOX.

SARASOTA, Fla., March 27.—(AP) President Tom Yawkey today contracted to bring his Boston Red Sox back here for their 1934 spring training. He expressed satisfaction with conditions and agreed with Sarasota boosters that it was an ideal baseball center.

Manager Marty McManus sent his squad through a six-inning practice tilt as a tune-up for tomorrow's return game with Cincinnati.

PHILS BEAT BRAVES.

WINTER HAVEN, Fla., March 27.—(AP)—Pounding two rookie pitchers and stealing bases freely at the expense of a third, the Phillies gave the Boston Braves an 11-to-5 trouncing today.

The Phils could not hit Kirley, trying to earn his feathers as a Brave, but they scored two runs in the seventh inning without a hit. Three walks and four steals, including a double steal, did the trick.

Hon. Kiley

Roger Kiley, famed former Notre Dame end and teammate in 1920 of the immortal George Gipp, is now a Chicago alderman. Last season he was an assistant to Chet Wynne, also a former Irish brilliant and now coach at Alabama Polytechnic.

Putnam Grand Jury Pays Roosevelt Tribute

EATONTON, Ga., March 27.—(AP)—Having seen better times just ahead, the Putnam county grand jury recommends that citizens arise and sing "Happy Days Are Here Again."

The suggestion was made in due form in the jurors' regular report to superior court.

"Believing a new day is at hand and that better times will soon be here, we bespeak support and co-operation for our great and dynamic president, Franklin D. Roosevelt," the report read.

"We as a people, having learned the sweet uses of adversity, shall, with the grace of God and the help of this great leader, soon be able to sing 'Happy Days Are Here Again.'"

Judge James B. Park ordered that a certified copy of the report be sent President Roosevelt.

AUGUSTAN WINS PRIZE AT CHICK, EGG SHOW

Numerous Other Awards Announced at End of Athens Exhibition.

ATHENS, Ga., March 27.—J. H. Wood, Augusta, won the silver trophy for the best display of chicks and eggs at the first Georgia baby chick and egg show held at the College of Agriculture, University of Georgia.

The silver trophies awarded to the best entry of chicks in the four classes were won as follows: Mrs. G. V. Cate, Brunswick, Barred Plymouth Rock class; J. H. Wood, Augusta, Rhode Island Red class; B. L. Southwell, Tifton, miscellaneous class, and J. H. Wood, Augusta, White Leghorn class.

In the egg show the Clarke County Hatchery, of Athens, won the silver trophy for the best dozen white eggs and M. W. Kantala of Elberton won second place. J. H. Wood, of Augusta, won the silver trophy for the best dozen brown eggs.

Mrs. G. V. Cate and J. H. Wood, each won five gallons of cod liver oil, donated by the Consumers Import Company of New York city, for the highest scoring entries in the heavy breeds and light breeds, respectively.

The two bottles of Iodine Suspensoid, donated by Merck & Company, were won by M. W. Kantala and the Clarke County Hatchery for the second best dozen white eggs and brown eggs, respectively.

RACKETEERS' HAND SEEN IN BEAUTICIAN'S DEATH

CHICAGO, March 27.—(AP)—A theory that efforts of racketeers to organize the beauty parlor business may have resulted in the death of Frank Interlande, 33, was investigated by police today.

Interlande, described by police as a well-to-do operator of beauty parlors in downtown Chicago, was found in a ditch on the far-southside. He had been shot to death.

LAGRANGE PAPER HITS PRISON CONDITIONS

Suicide of Adjudged Lunatic Called "Blood Upon Hands of Officials."

LAGRANGE, Ga., March 27.—Declaring that the suicide of an adjudged lunatic in the Troup county jail last week is "blood upon the hands of those charged with official responsibility to provide proper facilities," the LaGrange Daily News in an editorial in today's issue says that Governor Talmadge has promised Troup county officials a "thorough investigation" of the problem caused by "hundreds now confined in dark jail cells."

The editorial entitled "Murder by the State," follows:

"The most vivid imagination could conjure no graver illustration of Georgia's sad plight than the pitiful drama which had its conclusion in the Troup county jail last week.

"One of LaGrange's unfortunate citizens had been committed for lunacy. Following the inquest, the usual application was forwarded to the state hospital for the insane at Milledgeville and the usual reply came back: 'Due to overcrowded conditions the patient cannot be admitted at this time.'

"The place for this man was in a hospital. He was not a criminal. He was sick, mentally sick, the most pitiable and appealing affliction that can be visited upon man. Yet a state which calls itself civilized, a state which boasts of its great resources and possibilities, could not discharge its duty and provide proper care for this unfortunate individual. He was kept in the county jail.

"At 4 o'clock last Wednesday morning when the prisoners were asleep, this unfortunate individual, his mind deranged by fancied tortures, tied a flour sack around his neck and strangled himself to death.

"This death, although a merciful release to the poor unfortunate, is blood upon the hands of those charged with official responsibility to provide those facilities which decency demands and which a citizen in an enlightened state may reasonably expect.

"Georgia's jails are filled with lunatics—poor, mishapen souls whose afflictions deserve and demand special care and consideration. There are four more in the Troup county jail that have been adjudged insane, one of them has been waiting for nearly a year to be taken to the Milledgeville hospital.

"There is apparently little hope that this condition—Georgia's outstanding disgrace—will soon be remedied by providing adequate facilities to give decent and humane care to the hundreds of mentally deranged now confined in dark jail cells. The governor has promised Troup county officials a thorough investigation of this situation. It is certain that even a cursory investigation will reveal Troup county's experience duplicated in every county in the state. But what, in God's name what, will be done about it?"

YOUNG HARRIS COLLEGE PURCHASES MORE LAND

YOUNG HARRIS, March 27.—The board of trustees of Young Harris College has purchased the Stone property consisting of 18 acres of land, a dwelling and an excellent orchard. This property lies adjacent to the college grounds, has one three-acre piece that is to be used for an athletic field. The college trustees have been negotiating for this piece of property for the past several years. It is very valuable for the college. It was purchased from Bonnell H. Stone, of Oxford, Ga. The purchase of this additional property is in line with the enlarged program that is being carried out by the trustees of the college.

Georgia Students at Mercer Swap Farm Products for Tuition

MACON, Ga., March 27.—(AP)—Hen eggs, hog meat, et cetera, fresh from the farm are paying the way of Mercer University students along the road to higher learning in these days of scarce cash.

Grady Colson, son of a physician residing at Glenwood, Ga., who farms on the side, swaps hams for tuition fees and such. Collections were bad with the doctor and the college said it would just as soon have his hams as his money.

Chester J. Johnson, of Adel, a ministerial student, is pastor of four rural churches. The farmers of his flock haven't much money to pay his salary but they are generous with their poultry, hams, potatoes and syrup.

The university needs all those things for its dining room, so Johnson is paying his way with produce.

D. W. Edwards, of Toccoa, another theological student, has a church wherein the women make a practice of giving him all eggs laid on Sundays. These edibles also find their way to the student dining room.

Carey Reese, a student-pastor, hasn't received any produce, but his congregation gave him enough corn to swap for a full year's tuition.

F. G. Clark, a graduate student from Moultrie, owns a farm and every week-end or so he goes home for a load of truck to pay expenses.

Miss Launa King, daughter of a farmer living near Sandersville, exchanges cotton for college expenses and Kermit Dekle, of Coolidge, pays with general produce.

Beatrice Petty, of Macon, foots the bills with pies she and her mother make in their spare time.

1 KILLED, 2 WOUNDED IN ILLINOIS COAL 'WAR'

Shooting Follows Effort to Call Strike in Franklin County.

WEST FRANKFORT, Ill., March 27.—(AP)—An unsuccessful attempt today by the Progressive Miners Union, which seeks to oust the United Mine Workers of America from Illinois, to call a strike of Franklin county mines, resulted in the death of one miner and the wounding of two others.

John Ward, 45, of West Frankfort, a progressive miner, was killed, and Elmer Cooper, 29, and Clarence Donaldson, 27, both United Mine Workers of Eldorado, were seriously wounded in a gun fight in front of the Stone undertaking parlors here this morning.

Sheriff's deputies said the gun fight resulted when Ward was ejected from a telegraph office here by Ray Edmundson, president of Subdistrict 9, United Mine Workers, and John Moulin, member of the state scale committee of the United Mine Workers of America, following an altercation.

JUNIOR ORATORS MEET AT GEORGIA TONIGHT

ATHENS, Ga., March 27.—The annual junior oration contest of the University of Georgia will be held Tuesday night in Demosthenian hall, with the following contestants: Julius B. Whelchel, Jefferson; Randolph Thigpen, Macon; Richard Paulson, Ames, Iowa; Claude U. Broach, Athens; Alex Gallo, Brooklyn, N. NANCY PAGE

Idaho Sends a Linoleum Quilt Block Pattern.

BY FLORENCE La GANKE.

"Want to know where this pattern idea come from? You'd never guess, so I'll have to tell you. It started from a piece of linoleum in the kitchen of Mrs. Ulsen, of Caldwell, Idaho. Her daughter studied the design, made certain changes and then worked out this pattern. Since she developed her block in orange and green and white she called it "Orange Peel." Nancy changed the name, for there is an old-time quilt called by that name. This is new and modern and may well be called "Linoleum."

The Nancy Page quilt club members decided they would go home to look at their linoleum to see what they could evolve.

As Nancy worked out the block she used a figured print, fast color of course, for the center square. Then she used another figure print for the lozenge or pointed end pieces. The other pieces were of plain white and the four rectangles were of orange.

As she told the club members any color scheme could be worked out, depending on the material on hand or on the color scheme wanted.

The members clipped the design from the paper, sent for the actual life-size pattern. To get this, they followed the directions given at the end of the column today.

As they studied this they saw that no seams were allowed, so when they cut their material they were careful to allow one-quarter inch on all sides for seams.

They sewed with number 60 white thread and were careful to have a firm knot at one end of seam and some over and over stitches at the other end. They started the seam in one-quarter inch from raw edges. This allowed them to press the seams open and flat.

This makes a good all-over pattern.

For a full-size bed make the quilt 90 inches wide. For a three-quarter size make it 78, and for a single bed make it 72 inches wide. The length in every case should be 98 or 108, depending on under or over placement with pillows.

The actual pattern for the Linoleum Quilt Design may be obtained by sending three cents and a self-addressed, stamped envelope to The Atlanta Constitution. Back patterns may be secured by sending an additional three cents for each pattern requested.

FLORIDA BROADCAST TO BOOST TAFT ROAD

ALBANY, Ga., March 27.—In order to bring the many attractions of the temporary route of the William Howard Taft Memorial highway through Georgia to the attention of thousands of Florida tourists who are now planning their return trip to the north, arrangements have been made with the St. Petersburg (Fla.) radio station WSUN for a special program, which will be broadcast Tuesday evening, March 28, at 10 o'clock, central standard time.

As Atlanta is located on this important highway, many citizens will have an especial interest in this program. In addition to interesting information which will be given on the Taft highway, Manager Carl Fritz, of station WSUN, has arranged an unusually attractive program on which will be featured "The New Yorkers," presenting Andre Pacenza, one of America's best known cellists, and Connie Simpson, lyric writer and contralto.

This radio program is a part of a campaign, inaugurated several months ago by the cities on the temporary route of the William Howard Taft Memorial highway through Georgia to bring this new and more picturesque route to the attention of tourists who will be interested in the numerous scenic attractions which it offers. Already the route has been able to attract hundreds of tourists who have been interested in seeing "The Little White House" at Warm Springs; Fort Benning at Columbus; Stone Mountain at Atlanta; Radium Springs at Albany; the beautiful farming section around Moultrie and Quitman, and a wealth of historic interest which awaits the tourist near Chattanooga.

:-: Folly Island :-:

By Wallace Irwin

SYNOPSIS.

Bart Burgess is marooned in a catboat on Peconic bay, 50 miles from his Long Island home in Wyattville. His companion, Ingalls Frederick Warren, spoiled child of a new made fortune, known as "Nosey Ingy," rows to town and sends Bart help and taxies home. A girl in a canoe invites Bart over to her family's island. Bart learns that she is one of the Bayleys, who have lived on the island 15 years but don't mix. The father travels. He invites the girl, Alice, to visit him in Wyattville. Less than a week later Trevor Burgess, Bart's father, died suddenly from a heart attack. Bart is left with the care of his invalid mother. The family lawyer gives Bart a letter left for him by his father, in which he confesses to being bigamist. The Bayleys of Folly Island are his second family. They know him as Matthew Bayley. He asks Bart, for his mother's sake, to guard the secret, and leaves a fortune to provide for the Bayleys. Bart calls on Mrs. Bayley, posing as a lawyer, and finds her a lovely woman, not the harridan he expected. He returns two weeks later with the legacy. Bart is happy to learn from her mother that Alice isn't Matthew Bayley's daughter. But to keep her from visiting his home and seeing his father's pictures is now a problem. He resolves to stay away from Folly Island. He sees a lot of Lora Sackett, a distant relative and recent divorcee, and soon finds himself unexpectedly engaged. The Bayleys visit New York, and Bart sees them. Ingy Warren has been visiting the island and has invited Alice to Wyattville. Bart tells Alice of his engagement. Hen Love, an eel catcher, long employed by the Bayleys, tries blackmail when he sees their newly acquired affluence. Ingy invites Alice and her mother to Wyattville for the annual flower show. NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

INSTALLMENT XXV.

"How do you do?" asked Mrs. Bayley, again nicely balaced to meet the emergency. Mrs. Farnham's gaze, sharp as a knife, dug into Alice, then she took her husband's arm and moved to another side of the room.

For Bart the luncheon was pandemonium. It was as though 20 mad people had met together to make a noise in a cave of echoes. Mrs. Warren had General Farnham on her right, and down at the other end of the table Colonel Warren was making his usual ebuillient fuss over Mrs. Bayley. Noise, noise, noise. Ingy, across the table, working all his bag of tricks on Alice. Bart sitting next to Lora, one fist clenched under the table, wanting to go beserk, to bust Ingy in the jaw, to turn the whole affair into a carnival of bloodshed. Lora, rattling in his ear like a badly aimed machine gun. . . . The Farnhams weren't so hot for the Bayleys. Did Bart notice that? And why? There was something funny about those Bayleys.

Bart answered mechanically, but his eyes were roving toward Alice and her mother. Alice's eyes were unrevealing aquamarines, focused on Ingy. Mrs. Bayley sat calmly talking to her host, showing no interest in anything but what he said to her and she replied.

That was the mad hatter's luncheon, as Bart remembered it. Talk, talk, talk, and something deadly, like an invisible vapor passing between Mrs. Farnham and Mrs. Bayley; they never looked at each other, but their poison permeated the room. The flower of Wyattville, gathered there, seemed to feel it, pretend it wasn't there. Some ancient feud, reopened between two women who by all outward evidence should not have known of one another's existence.

"Did Ingy do that?" Bart asked Lora suddenly.

"Do what?"

"Bring the Bayleys and the Farnhams together?"

"Shouldn't wonder. What's the tragedy, if he did?"

"There isn't any."

"Bart, you're so queer lately."

He caught a sorrow in her little face.

"Am I?"

But he couldn't keep his mind on Lora. He was watching Mrs. Farnham just as she arose with dignity, shook hands with Mrs. Warren and passed out of the room, the general puffing after her.

In the confusion of conflicting mysteries Bart plucked at one small idea, a thread in the great tangle. Lora fully realized that he was in love with Alice. You can't keep anything away from women. Yes, but there was one woman who had let herself be fooled for a lifetime. His mother, And it was his work today, more fiercely than ever before, to keep her fooled.

Luncheon over, the crowd breaking up, Alice and her mother went into the main hall in charge of Ingy and Aunt Augusta, watchful as a police escort. Then Colonel Warren had joined them with a set of his mechancial anecdotes. Bart, giving little or no heed to what Lora was saying, stood on the outskirts, determined now to warn Alice, harshly if needs be, away from his mother's house.

"Lamb pie," begged Lora, a little shrilly now, "won't you trot out to my car and gather up my handbag and my gloves and my special kind of cigarets?"

Bart went down the veranda and out into the parking space in search of Lora's car. Naturally it wasn't there. She never put anything where you'd expect to find it. At last he saw it, parked among the weeds across the road. In the tonneau was a purse and one glove, but no cigarets. He rummaged a while, gave it up and started back with what he had found . . .

Distantly, for Lora had parked her little blue roadster fully a block away from the clubhouse, Bart saw the Warrens' limousine drawing up to the veranda. People were filing down the steps, getting into the car; the Warrens, the Bayleys, Aunt Augusta. He almost ran to catch up with them, but the big limousine moved away.

"Where are they going?" he asked excitedly when he saw Lora on the porch.

"Somewhere to look at flowers," she said scornfully. "Tell you what let's do, presh. Come on over to my shanty and I'll show you a pile of Paris shopping guides that mother's collected. I mean, we've decided to go to Paris, haven't we?"

It was nearly 5 o'clock and Bart had thoroughly exhausted the Paris shopping guides. He had also gone over a chart of the Bremen and shown her that their new stateroom was better located than the one Lora had first insisted on. For those two hours he was dull, dutiful husband prospective, very methodical, and full of plans for an ideal honeymoon.

But at 5 o'clock the telephone rang. Lora, after going to answer it, came back and announced, "It's Little Eva—you know, Aunt Augusta. She's got some sort of a comedy party on for us."

Then he heard the spinister's large voice coming over the wire, "Bart, where did you go? I telephoned the club, after we left . . . What did you say? O I'm home now. Your mother's having the Bayleys in for tea. And Ingy—"

"What the devil—"

"Because Miss Bayley won the Burgess cup. And she wants to see those lovely Watchung Sunrises. Your mother wants to know if you won't come home and bring Lora."

Aunt Augusta couldn't make out his reply, and it was just as well, for he was swearing softly when he hung up.

"Bad news?" asked Lora hopefully.

"Yes," with a dull laugh. "Mother wants us to come to tea and talk flowers some more."

"Gosh, Bart. Don't let's go. Let's stay here and shake up a cocktail."

"I've got to go." Wild horses were pulling him away. The Bayleys in his mother's house! His father's picture in the drawing room! Ingy Warren, acting as guide, relishing every ill turn he was doing to a dead man's name!

"Let's step on it," he urged harshly and hurried her out to her little blue roadster. At least he might do something to keep them out of the drawing room where the full length portrait hung. Or maybe he could persuade his mother . . .

A quarter of a mile ahead of him he saw Ingy's car, racing as usual, turn in from a side road and go shooting up the hill.

Far ahead of him, Bart could see the gaudy sports model shuttling in between the gate posts and when he reached the house Ingy and his guest had gone inside. Almost frantic now, Bart sprang out. Once in the hall he breathed again. The drawing room was closed. Tea was in the back sitting room, old Ella said. Luck was playing into his hands. Now he could get the Bayleys away without their seeing the one thing that would be fatal to them all.

Guiltily worried, Bart peered along the hall, leading to the back sitting room. There used to be a small picture of his father there—the one in the Seventh regiment uniform—but mother had taken it down last week to have the frame mended. Yes, this was luck . . .

Vaguely following Lora into the white room, Bart knew that his forehead had become coldly damp; he had a far away impression of Aunt Augusta being unusually pompous as she introduced Trevor Burgess' two wives. And Alice was so much fairer than the sunburst of flowers she held in her arms while Mrs. Burgess praised, "O the precious darlings! Each one perfect! My dear child, how I wish I'd been there to give you the prize!"

They were seating themselves around the tea table, Bart slipping out chairs for them while a parlor maid arranged the Watchung Sunrises in a tall vase at Mrs. Burgess' elbow. It was cozy as cozy, this meeting of four kind people around a grave, which might open at a false move and swallow them all in. The other three, Ingy Warren, Lora Sackett, and Aunt Augusta, seemed to sit in a zone apart, themselves removed from danger as they watched their dangerous experiment.

What were the ladies talking about, Mrs. Bayley and Mrs. Burgess, with occasional heavy chimes from Aunt Augusta? O flowers, of course. Mrs. Burgess thought Mrs. Bayley very fortunate to have so many of this fine variety.

"I brought you some roots from Newport last year," said Aunt Augusta too pointedly to Mrs. Burgess.

"Yes, you did, dear," sighed mother. "But they wouldn't thrive here. Trevor had them taken out to make place for some other varieties."

Everybody was looking at the prize cluster in the tall vase. Now Bart saw the irony of it. The beauties that sickened in Wyattville flourished splendidly on Folly island. As though she heard his thoughts, mother was asking:

"Where did you get the plants, Mrs. Bayley?"

"My husband gave them to me," she said. "He used to bring a great many rare flowers for my garden . . . Then her simple statement tore at Bart's nerves. "I've been a widow since last spring."

"O." Nothing but sympathy in Mrs. Burgess' short exclamation and she seemed to be saying, you and I know what it is.

"Watchung Sunrises," boomed Aunt Augusta, "are very sensitive to climate and soil conditions."

"Where did you say you grew them, Mrs. Bayley?" asked mother.

"On Folly island."

As Ben was leaving Hammell, fortune smiled upon him, for he met, driving a shiny new wagon, Marvie and—

Ina. Marvie yelled and Ina waved. Ben pulled in his mount, wheeled, and went over to greet them.

This was what Ben wanted! "Dearest," he said, "I didn't intend this, but this is my day. Marry me—now—today—make it perfect."

Ina gasped! "Ben—would—it make you—very—happy?" She was pale now, with a pallor that made her eyes dark purple gulfs.

"If I consent, Ben, will you let me take you home to your father? His heart is breaking."

"Yes—yes, I will," burst out Ben, and it seemed to him that with those words rancor and bitterness passed out of his heart.

Y. W. C. A. Business Girls Hold Nationwide Banquet Tonight

This evening when Y. W. C. A. business girls all over the world observe simultaneously their annual nationwide banquet, over 250 business girls from the six Atlanta "Y" clubs will gather in the club dining room, 37 Auburn avenue, at 6 o'clock for a program and banquet. Dr. J. R. McCain, of Agnes Scott, will speak, and distinguished guests will include presidents of the leading business women's clubs in the city.

Messages of good will and friendship will be read from girls in Turkey, Estonia, Syria, Brazil, Germany and other foreign countries, picturing the international fellowship which the Y. W. C. A. stimulates. The 78,000 business girls assembled throughout the United States Tuesday evening will exchange greetings, hear messages from national leaders and sing the hymn, "These Things Shall Be."

Miss Mary Phelps, of the S. I. S. P. club, will read the invocation, written by Mrs. Harrie Chamberlain, president of the Y. W. C. A. of the United States, and Miss Ruth Danbury, of the Southern Bell "Y" club, will bring greetings from Mrs. Frederick Paist, president of the national board of the Y. W. C. A., and Miss Gladys Doherty, president national business and professional assembly. Greetings from "Our World Wide Family" by Miss Dorothy Davenport will depict the unity between business girls throughout the nation, while Miss Flora Hatcher, business girls' secretary, will identify the local fellowship by introducing presidents of the six clubs and asking them to describe the year's outstanding club achievement. The presidents are Miss Virginia Harrison, S. I. S. P. club; Mrs. George Halpin, Old Glory; Miss Vista Black, Clover; Miss Louise Walker, Business Girls' League; Miss Reggie Sue Daniel, Southern Bell; Miss Hazel Carter, S. O. S.

"Inner Resources for Outer Crises" will be Dr. McCain's subject. Music will be mandolin selections by the Southern Bell club, under the direction of William B. Griffiths, and vocal numbers by the Business Girls' League quartet.

Guests of honor will include Mrs. Julian Robinson, president of the Y. W. C. A.; Mrs. Charles Fuller, president Business and Professional Club; Mrs. Jean Carson, president Quota Club; Mrs. Nellie Nix Edwards, president women's division Chamber of Commerce; Miss Kate Bragossa, president Catholic Business Women's Club; Mrs. Sinclair Jacobs, of the Atlanta League of Women Voters; Mrs. Comer Woodward, chairman "Y" industrial committee, and Mrs. Frank J. Henry, chairman Girl Reserve committee, and the following who are members of the "Y" business girls' committee: Mesdames Woolsey Couch, Hines Roberts, Hinton Longino, Mary Kate Duskin, Lucille Kelly, Philip Sanders, Charles F. Hoke, Silverthorn, Misses Orgia Skinner, Sue Brown Sterne, Ethel Moore, Mildred Wells, Mary Phelps, Reggie Sue Daniel and Mamie Williams.

Miss Dorothy Davenport will preside as toastmistress and Miss Louise Walker and Miss Reggie Sue Daniel will serve as co-chairmen for banquet arrangements. Miss Mamie Williams is planning decorations; Miss Marcelia Street and Miss Lois Foster, menu. Miss Orgia Skinner was chairman of the invitation committee and Miss Peggy Launius will head the reception committee.

Miss Brumbelow Weds Mr. Cofer At Quiet Ceremony

Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Brumbelow announce the marriage of their daughter, Miss Mary Eleanor Brumbelow, to Hyatt Bonner Cofer, of this city, the wedding having been quietly solemnized Sunday, March 19.

Mrs. Cofer is the elder daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Brumbelow. She attended North Avenue Presbyterian and is a graduate of the Druid Hills High school. She completed her education in a private finishing school in Toledo, Ohio.

Mr. Cofer is the only son of Dr. and Mrs. Olin S. Cofer. After attending public school he was graduated from Riverside Academy and is now studying for the bachelor of arts degree at Mercer University.

The young couple will reside in Macon during the next year where Mr. Cofer is a senior at Mercer.

A Woman Views Men's Styles For Spring

BY YVONNE COLLETTE.

From head to foot, I have taken you. I have told you of the hats, the ties, and the shirts that are in vogue for the man of today. Now I shall advise with you, ma cherie, as to the kind of shoes to suggest with subtleness to your own Lord Chesterfield.

The best way I know is to tell you what is being shown by those who set the styles, and then let you use your own judgment. Item 1 is a brown willow calf oxford in scotch or semi-brouge model. Young Wall streeters favor this shoe because it is ideal for hard use.

Next a black wax calf oxford, with English custom last, blucher front, with perforated toe cap and foxing on the sides. Favored by smart New Yorkers.

Now we see a brown Norwegian calf (pebbled grain). Very popular in England, featuring leather laces. Another brown buckskin blucher front with a plain toe cap and varnished sole, which is being well received by Long Island society.

When I say brown, I mean brown, in all shades with rust, a new color being in the lead. At last in the spring of 1933, the brown shades in men's footwear, will redeem the male from the tyranny of black footwear.

On Thursday, we shall take a peek at some of the newest styles in men's clothes. Will you be with me? I hope you will.

Atlanta Artists Give Piano Recital.

Francis Mitchell and Mike McDowell, outstanding young Georgia artists, gave a joint piano recital in Hugh Hodgson's studio in the Erlanger Theater building Saturday evening.

The program featured two-piano numbers and a group of solos by each pianist. Of the two-piano performances, perhaps the most impressive from point of ensemble and interpretation were the Arensky "Romance" and "Waltz." Chabrier's "Espana" won praise for its sparkling vivacity.

From Mr. Mitchell's well-chosen solo group, the two ranking highest in pianistic excellency were Chopin's "Fantasie-Impromptu" and the dazzling "Tarantelle" by Leschetizky. His tone in Olsen's "Serenade" possessed a lovely quality, and Schytte's "Over the Steppes" won loud applause.

From Mr. McDowell's interesting group of solos special citation is due the Bach "Chorale," abounding in pure tone; Ravel's "The Fountain," sparkling and crystalline clear; and the technically and musically brilliant Dohnanyi "Caprice."

The program closed with a spirited two-piano performance of Rachmaninoff's "Prelude in G Minor."

MOZELLE HORTON.

W. B. A. Meeting.

Jenifer Review No. 7, Woman's Benefit Association, meets this evening at 8 o'clock in the W. B. A. clubrooms, 70 Houston street.

Mrs. Flora Pinson, chairman of W. B. A. Pioneer Club, which organization is sponsoring the tray cloths, napkins and bibs, for the children's ward of Grady hospital, requests all who can to bring them to the meeting; also bed jackets and covers for heads of beds. The committee to serve on the children's ward is requested to attend Friday from 10 to 12 o'clock. Mrs. Jenifer Brown announces the plate for W. B. A. No. 7 bed will be ready by Tuesday.

Birthday Party.

Mrs. Jack Batt was hostess Friday at a party at her home on Clifton road, honoring her little daughter, Kay Carole Batt, on her first birthday. Present were Jo Beth Gerard, Billy Rogers, Jean Therrel, Ducky Bagley, Don Rosborg, Lyman Murphy Jr., Clinton Ferris Jr., and Kay Batt.

Bessie Tift Observes 86th Anniversary.

FORSYTH, Ga., March 27.—Bessie Tift College celebrated the eighty-sixth year of its founding Saturday, March 25, in a varied program of events. The guests included a hundred visitors and alumnae. Studio Players presented Oscar Wilde's three-act comedy, "The Importance of Being Earnest," Friday in the auditorium. Tennis matches, varsity-freshman baseball game, informal reception in Upshaw parlors, vesper services and the presentation of the "Fantasia," the Glee Club's annual performance, were features of the celebration.

Miss Ida Askew, Chipley, has been elected president of the freshman class for the spring quarter.

Dr. and Mrs. Charles M. Pegues entertained La Tertulia Monday evening at their apartment. Miss Dorothy Perkins, Columbus, was initiated into the club after making the required grade in Spanish for the winter quarter. Present were Grace and Louise Bunch, Lincolnton; Frances Bennett, Tampa, Fla.; Billie Day, Ludowici; Leila Davis, Columbus; Marion Gates, Asbury Park, N. J.; Elizabeth Harvey, Forsyth; Grace Harper, Americus; Louise Heath, Tifton; Phoebe Henderson, Columbus; Emolyn Lowery, Soperton; Amabel Lansdell, Hephzibah; Stella Will Palmer, Alley; Marjorie Page, Dublin; Mildred Plair, Moultrie; Lou Ella Phillips, Camilla; Lula Rives, Sparta; Elizabeth Whitehurst, Jefferson; Frances Whitworth, Atlanta.

Miss Marthalyn Lynch, Griffin, was in charge of the program at the meeting of the French Club Friday.

Speaks on Old Russia Today

Mrs. Hal Davison and her two attractive young sons, Peter and Alexis. Mrs. Davison, who is a native of Russia, will speak this afternoon to members of the arts and interests committee of the Junior League on the subject, "Glimpses of Old Russia," at the Piedmont Driving Club. Since arriving in Atlanta as the bride of Dr. Davison several years ago, this attractive matron has become prominently identified with this city's social and cultural circles and is listed among society's most delightful personalities. JUNIOR LEAGUE JOTTINGS

by MRS. HENRY W. GRADY JR.

Mrs. Norman Cooledge.

On Wednesday of this week several Junior League girls will act as models in a fashion show to be staged at Davison-Paxon's. This revue will be one of a series of pre-Easter showings, to take place on three successive Wednesday mornings from 11 to 3 o'clock in Davison's ready-to-wear department on the third floor. Mrs. Norman Cooledge, our recording secretary, is Junior League chairman for the event, and the models tomorrow will be Misses Josephine Crawford, Mary Meador Goldsmith, Frances Boykin, and Mesdames Green Warren, Hugh Carter and Emily Robinson Head. These fashion shows should be of interest and the public is urged to attend.

This afternoon at 3 o'clock Mrs. Hal Davison will speak at the Piedmont Driving Club under the auspices of the Junior League arts and interests committee. The public is most cordially invited to hear Mrs. Davison, who is a Russian by birth but an American by her marriage to Dr. Davison, a prominent Atlanta physician. In her talk today she has chosen as her subject "Glimpses of Old Russia," describing her life there under the reign of the czar and the conditions prevailing generally prior to the revolution. We have all heard and read so much about soviet Russia lately that it should be a delightful treat to hear Mrs. Davison, whose talk will furnish a means by which we may compare these two extreme periods in Russian history.

Tickets to the lecture are 25 cents and may be purchased at the door.

Mrs. Murdock Equen, chairman of the Junior League Marionnettes, announces that her committee will present the three Uncle Remus plays Saturday morning at the Rialto theatre at 9:30 o'clock under the auspices of the Girl Scouts of Atlanta. The plays will be a feature of a rally planned in honor of Mrs. Frederick Edey, national president of the Girl Scouts, who is in Atlanta this week. During the intermission songs will be sung and a talk on scouting will be given by Mrs. Edey.

At the last meeting of the Junior League two transfers from other leagues were welcomed to Atlanta, Mrs. Phelps McKenny, of Miami, Fla., and Mrs. Albert Woods, of Evanston, Ill. We are so glad to have these new members, who will undoubtedly prove valuable additions to our ranks.

The second in a series of Junior League classes on citizenship, under the direction of Mrs. Harold Cooledge, our legislation chairman, will convene tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Claude McGinnis Jr., 1341 Ponce de Leon avenue. Those who enrolled last week were informed on the proper method of registering and voting, and although this topic does not sound very exciting, such was the interest of the audience that many lingered long after the talk by Mrs. Leonard Haas was completed, asking her questions and discussing civic problems. Junior Leaguers cannot be urged too strongly to attend these classes, for the subjects on the program are of vital concern to us as individuals and as a group.

Mrs. Perrin Nicolson Jr., one of our most valued members, is working this year with the unemployment relief organization. She is in charge of an entire district in Atlanta and is responsible for several hundred persons who must be fed, clothed, sheltered and doctored. Mrs. Nicolson has asked the Junior League for clothing from time to time and has met with a very generous response, between 90 and 100 articles being donated following each request. Now, however, more garments as well as other items are needed, and anybody who has one or several of the following is asked to notify Mrs. Harry Cannon, HEmlock 3240, who will call by for them. Shoes for boys 10 and 12 years old, shoes for women, sizes 4 1-2 and 5; an oil stove, shoes for a mother, size 7, and her child, size 3 1-2; clothes for a little girl who will graduate this year from junior high, wears size 14; shoes and sweaters for three children, two girls 3 and 7 years old, and a boy 5; a mattress for a double bed.

We have also had a request from another source for clothes for high school girls. Those having anything of this kind are asked to call Miss Margaret Nelson, Hemlock 1866.

On April 4 the Atlanta Junior League, in connection with the children's department of the Carnegie library, will be heard over station WSB beginning next Tuesday from 5:05 to 5:15 p. m. and continuing on consecutive Tuesdays at the same hour. This is an entirely new venture for the Junior League and the purpose is to interest children in reading books that may be found at the library. Last Saturday several of our members had their voices tested and Mesdames Rhodes Haverty, Edwin Peeples, Rutherford Ellis and Robert Whatley will be heard during April, while others have been chosen to broadcast during May. Under the direction of Miss Frances Cox, of the library, one of the four mentioned will be heard each Tuesday afternoon reading a synopsis or telling a story in dialog, and everyone is asked to listen in when the Junior League makes its debut on the air.

The American literature class for league members being conducted by Frank R. Reade, professor of English at Georgia Tech, has met twice thus far and the third session will occur next Monday at 2:30 p. m. at the Piedmont Driving Club.

Birthday Party.

Mrs. G. E. Lewis will entertain at a children's party Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock at her home at East Lake in celebration of the third birthday anniversary of her little daughter, Virginia. Miss Martha Shealy and Miss Katherine Graves will assist the hostess in entertaining.

Auxiliary Meets.

The Ladies' Auxiliary to the Stereotypers' Union met with Mrs. E. Steinhauser on Wesley avenue, Friday. Luncheon was served and an Easter egg hunt was held. The prizes were won by Mrs. E. Grogan and Mrs. May.

Members present were Madames W. I. Callaway, F. Jones, J. Kloeckler, J. Akridge, M. Duncan, L. Armistead, E. Grogan, G. Shaw, E. Riley, H. Marks, L. Doyal, C. Duncan, E. Steinhauser, Mrs. A. B. Beavers and Mrs. C. D.

Miss Lewis Weds John T. McKenzie In Montezuma, Ga.

MONTEZUMA, Ga., March 27.—Miss Margaret Louise Lewis became the bride of John Thomas McKenzie Saturday afternoon in the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Charles E. Baldwin, here. Dr. J. A. Thomas, pastor of the Montezuma Methodist church, read the marriage service.

The bride wore a Hattie Carnegie model of parella beige with a cape edged in beige fox. Her accessories were of dark brown, and her only ornament was an antique pearl necklace, a gift from her mother.

Mrs. McKenzie is the daughter of Mrs. Baldwin and the late William Minor Lewis. Her paternal grandfather was John F. Lewis, banker and capitalist. Her mother was formerly Miss Christine Patrick, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. S. Patrick. She is a niece of John F. Lewis, of Valdosta, and of the late Congressman E. B. Lewis.

Mrs. McKenzie was educated at Washington Seminary, where she was a member of the Pi Pi sorority; at Brenau, where she was a member of the Phi Mu sorority, and at Deverell French school in New York. She has lived in New York almost entirely for the past two years, and spent much time traveling and studying.

The bridegroom is the fourth John McKenzie of his family, and is the second son of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar McKenzie. He is a graduate of Emory Academy at Oxford, Ga., and of the University of Georgia. At the University of Georgia he was a member of the Phi Delta Theta fraternity and of the Thalian Dramatic Club. On his paternal side he is a grandson of the late J. W. McKenzie and on his maternal side he is a grandson of Major James D. Frederick, of the Confederate army, and of General Jacob Rumph, of the revolutionary forces.

Mr. McKenzie has engaged in extensive farming and peach growing, being associated with his father in a number of enterprises. He is a vice president of the Montezuma Kiwanis Club. His brothers are F. O. McKenzie, an attorney, of New York, and W. B. McKenzie, a student in the University of Georgia.

Mr. and Mrs. McKenzie left for a motor trip to Miami, Fla., and upon their return will make their home here.

Dr. Oglesby Addresses Better Films Group.

The Atlanta Better Films Committee met in Rich's tearoom Thursday and luncheon was served. President J. W. Setze Jr. was in charge of the meeting.

Reports for the month showed the committee in excellent condition. Mrs. T. Clifton Perkins reported 39 pictures reviewed during February. A group of girls representing two classes from Commercial High school, was present. As part of the Junior Better Films Committee, these girls have done fine reviews of many current pictures. They are being trained by the National Council of English Teachers. Each girl, in preparation for the work, has read two books on moving pictures.

Mrs. Fred Burrus introduced the speaker, Dr. Stuart Oglesby, of Central Presbyterian church. Dr. Oglesby made an interesting address on "Making Common Things Beautiful."

The following new members were received: Mrs. N. E. Strain, Mrs. C. S. Knight, Mrs. Arthur Hale, Mrs. Logan Bleckley Jr., T. O. Bolden and Mrs. J. B. F. Herreshoff.

Takes Black-Draught When "Out of Sorts" Due to Constipation

"All I can say about Thedford's Black-Draught is good," writes Mrs. C. T. Dill, of Hickory, Ky. "I take it for biliousness and constipation. When I get bilious, I feel dizzy; I have a bad taste in my mouth; I just feel all out of sorts, and my work seems hard. I take a few doses of Black-Draught and get relief from constipation. My whole feeling changes. My food tastes good, and I am all right."

Children Like the New Pleasant Tasting SYRUP OF BLACK-DRAUGHT

Miss Palmer Atkinson To Wed Mr. Hughes, of Montclair, N. J.

MONTCLAIR, N. J., March 27.—Formal announcement will be made today by Mr. and Mrs. Ulric Sidney Atkinson, formerly of Atlanta, of the engagement of their daughter, Miss Palmer Atkinson, to William Stanley Hughes, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ruppert Stanley Hughes, also of Montclair. The announcement will be made at the luncheon to be given by Miss Atkinson for her Georgia cousins, Misses Palmer and Epsie Dallis, of Atlanta, and Miss Ann Phelan Wright, of Rome, who are her guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Atkinson moved to Upper Montclair several years ago from Atlanta with their daughter and their son, Sidney Phelan Clark. The bride-elect is unusually beautiful and is a favorite in Montclair's most exclusive social circles. She is a member of the Montclair Junior League, in which she takes an active part. She is a graduate of Rosemary Hall in Greenwich, Conn., and of Mount Vernon Seminary in Washington. Her education was completed in Europe, where she traveled extensively and studied at the Sorbonne in Paris.

Miss Atkinson is a representative of aristocratic southern families, her mother having been before her marriage Miss Palmer Phelan, a belle and beauty of a generation ago. Her maternal aunts are Mrs. J. W. Goldsmith Jr., Mrs. E. E. Dallis and Mrs. Barry Wright, of Rome, and Lehman Phelan, of Atlanta, is her uncle. On her paternal side Miss Atkinson is a niece of George Atkinson, of Providence, R. I., and Henry Washington Atkinson, of Baltimore Md. Her father, Ulric S. Atkinson, served as president of the Capital City Club and was a member of the board of directors for many years. Her grandparents were the late M. and Mrs. Robert Holt Atkinson, prominent and beloved pioneer residents of Atlanta.

Mr. Hughes is also socially prominent in eastern circles, his parents being numbered among the most influential in New Jersey. The bridegroom-to-be graduated from the Mercersburg Academy and spent his college days at Dartmouth, where he was a member of the Delta Kappa Epsilon fraternity and of the Dragon Senior Society. The date of Miss Atkinson's marriage to Mr. Hughes will be announced later.

Personal Intelligence

Mr. and Mrs C. F. Palmer have returned from a 10 days' stay in New Orleans.

How Do Nurses Manage?

The strenuous duties of the trained nurse permit little thought of her own physical condition or feelings. There can be no giving-in to menstrual pains! That is the reason why so many nurses use Midol. They know it blocks all possibility of such pain for hours—and nurses know that it is not a narcotic and so is quite safe to take at this critical time.

Midol is not merely a measure of relief—it lets women menstruate in absolute comfort. All pain subsides in seven minutes! All dread of your monthly sickness ends with this happy discovery. Any drug store. Ask simply for Midol.

Annual Purim Ball Takes Place Tonight

Forty-third annual Purim ball will be held this evening in the ballroom of the Shrine mosque and will be opened with a brilliant grand march. The proceeds of the ball will go for the maintenance of the free scholarships of the United Hebrew school, which is under personal supervision and religious guidance of Rabbi Harry H. Epstein, of the Ahavath Achim congregation.

A feature of the Purim ball will be the "Esther-Hamalkah" beauty contest, during which the most beautiful Jewish girl will be crowned "Queen Esther," while two other contestants, next in point of beauty, will serve as attendants to the queen. All three will receive valuable prizes donated by leading Atlanta firms.

Harry H. Alexander is president of the United Hebrew school. The officers of the Purim ball committee are Harry M. Wengrow, chairman; Ralph L. Willner, vice chairman; Mrs. Isadore Jacobs, second vice chairman; Oscar Gershon, chairman of the program committee; Mrs. E. Cuba, chairman refreshment committee, with Mrs. H. Mendel as co-chairman; David Gershon, secretary; Joseph Goldberg, chairman of the ticket committee; S. Goldstein, co-chairman; and Joseph A. Loewinsohn, director of publicity, and the following members of the committee: Mesdams Herbert Taylor, Bert Travis, Harry E. Epstein, Oscar Gershon, Sam Goldberg, I. J. Paradies, J. H. Rodbell, Fannie Segal-Goldstein and Gladys Shuman.

DASHING SCHOOL GIRL DRESS.

It's very simple—as it should be for youth.

It carries a sportsy air in its buttoned closing from neck to waistline. Its caped sleeves are another smart feature.

Still another asset is that it is easily fashioned.

For it, linen in sailor-blue is exceedingly attractive with white trim and buttons, carrying out the nautical idea, now so popular.

Angora weave woolen in a yellow and brown checked pattern is another smart scheme with yellow trim.

Style No. 597 is designed in sizes 8, 10, 12 and 14 years.

Size 8 requires 2 1-2 yards 35-inch, with 1 1-4 yards 3-4 inch braid.

For warmer weather wear, you can omit the long sleeves as seen in the miniature view.

The new Fashion Magazine is ready! It is 48 pages! In addition to new pattern styles for women and children, the book contains valuable beauty articles, some of which are illustrated by Norma Shearer and other Hollywood stars. It is a book every reader should have and its price will be saved many times for the patterns are nominally priced and very economical in material requirements.

Price of book, 15 cents.

Price of pattern, 15 cents in stamps or coin (coin is preferred). Wrap coin carefully.

Mr. and Mrs. Candler Hosts at Party.

The annual Atlanta reunion of the Dixie camps was a brilliant social event taking place Sunday at the lovely home of Mr. and Mrs. Asa Candler Jr., Briarcliff Manor, on Briarcliff road. Mr. and Mrs. Candler, Miss Martha Candler and Dr. and Mrs. Jesse York were the charming hosts, being assisted in receiving by Miss Elise Stokes, director of Camp Dixie for Girls, and A. A. Jameson, director of Camp Dixie for Boys, and owner of both camps.

The home was attractively decorated in spring flowers, and the dining room, where refreshments were served, was a model of formal beauty, with its handsomely appointed table covered with a real lace cloth and elaborate silver candelabra on either side of a gorgeous floral array forming the centerpiece.

Moving pictures of the camps and the summer activities were shown in the ballroom, and Dr. Charles Sheldon Jr., well-known organist, rendered selections on the organ.

Mrs. Tom Brooke Re-elected President of Camp Fire Girls' Board

Board of directors of Camp Fire Girls unanimously re-elected Mrs. Tom Brooke as their president for the coming year, expressing appreciation of her five-year splendid work as president of the board. Mrs. Brooke is a member of the national board of Camp Fire Girls and is chairman of the southeastern district. She is one of the 14 people who have ever been awarded the National Wohelo honor, recognition of unusual service to Camp Fire, and the Atlanta board is justly proud in having her for their leader. Other officers elected were: Mrs. J. C. Malone, first vice president; Dr. Harvey W. Cox, second vice president; L. A. Phillips, treasurer, and Mrs. J. Howell Green, corresponding secretary.

Dr. Cox will continue as chairman of the finance committee, with W. J. Sayward and H. H. Trotti as members of the committee. Mr. Trotti, as chairman of the camp committee, announces that registrations for Camp Toccoa are open at Camp Fire Girls' headquarters on the fifth floor at Davison-Paxon Company. Tuition has been lowered so that it will only be $7.50 per week, with a registration fee of $1, and provision has been made for lower transportation expense. Camp Toccoa is the regional Camp Fire Girls camp located in the mountains of north Georgia, at Toccoa, 108 miles from Atlanta. Camp Toccoa will be opened to girls in the southeast in order that no girl may be denied the joy of camping. Mrs. Laura V. Lombard will serve as camp director with a staff of one adult to every five girls.

CULBERTSON ON CONTRACT

World's Champion Player and Greatest Card Analyst.

Light Penalty Doubles.

Mr. Michael T. Gottlieb, a member of Crockford's team-of-four and coholder, with Mr. Theodore A. Lightner, of the National Masters' Pair title, is known everywhere as the player of an extremely brilliant game. His one weakness is that he has a tendency to double his opponents for penalties with very little and sometimes no provocation whatever, as, for instance, on the hand below:

North, Dealer.

The bidding: (Figure after bid in table refers to numbered explanatory paragraph.)

1—This Double is certainly quite optimistic, but Mr. Gottlieb was playing with his favorite partner and he felt that they could probably get nowhere and that South had overbid.

The hand, as will be noted, was a laydown for three-odd, which South made.

It was in one of the early rounds of the team-of-four match at the Eastern Tournament that the hand was played. After the match was over, Mr. Oswald Jacoby, who had held the South hand against the other part of the opposing team, strolled over to check results.

"We lost one board through a bad Double," Mr. Gottlieb explained.

"Oh, no, you didn't," Mr. Jacoby returned. "They doubled me at two, and I made three. The only way we could have lost that board was if the South player here had redoubled."

It will be noted that if East guesses every card correctly, he can make four spades, but then why should one worry about that when he can win a match by doubling an opponent at a less-than-game contract and permit him to make it as well?

TOMORROW'S HAND.

The contract on this hand is six spades, played by South. What is the best line of play for the Declarer to make his contract, assuming that the Opening lead is the heart 6?

South, Dealer.

Four Atlantans Win Team Championship

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., March 27.—An Atlanta team, composed of Mrs. Humphrey Wagar, Fred Levy, John Hardisty and Whitner Cary, tonight won the Florida state team-of-four championship, with a total of 35 points. Second place went to a Jacksonville team, comprising Mrs. Ellen Hicks, Mrs. F. J. Never, James Uhl and F. D. Newlin, with 32 points, and third place to an Atlanta-Augusta team, composed of Miss Anne Barrett and Billy Barrett, of Augusta, and Harold Dillon and Fred Shaefer, of Atlanta, with 31 points. The winners took 35 of 50 boards, or 70 per cent.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., March 27. The Atlanta bridge expeditionary force, consisting of many of the leading players from the Gate City, converged on this city yesterday and last night and by 5 o'clock this morning the last detachment had arrived and the concentration was declared complete.

As these lines are typed the storm troops are eating their respective breakfasts in preparation for the grand assault which takes place at 2 o'clock this afternoon in the ballroom of this hotel. The first objective will be the Florida state team-of-four, which will be played in two sessions, 2 o'clock this afternoon and 8 o'clock this evening. The handsome Alfred du Pont trophy goes to the winning team in this event. At this writing a dozen teams have entered and the prospects appear bright that 14 will face the firing line.

All the Atlanta players, although converging on different routes, arrived in good condition. The first on the scene was Hudson Edwards, who arrived early yesterday. Then came Harold Dillon and Fred Shaefer in the former's high-powered car. They made a record run from Atlanta. A few hours later Mrs. Humphrey Wagar, Mrs. Aline Phelan, Fred Levy and the writer hit town. The early morning brought Billy Barrett and his wife, Miss Anne Barrett and Bill Dickey. John Hardisty blew in from Miami just after candlelight and in the gray, cold morning, at that hour when men are on their way to the gallows and milkmen are delivering their first load, came the Atlanta Bridge Club crowd of Mrs. Gladys Peabody, Peggy Porter, Ed Nix, John Tyner, Bob Ames and Sam Maddox. Mrs. Ed Nix and Ed Jarvis complete the list.

The Atlanta players attack in the following formation: Mrs. Gladys Peabody, John Tyner, Ed Nix and Bob Ames, from the Atlanta Bridge Club; Mrs. Humphrey Wagar, Fred Levy, John Hardisty and Whitner Cary, and Miss Anne Barrett, Billy Barrett, Fred Shaefer, Harold Dillon and Bill Dickey, from the Cavendish.

The tournament is being conducted by Mrs. Christine Smith, with the able assistance of Captain E. T. Barco. Besides the Atlanta teams, outfits will be on hand from Gainesville, and Orlando. The pair events and the southeastern team-of-four loom as record-breaking affairs in the matter of entries.

This is the first time either the Florida state or southeastern has been held in Jacksonville. This hotel and the management of the tournament, with the hearty help of the Junior League under whose auspices the American Bridge League is holding the tournaments, are doing everything possible to make this initial venture a huge success. From the present outlook this seems assured.

SOCIETY EVENTS

TUESDAY, MARCH 28.

Arts and interest committee of the Junior League will present Mrs. Hal Davison this afternoon at 3 o'clock at the Piedmont Driving Club in a talk on "Glimpses of Old Russia."

Miss Katherine Park will entertain at Brookhaven Club, honoring Mrs. Frederick Edey, national Girl Scout president, who will be honor guest at the luncheon at which Civitan Club members will be hosts, and Mrs. Edey will also be complimented at the dinner at which Mrs. Lee Ashcraft will entertain this evening at her home on Ponce de Leon avenue.

Martha Chapter No. 128, O. E. S., will celebrate its 17th birthday anniversary this evening in the Battle Hill Masonic hall, Lucile avenue and Gordon street, at 7:30 o'clock. The chapter will be open to the public at 8:30 o'clock for a Georgia bi-centennial program.

Miss Martin Heads Rhododendron Club

Miss Dorothy Martin was re-elected president of the Rhododendron Club at the recent meeting held at the home of Mrs. O. H. Williams, at 353 Candler street, with Mrs. Williams, Mrs. S. R. Ward and Miss Mary Randolph Kent hostesses. Other officers re-elected were Miss Mary Randolph Kent, vice president; Mesdames J. C. Brown, second vice president; Edmund Magers, secretary; E. R. Partridge, treasurer; O. H. Williams, auditor, and Horace Harrison, historian.

Papers were read on government, music, literature and flora of the United States dependencies, the Philippines, Hawaii and Alaska. Dr. Elizabeth Broach spoke on "Health Conditions in America." Guests present were Mesdames E. C. Andrews, A. S. Ragsdale, J. W. Bridwell, J. C. Brown, A. B. Dean, H. J. Harrison, W. B. Johnson, J. O. Martin, B. K. Laney, Lee Martin, Edmund Magers, E. R. Partridge, A. H. Summers, Alice Moore, D. W. Thornton, S. R. Ward, O. H. Williams, Misses Annie Mae Broach, Suella Deyerle, Mary Randolph Kent, Dorothy Martin, Lucille Moore and Dr. Elizabeth Broach.

Chicken Supper.

The Ladies of the Guild of St. John's church, College Park, will serve a supper of smothered chicken, vegetables, salad, ice cream and cake at 6 o'clock Friday, March 31.

The auxiliary, with the help of the young peple, will give a dramatized cantata, "Eastertide," in the parish house of St. John's Wednesday evening during Holy Week. The cantata will portray a vivid picture of the Easter story.

Miss Shepperson Declares Conference On Social Work Is Most Important

Miss Gay B. Shepperson, the president, announces that the Georgia conference on social work holds its annual meeting in Augusta, Ga., on April 24, 25 and 26. "This year," said Miss Shepperson, "the conference is of particular importance, for with the pressing needs for relief, problems are multiplying for the social worker as well as the layman. The co-ordination between the layman and the social worker is so helpful that, as last year, we are hoping to establish a small institute for the volunteer worker a few days previous to the conference. Last year, you may remember, the Atlanta Junior League sponsored the institute which was presided over by Miss Claire Tousley, of New York. The effects of that meeting have been far-reaching, creating a new interest, not only among Junior League members but also among citizens of Atlanta who are interested in humanitarian projects."

Increasing Problems.

Miss Shepperson was asked if the plans for this year differed any from those of previous years in view of the increasing problems of taking care of the unfortunate and underprivileged.

"For the first time," answered Miss Shepperson, "we are co-ordinating the various branches of relief in our program. Heretofore we have brought together social workers interested in similar problems, we have given an opportunity for those interested in social welfare to confer in regard to methods, administration and results accomplished. This year we shall stress these objects no less, but will further these ideals by including the work of health experts, vocational guidance experts and education experts. Most of all we shall emphasize education, truly it is the root of all evil. In these difficult times lack of education on the part of the ignorant man has interfered with his power to recreate his life along different lines of endeavor, or substitute a different mode of livelihood from that to which he has been accustomed. It has interfered with his knowledge of health protection and has increased his immorality. Lack of knowledge of the problems of the uneducated has limited the help of those of us more fortunate, so our endeavor will be to discuss methods of educating and helping the mass of people crushed in the economic millstones of today and showing the layman some of these problems and enlisting his further sympathy and aid.

"As the housewife discusses her cleaning and cooking concerns over the fence with her next-door neighbors; the farmwife exchanges cuttings and canning receipts with the wife of the visiting farmer; the men in the fields and barns in their turn are discussing husbandry; the businessman meets at luncheon clubs and Chambers of Commerce and particular groups dealing with immediate concerns of the day for the interchange of ideas, and so it goes, we are not living in isolation, we are dependent one upon another for our living, for our ideas, for our education. No group of people today is so beset with the solution of working out the future of the vast army of unemployed as is that studious, earnest body of social workers."

Conference committee on relief standards is composed of Miss Louisa B. FitzSimons, chairman, regional field secretary Family Welfare Association of America; Miss Rhoda Kaufman, executive secretary Family Welfare Society, Atlanta; Miss Nelle Franklin, executive secretary Family Welfare Society, Columbus; Miss Margaret Fetner, executive secretary Atlanta chapter, American Red Cross; Miss Mary Raymond, executive secretary Society for Organized Service, Macon; Miss Eloise Cleveland, executive secretary Family Welfare Society, Savannah; Miss Elizabeth Brown, executive secretary Dougherty County Welfare Society, Albany; J. B. Crouch, excutive secretary Family Welfare Society, Augusta; Miss Wilma Van Dusseldorp, field worker state department of public welfare; Miss Ruth Sheafe, direction of admissions, Grady hospital, Atlanta; Miss Epsie Campbell, state supervisor of home economics, Athens; vocational education division, state department of education; Dr. R. C. Swint, superintendent state hospital, Milledgeville; Dr. Mercer Evans, professor economics, Emory University; Dr. W. F. Haygood, superintendent state sanitarium for tuberculosis, Alto; Mrs. Mabel Curry, special relief commission, Atlanta; Miss Viola Burks, executive secretary LaGrange Welfare Association, LaGrange; Frank Miller, executive director Atlanta Community Chest; Mrs. Walter DuPre, director of work relief, Atlanta; Professor H. A. Hunt, superintendent Fort Valley High and Industrial school.

Mr. Austin Honored On 60th Birthday.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Austin entertained Monday evening at their home on Austin road, honoring their father, W. T. Austin, in celebration of his sixtieth birthday. The color motif of pink and white was carried out in the decorations. The table was covered with a lace cloth veiling pink satin and centered with a three-tiered birthday cake holding 60 pink candles and encircled by pink rosebuds and ferns. Miss Irene Austin poured coffee. Rev. George McLarty Jr. gave the devotional and read selections from the Bible.

The guests included Mr. and Mrs. Lem Robinson, Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Robinson, Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Austin, Rev. and Mrs. B. L. Bond, Mrs. Fannie Austin, Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Austin, Miss Minnie Austin, Rev. and Mrs. George McLarty Jr., Miss Irene Austin, Walter Thomas Austin, Mrs. Valeria Ozmer, Mr. and Mrs. L. G. Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Austin, John Austin and L. T. Y. Nash.

Ladies' Auxiliary.

Ladies' Auxiliary, Greater Atlanta Post No. 390, V. F. W., will meet at the Piedmont hotel Wednesday evening, March 29, at 7:30 o'clock.

NO MORE HARD-WORK WASHDAYS FOR HER! — by D'ALTON VALENTINE

LOOK, ROSALIND—I GOT A LETTER FROM MY FRIEND, THELMA. SHE ENCLOSED THIS CLIPPING. I WONDER WHY?
IT'S A RINSO ADVERTISEMENT. I GUESS THAT'S HER WAY OF SAYING YOU OUGHT TO CHANGE YOUR WASHDAY HABITS
WELL, WHY DIDN'T SHE SAY SOMETHING ABOUT IT WHEN SHE WAS HERE LAST MONDAY?
MAYBE SHE THOUGHT YOUR FEELINGS WOULD BE HURT IF SHE CALLED YOU OLD-FASHIONED. NO UP-TO-DATE WOMAN SCRUBS AND BOILS HER CLOTHES WHEN RINSO SOAKS THEM SNOWY WHITE SO EASILY
TRY RINSO NEXT MONDAY AND SEE WHAT I MEAN. SEE HOW RINSO WASHES EVEN COLORED CLOTHES AS BRIGHT AS NEW WELL, IF IT SAVES BACK-BREAKING WORK, I'M ALL FOR RINSO
NEXT WASHDAY
—AND ROSALIND, IT'S SO ECONOMICAL—I DID THE BIGGEST, WHITEST WASH WITH ONLY A LITTLE RINSO. FOR DISHWASHING, TOO, IT'S SO EASY ON THE HANDS
Rinso
D'ALTON VALENTINE

"One big box seems to last and last," says Mrs. R. D. Watts of Pontiac, Mich.

"Rinso is the most economical soap I've ever used. One big box seems to last and last! For example, with one box I did my dishes once a day for a week, scrubbed the floors twice, cleaned the sinks and tubs seven times, and laundered:

1 bedspread
2 bureau scarfs
6 face cloths
7 napkins
7 pillow cases
6 sheets
2 table-cloths
7 towels
6 dish towels
34 handkerchiefs
9 pairs children's stockings
4 pieces children's underwear
4 house-dresses
3 nightgowns
2 aprons
6 pairs socks
2 nightclothes
4 shirts

A little Rinso gives a lot of thick suds that soak out dirt. That saves the clothes—saves your hands, too. Rinso is great in washing machines. Wonderful for dishes —and all cleaning. Get the BIG box.

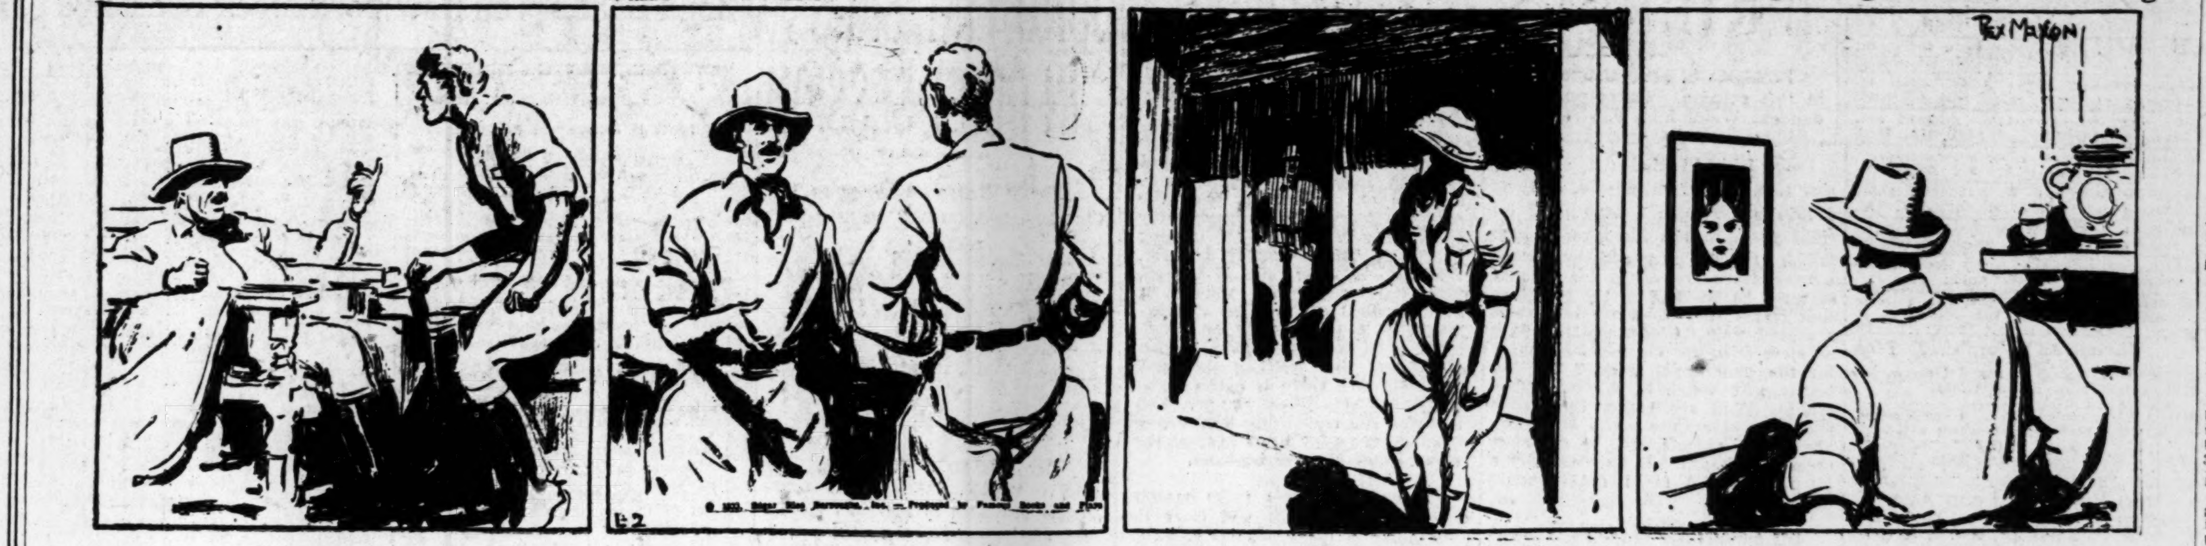
TARZAN THE APE MAN No. 2

By Edgar Rice Burroughs



"It's the same old tale," said Parker, as the natives left. "We can get nothing from them. 'Mutia escarpment'—too high—too strong. What they really mean is—if there is a burial ground of the elephants, that's the elephants' affair. We've got no right to butt in!"

"Perhaps we haven't!" commented Holt. "And leave millions of pounds of ivory to rot under the earth?" questioned the older man. "How keen are you on the idea?" "I'm keen, all right," answered Holt. "It means release from this cursed hole!"

"So am I," said Parker. "I've got other—" He cut short his sentence at the sound of the river steamboat's whistle. "Go meet the steamer, Holt. See that our supplies get up directly." "All right," replied Holt, sauntering out. "Anything else?" "Bring the mail back quick."

"I'll hurry,' called back Holt, disappearing down the path toward the river-landing. And Parker, thinking of the long weeks since word had arrived from England, gazed upon a picture of a lovely, smiling girl and grumbled: "Neglecting your poor old father!"

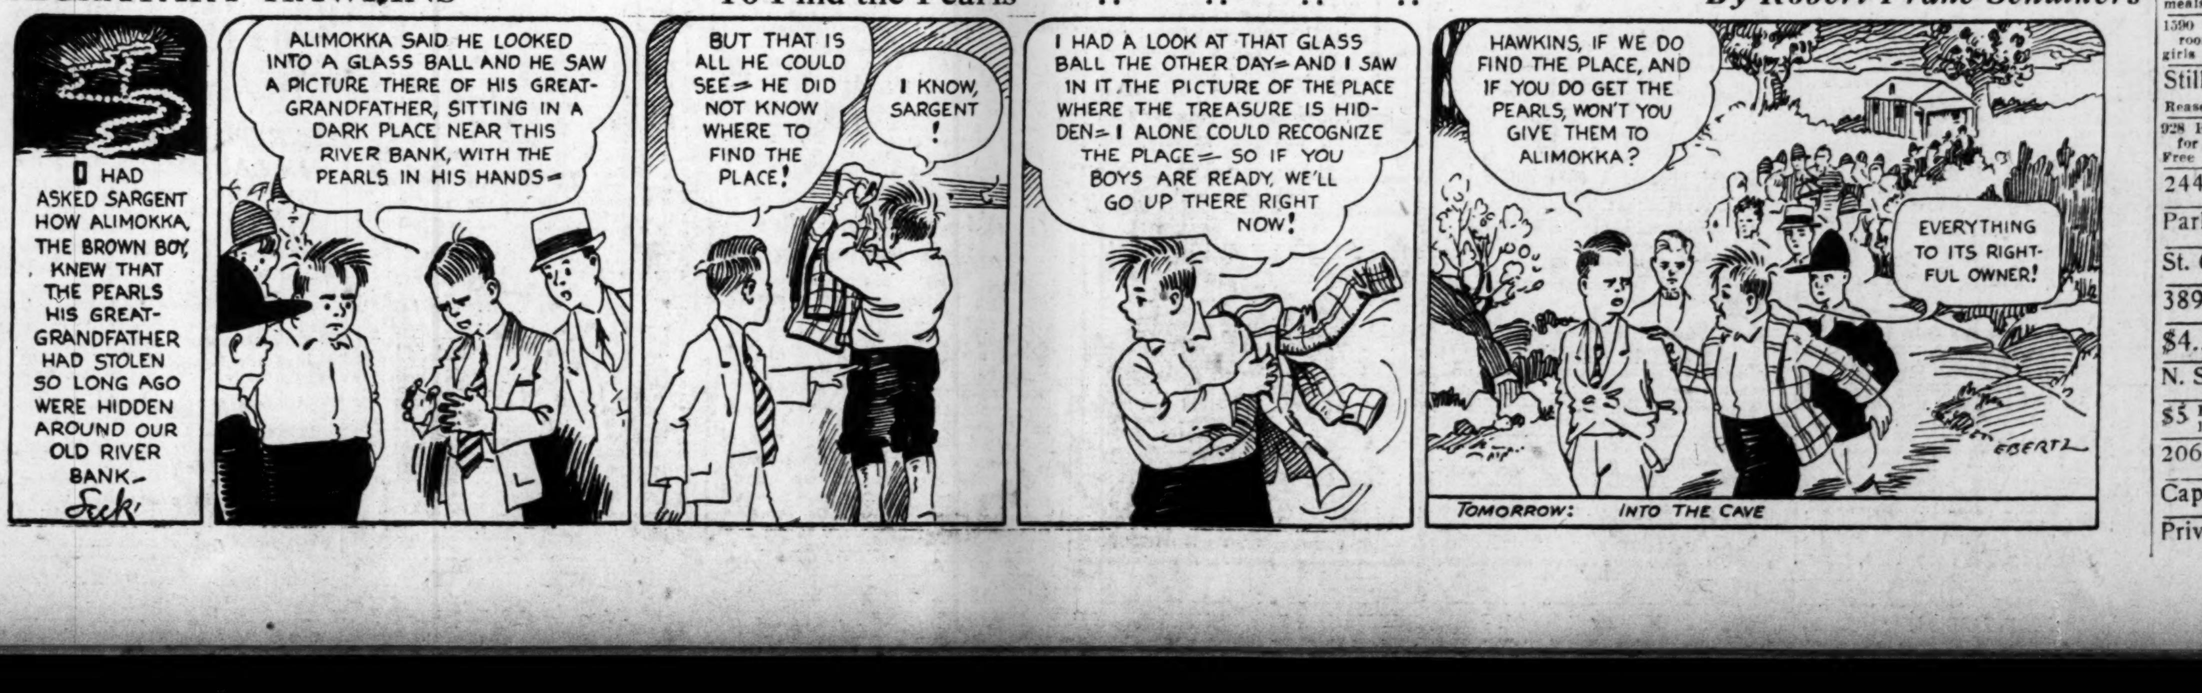
SECKATARY HAWKINS
To Find the Pearls :: :: :: ::
By Robert Franc Schulkers



I HAD ASKED SARGENT HOW ALIMOKKA, THE BROWN BOY, KNEW THAT THE PEARLS HIS GREAT-GRANDFATHER HAD STOLEN SO LONG AGO WERE HIDDEN AROUND OUR OLD RIVER BANK—
Seck
ALIMOKKA SAID HE LOOKED INTO A GLASS BALL AND HE SAW A PICTURE THERE OF HIS GREAT-GRANDFATHER, SITTING IN A DARK PLACE NEAR THIS RIVER BANK, WITH THE PEARLS IN HIS HANDS—
BUT THAT IS ALL HE COULD SEE— HE DID NOT KNOW WHERE TO FIND THE PLACE!
I KNOW, SARGENT!
I HAD A LOOK AT THAT GLASS BALL THE OTHER DAY— AND I SAW IN IT THE PICTURE OF THE PLACE WHERE THE TREASURE IS HIDDEN— I ALONE COULD RECOGNIZE THE PLACE— SO IF YOU BOYS ARE READY, WE'LL GO UP THERE RIGHT NOW!
HAWKINS, IF WE DO FIND THE PLACE, AND IF YOU DO GET THE PEARLS, WON'T YOU GIVE THEM TO ALIMOKKA?
EVERYTHING TO ITS RIGHTFUL OWNER!

FRIENDLY COUNSEL

BY CAROLINE CHATFIELD

Problems of general interest submitted by readers will be discussed in this column. Correspondence invited. Your name held in confidence. Write Miss Chatfield, care The Atlanta Constitution.

Dear Miss Chatfield: I am married to a stingy, know-it-all, bully of a man and though I have tried for eight years to win his favor I have failed. On the rare occasions when I have asked friends in for a game of cards he has treated the guests so rudely that they don't want to come a second time. Consequently I have no close friends. He provides amply for the pantry yet when I ask for money with which to buy clothes he replies, "You are eating these days and many others are not." My wants are simple enough, yet he considers them exhorbitant. If he were only a bit tender with me I could endure the privations.

His parents live in the same town with us and are frequent visitors in our home. They think we are happily married. My family lives at a distance and when they come to visit me, he makes them feel that they are not welcome. On their last visit he insisted that we eat all our meals on the kitchen table. Nothing is too good for his own flesh and blood. You can see from all of this that I am in a prison. If I leave home during his absence and he finds it out, he scolds me as if I had committed a crime. If it were not for my little girl, I would leave him. I was a businesswoman before I married and would gladly work again, if I could find employment. It seems to me that a child brought up in such an atmosphere as this will be worse off than if she had no father. I believe the whole trouble is money madness on his part. I have treated him with gentleness and forbearance; I have treated him with harshness and resentment, but it all comes to the same thing. His heart is stony. Which is better, to leave him or to stay with him until he drives me to kill myself.

MRS. C. B. R.

Answer: There is, perhaps, a better way of solving your difficulty than lies in either of the alternatives you suggest. The human mind and heart can, in time, adapt themselves to any set of circumstances. There is danger as well as safety, damnation as well as salvation in this thought. But in your case it is safety and salvation that you will gain by adapting yourself to the existing conditions: physical safety for yourself and your child, mental salvation from the agonized state in which you now are. To gain this you must school yourself to make the best of the situation, to quit fretting over what you cannot correct, to expect nothing from your selfish husband except the actual material necessities of life.

Oh, I know how the heart of a woman craves some expression of affection from her husband, some evidence of tenderness from the man she loves. It is unspeakably bitter to give all and get nothing in return but a paltry support. However, in these days it is well-nigh impossible for a woman in your predicament to find employment. If your family is not financially able to shoulder the burden of feeding and clothing you and the little girl, there is nothing you can do but stay where you are. And to make life reasonably livable you must harden your heart against the stony heart of your husband.

Not only will this make matters easier for you but it will clear the atmosphere of the home. It can only be cleared by a steadfast resolution on your part to resist the impulse to strike back by word or deed when your husband's inhuman treatment tempts you to strike back. You only bark your shins bruise your knuckles and make your heart sore by continual strife. Continual bickering not only keeps you stirred up but it gives the little girl a distorted idea of life and eventually will destroy her faith in love and marriage.

If this new attitude doesn't soften your husband's heart toward you, it will at least guarantee peace and serenity in the home. You should get out and mingle with people, even if it does mean that you will get a scolding when he discovers that you have made an excursion. You should have some outside amusement. By pinching a few pennies from the pantry allowance, you may save enough to buy a ticket to the movies occasionally. You may be in a prison but you have the power to unlock the gates and treat yourself to an outing. Don't let fear keep you from making the effort to unlock the gates.

AUTUMN LEAF.

While that suggests brown, orange and yellow, this quilt is equally effective of green, or even variegated prints. In past generations even Turkey red was often used for the leaves. The block is just under 15 inches square, and may be alternated with plain squares either straight or diagonally. A double border is pretty. The pattern which gives accurate cutting lines with seams allowed shows how the blocks are to be pieced, No. C116.

By VICTOR EUBANK.

NEW YORK, March 27.—(AP)—Caution prevailed in the bond market today and prices again slipped quietly to lower levels.

It was one of those listless sessions where support was generally absent and not too much pressure was applied except in special instances. Sales totaled only $9,159,000, par value, and the average for 60 domestic corporate loans lost three-tenths of a point.

Various foreign obligations came in for a little more attention than usual. The German list, especially government issues, was steadier. French 1-2s closed unchanged. Italian 7s gained 1 1-2 points.

United States government securities were fractionally lower most of the day, but Liberty fourth 4 1-4s and Treasury 3 3-8s of 1943-47 finished with small gains.

Domestic utilities were still inclined to present a cloudy appearance. Among the more active losers of fractions to a point or more in this group were some bonds of American Telephone, International Telephone and Western Union.

A few of the industrials and rails breasted the outgoing tide. Fisk Rubber 8s gained 4 points. Most of the railroads skidded fractionally to a point or more, but improvement was shown by some liens of Central of Georgia and Louisville & Nashville.

ELECTRIC BOND & SHARE CHAIRMAN RETIRES

NEW YORK, March 27.—(AP)—Retirement of Sidney Z. Mitchell, an outstanding figure in the electric power industry, from his various corporate offices including the chairmanship of the Electric Bond & Share Co., was announced today.

Mr. Mitchell's resignation from Electric Bond & Share, one of the leading electric holding and management companies, was accepted at a meeting of the directors today.

Associates of Mr. Mitchell, who recently passed his 71st birthday, explained that he had been in impaired health for the past two years, and that on advice of his physicians, was retiring from all his business activity, including his directorates in the Commonwealth & Southern Corporation, The Irving Trust Company and the International General Electric Company, as well as Bond & Share and its affiliated companies.

C. E. Groesbeck, formerly president of Electric Bond & Share, was elected chairman in place of Mr. Mitchell, and S. R. Inch, formerly executive vice president, was made president and a member of the board of directors.

It was understood that Mr. Groesbeck would succeed Mr. Mitchell in his office in American & Foreign Power and other affiliated companies when directors meetings are held.

JAPAN BUYS NICKEL TO MAKE NEW COINS

TOKYO, March 27.—(AP)—The finance minister recently bought from the International Nickel Company of Canada several hundred tons of nickel for the purpose of minting new small coinage to replace the present five and ten sen pieces of nickel and copper alloy.

(The sen is 1-100 of the yen, which is equivadent to about 22 cents.)

Officials of the finance and war ministries denied any knowledge of a plan to convert the present coins into bullets.

Sugar, Coffee, Rice.

SUGAR.

NEW YORK, March 27.—Raw sugar was unchanged today. Sales were 15,000 bags of Puerto Ricos, prompt shipment, 45,000 bags of Philippines for near-by positions, and 90,000 bags of Philippines for March-April, all at 2.95.

Futures closed 1 to 3 points net lower. The day's business amounted to only 11,950 tons. The market opened unchanged to 1 point advance and held steady through the early session with enough trade buying and covering to absorb moderate selling through commission houses.

Houses with Cuban connections were the principal sellers, with May selling off from .98 to .95 and December from 1.09 to 1.06 with closing prices at the lowest of the session. May closed .95, July .99, September 1.02, December 1.05, January 1.06 and March 1.08.

Refined sugar was unchanged at 4.20 for fine granulated.

COFFEE.

NEW YORK, March 27.—Coffee continued its decline today under commission house liquidation promoted by poor spot demand and uncertainty over Brazilian marketing policies.

No. 7 contracts opened 11 to 12 lower and closed 8 to 13 lower. Sales 2,000. Santos opened 3 to lower and closed 12 to 14 lower. Sales 13,000. Closing quotations, No. 7 contracts, May 5.30; July 5.14; September 4.98; December 4.91. Santos, May .64; July .35; September .13; December .04; March 6.98.

Spot coffee dull, Rio 6s, 7¾; Santos 4s, 8¾@9c.

RICE.

NEW YORK, March 27.—Clean rice (per 100 pounds, ex-dock, New York), quiet but steady with only a moderate inquiry reported. Blue Rose, extra fancy 2¾@2½; Edith, extra fancy 2¾@3; Lady Wright, extra fancy 2½; 2½@2½; Early Prolific, extra fancy 2½; Rexora, extra fancy 3½@3½; broken rice, 1¼@1½.

Dry Agent Continues Gotham Beer Arrests

NEW YORK, March 27.—(AP)—The two federal district attorneys for New York city have decided against further prosecutions against sellers of beer, but Prohibition Administrator Andrew McCampbell will continue to make arrests for beer sales and "to enforce the law as I see it."

McCampbell said:

"Even if persons arrested today cannot be brought to trial before the new law (legalizing 3.2 beer) becomes effective, the fact remains their acts were violations of the law when they were committed."

120 REPORTED KILLED IN LANDSLIDE IN PERU

LIMA, Peru, March 27.—(AP)—More than 120 persons were reported to have been killed yesterday when the village of Tantaday, in Trujillo province, was buried under a landslide.

Unusually heavy rain which damaged roads and crippled communication throughout the country was blamed for the slide.

Puryear Ill.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., March 27.—(AP)—Stanley A. Puryear, acquitted last fall on charges growing out of the axe slaying of his wife and daughter, is seriously ill in a hospital here. His physician said Puryear has pneumonia and diabetes.

By JOHN P. BOUGHAN.

CHICAGO, March 27.—(AP)—Unsettled by reports indicating doubt that the house agricultural bill at Washington would be much changed by senate action, the wheat market developed weakness today.

At no time did wheat values go above Saturday's finish.

Wheat closed unsteady at almost the day's bottom figures, 3-8 to 7-8 net lower, corn unchanged to 1-4 up, oats 1-8 to 1-4 off, and provisions varying from 5 cents decline to a rise of 2 cents.

Heaviness of securities was a contributing bearish influence.

The best rally in wheat prices came after announcement that the United States visible supply showed 3,151,000 bushels decrease during the last week, lowering the total to 135,922,000 bushels compared with 202,269,000 a year ago.

Corn and oats showed relative strength compared with wheat. September oats reached a new high for the crop.

Highlights of Wall Street

BY CHARLES W. STORM, Editor, the News Service of Wall Street.

(Copyright, 1933, by the North American Newspaper Alliance, Inc.)

NEW YORK, March 27.—A distinct feeling of unrest in the financial district found reflection in steady selling of such pivotal issues as Allied Chemical, American Telephone & Telegraph, E. I. du Pont de Nemours and Steel preferred. Heretofore the selling of the two first named issues has been largely for the account of professional operators.

The market looked weaker than appears from the net losses registered for the day and its discouraging aspect apparently was due to the fact that the few pivotal stocks which were under pressure, especially Allied Chemical and American Telephone & Telegraph, showed sharp net declines.

With regard to the appearance of renewed liquidation it is assumed it has some connection with preparations by some banking institutions to reopen for business following segregation of certain "frozen" assets and the issuance of preferred stocks. It is believed institutions contemplating this action are selling securities and getting into as liquid a conditon as possible.

Appearance again of weakness in some of the best bank stocks was discouraging.

STABILIZING RAIL SECURITIES.

There was considerable discussion in the Street regarding the status of insurance companies. Weakness of National Surety Company stock attracted attention.

Expectation in the Street, however, is that the railroad legislation being considered at Washington, if enacted, will have a most stabilizing influence on railroad securities.

It is believed the administration realizes the necessity of doing something to strengthen the assets of the insurance companies and savings banks and that a constructive railroad plan would accomplish the desired result.

BY JOHN L. COOLEY.

NEW YORK, March 27.—(AP)—Financial markets were largely reactionary today, thus continuing the dominant trend of last week.

Stocks went through the dullest trading since January 30, but sporadic selling in a number of leaders and the absence of buying interest made for lower prices all around.

Much of the decline, which ranged from 1 to nearly 4 in some issues, occurred in the last hour. Previously, the market had been so stagnant that fluctuations were meaningless except as they reflected evaporation of the enthusiasms prevalent 10 days ago.

Dividend uncertainties appeared to have been a factor of some importance in determining the list's movement. Both American Can and Allied Chemical, whose directors meet for dividend action tomorrow, were heavy, the former losing nearly 4 points, while Can yielded about 2.

Du Pont was again soft, losing approximately 2 points, while Corn Products, Case, Harvester, Firestone and National Surety declined a point or more. Rails were less cheerful than of late. Baltimore & Ohio, Chesapeake & Ohio and Louisville & Nashville returned losses running up to 2 points.

Appointment of a senate subcommittee to study the various plans that have been brought forward for aiding silver was accompanied by a flurry in a few metal stocks, while sugar issues strengthened on news that Cuban producers were discussing an extension of the segregation period for 700,000 tons. Wet stocks were steady, oils ignored the conservation conference in Washington. Sales totaled 493,970 shares.

Steel production, down last week to 14 per cent of theoretical capacity, has seen its early 1933 rise virtually cancelled, though trade reviews insist that an optimistic view is justified for the longer term.

Less has been heard recently of another wage rate reduction. Pleasanter reading can be found in the record of commercial failures which thus far in March is the most favorable, for the current month, in the last seven or eight years.

Foreign Markets

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

LONDON—Continued strength of gilt-edged securities and foreign bonds was followed later by a hardening of prices in the industrial section and a recovery in gold mining shares. Trading on the stock exchange started the week brightly. Profit-taking caused a shading of prices from the best of the day but the closing was steady. Trans-Atlantic shares were dull.

PARIS—Influenced by the hesitancy of foreign markets, trading on the bourse was dull. Weakness in French rentes affected other issues and the closing was irregular.

BERLIN—Prices on the boerse opened cheerful but later became irregular. The closing was somewhat weaker.

Miscellaneous Markets.

WOOL.

BOSTON, March 27.—The wool market is very quiet. While quotations are steady and unchanged as compared with last week, not enough business is being done to make a market. Receipts of domestic wool at Boston during the week ending March 25, estimated by the Boston Grain and Flour Exchange, amounted to 381,200 pounds as compared with 3,193,500 during the previous week. Receipts for the year to date amount to 20,425,200 pounds as compared with 14,034,900 during the corresponding period last year.

METALS.

NEW YORK, March 27.—Copper steady; electrolytic spot and future 5. Tin steady; spot and nearby 24.50; future 24.50. Iron firmer; No. 2 f. o. b. eastern Pennsylvania 13.00@14.00; Buffalo 14.00; Alabama 10.00 @11.00. Lead quiet; spot New York 3.00; East St. Louis 2.87. Zinc barely steady; East St. Louis spot and future 3.00. Antimony 5.95. Quicksilver 54.00@56.00.

DRY GOODS.

NEW YORK, March 27.—Cotton goods trading was quiet today but prices were steady. Uncertainty on rayon quotations continues to limit buying of yarns and fabrics. Women's wear wool fabrics are being sold more readily. Burlap levels were firm but raw silk was weaker in Japan.

RUBBER.

NEW YORK, March 27.—Crude rubber futures closed dull. March 2.92b; May 2.99b; July 3.07n; September 3.15n. Smoked ribbed spot closed 2.95n. b—Bid; n—Nominal.

SILK.

NEW YORK, March 27.—(UP)—Silk futures closed one point higher to one point lower. Sales were 146 lots. March 1.11@1.15; April 1.12; May 1.11@1.13; June, July, August, September and October 1.11@1.12.

Earnings.

CHICAGO, March 27.—Montgomery Ward & Company reported a loss of $5,686,783 for the 13 months ended January 31, 1933, an improved showing as compared with the loss of $9,737,083 for the 13 months ended January 31, 1932. The company has changed its fiscal year to end January 31 beginning this year.

Sales declined from $210,945,672 to $176,488,690, or 26.33 per cent.

Financial position of the company was described as strong, current assets last January 31 being $83,460,366 against current liabilities of $7,140,395.

ATLANTA SPOT COTTON.

Atlanta spot cotton closed steady, 20 points down to 6.20. Receipts 35; shipments 28; stocks 269,220.

NEW YORK, March 27.—(AP)—Cotton followed other markets today, declining about $1 a bale under foreign selling and liquidation.

May contracts closed at 6.19, with the general market closing barely steady at net losses of 18 to 20 points. After opening 3 to 5 points lower the market worked gradually lower up to midsession.

Offerings increased near the close. Prices broke about $1 per bale from the final quotations of Saturday with October declining to 6.54. Closing prices were within a point or two of the lowest for the day.

Some southern selling was reported on the late decline.

Liverpool cables said that market sentiment there was rather mixed with general disposition to await action in Washington especially as regards farm relief.

According to the New York Cotton Exchange service world's consumption of American lint cotton for February totaled approximately 1,095,000 bales against 1,093,000 in February last year, the total for the first seven months of this season being 9,990,000 bales against 7,219,000 for the same period last year. Exports today 10,133, making 6,095,282 so far this season. Port receipts 8,681. United States port stocks 4,411,485.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON DECLINES 18-20 POINTS

NEW ORLEANS, March 27.—(AP) Cotton values sagged today in relatively quiet trading, closing barely steady, 18 to 20 points net lower in sympathy with reactions in stocks and on liquidation by traders who considered Washington advices on the farm relief bill adverse.

The opening was irregular with Liverpool cables about 2 penny points worse than due. Private cables said that market was quiet and featureless with transactions confined to the local trade. Manchester reported quiet trade with a few low price-testing offers and near outlets quiet.

Liverpool is due on New Orleans tomorrow 7 to 8 penny points down.

Port receipts 9,216, for week 14,930, for season 7,473,874, last season 9,125,611. Exports 10,668, for week 19,787, for season 5,995,793, last season 6,649,924. Port stock 4,367,659, last year 4,452,569. Combined shipboard stock at New Orleans Galveston and Houston 102,368, last year 151,364. Spot sales at southern markets 6,592, last year 16,422.

VALUES ON CURB MOVE DOWNWARD

By CLAUDE A. JAGGER.

NEW YORK, March 27.—(AP)—Curb prices moved downward today, but the market was chiefly notable for its small volume. Transactions totaled 90,000 shares against 100,000 on Friday.

Aluminum Company of America issues dropped 3 to 4 points, Consolidated Gas of Baltimore 5, Georgia Power preferred 3, Singer Manufacturing 4 and Standard Oil of Ohio preferred 2.

Utilities were heavy, but with few exceptions, their losses did not exceed fractional limits. Electric Bond & Share dropped back to 12 but rallied fractionally at the close.

A few specialties ignored the trend and pushed higher. A. O. Smith gained more than a point, and fractional improvement featured Imperial Oil, Pennroad Corporation, Pioneer Gold, Western Auto Supply and Woolworth, Ltd.

Brokers' Views

STOCK OPINIONS.

LIVINGSTON & COMPANY—We think stocks are in a long range buying zone, but can't hold out much promise for a good market in the near future.

DOBBS & COMPANY—It is expected that something will be heard from Washington before Tuesday's session is ended, which may give direction to the market.

BEER & COMPANY—We would be inclined to look for a continuation of the same type of markets until some important developments become evident in political and trade circles.

FENNER, BEANE & UNGERLEIDER—In spite of present circumstances, the past shows that smaller risks by far lie on the constructive side of the present type of market.

COTTON OPINIONS.

FENNER, BEANE & UNGERLEIDER—The technical position was greatly improved by the selling of Monday afternoon, and we prefer the constructive side at the present level.

LIVINGSTON & COMPANY—Uncertainty of Washington news keeps business restricted and moderate orders on either side might easily influence the market.

GRAIN OPINIONS.

LIVINGSTON & COMPANY—Sentiment continues somewhat mixed and unsettled over the market effect of pending farm legislation, but there is nevertheless noted an undercurrent of bullish feeling and the growing conviction that with the near completion of farm board liquidation, better things are in prospect for the wheat market.

FENNER, BEANE & UNGERLEIDER—We continue to feel that such minor reactions as experienced Monday afford excellent buying opportunities.

Cross Sections of Life In Gate City of South

Their work of winding up the affairs of the legislature completed, President Hamilton McWhorter, of the state senate, and Speaker E. D. Rivers, of the house of representatives, will leave today for their homes. Mr. McWhorter will go to Lexington and Speaker Rivers to Lakeland. They have been here winding up work accruing from the biennial session of the assembly which ended on March 18.

Lions' Club of Atlanta will hold its weekly luncheon at 12:30 o'clock today at the Henry Grady hotel. Instead of a speaker it has been arranged for the members to discuss "The History of Religion," under the chairmanship of Bob Young. Members of the Salvation Army band will furnish music.

Professor Herman Martin, of Emory; Enrico Leide, manager of the Fox theater, and Dr. Irving Goldstein will serve as judges of the Queen Esther contest at the Purim ball at 8:30 o'clock tonight at the Shrine mosque. The ball is being given by the United Hebrew school. Harry Wengrow is general chairman and A. H. Germain is in charge of the beauty contest.

Attorneys for A. W. Lilly, former chief of DeKalb county police, Monday denied that Lilly was in charge of a raid on a Fairview road house in which W. E. Hartley Jr. was arrested and charged with a prohibition violation. Weekes and Candler, counsel for Lilly, said that the raid was staged by other officers and Lilly's only connection was that he was called to the house to take a picture of the still.

Judge E. Marvin Underwood, in federal district court, today will decide the question of whether the trial of Dr. B. G. Swanson, charged with violating the narcotic laws, shall be put on the court calendar this term of court. The case was continued on a physician's report that Dr. Swanson was too ill for trial. District Attorney Clint W. Hager, however, Monday launched an effort to bring him to trial.

Herman DeLaPrierre, state director of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation loans, and members of his office staff Monday moved into their new offices on the second floor of the capitol. The offices temporarily had been in those occupied by Tom Linder, executive secretary to the governor. The new office is part of that formerly used by Dr. J. M. Sutton, state veternarian.

Commissioner of Agriculture G. C. Adams, accompanied by a party of relatives and friends, will leave today for a five-day fishing trip at Dead Lakes, near Bountstown, Fla., which is just across the Georgia line. The commissioner plans to return to Atlanta Saturday.

R. E. Gormley, state superintendent of banks, said Monday that only six of the state's 228 banks, closing during the banking holiday, have not been re-opened. Arrangements are being made, the superintendent said, to have these banks re-opened shortly. The names of the institutions were not made public.

R. C. Mizell, president of the Atlanta and Fulton County Taxpayers' League, will address the weekly meeting of the Atlanta Kiwanis Club at 12:30 o'clock this afternoon at the Ansley hotel on "The Recent Session of the Georgia Legislature." Music will be given by Dave Love's orchestra.

Cully A. Cobb, editor and director of the Progressive Farmer-Ruralist Company, will speak before the meeting of the Rotary Club at the Capital City Club at 12:30 o'clock this afternoon on "The Question of Teamwork With the Farmer."

Dr. Herman L. Turner, pastor of the Covenant Presbyterian church, will deliver the fourth and final talk in a series of lectures before the Bible class of the Young Men's Christian Association on Luckie street at 7 o'clock tonight, it was announced. His subject will be "An Unchanging Christ in a Changing World." The lecture will last 30 minutes and all men in the city are invited to attend.

Brigadier Bob Young, financial secretary of the southeastern division of the Salvation Army, will talk on "The History of Religion" at the meeting of the Lions Club at the Henry Grady hotel. The Salvation Army band will give a program of music.

Mrs. Frederick Edey, national president of Girl Scouts, will be guest speaker at the regular meeting of the Civitan Club at the Atlanta Athletic Club today. Girl Scouts will present a skit as entertainment.

W. Perry Bloodworth, Atlanta attorney, will speak on "The Biggest Business in the World" before the regular meeting of the Exchange Club of Atlanta at the Atlanta Athletic Club today.

Highly explosive hydrogen gas in tanks containing 150,000 cubic feet endangered the entire plant Monday morning when a crude oil pipe line burst at the Swift & Co. refinery at 566 Wells street. The fire was brought under control after a 30-minute battle by firemen.

Atlanta has been chosen as the 1935 convention city of the Pan-American League and "La Revista Escolar Panamericana," a Spanish publication edited by O. S. Bandy, professor of Spanish at Tech High school, has been chosen as the official paper of the league, according to announcement following the 1933 convention at Dallas.

Proposed $3 municipal automobile tax to increase city revenue met objections of several members of council Monday. They held that the public is aroused over the proposal and is expressing itself as unalterably opposed to the plan as suggested by Councilman William G. Hastings, chairman of council's traffic committee.

Friday is the last day in which Atlantans may return 1933 city taxes without a penalty, and scores of owners crowded city hall corridors Monday.

Fourth army corps area headquarters at Fort McPherson announced Monday that pending unemployment legislation in congress was the cause of cancellation of troop concentration and maneuvers at Fort Benning. The announcement said soldiers may be used as instructors for the civilians if the bill passes.

Four Georgians, including three Atlantans, have been given commissions as second lieutenants in the infantry reserve, according to a reserve corps announcement. They are Milton D. Hopkins, 1454 Fairview road; Charles W. Sadler, 837 Cascade avenue, S. W., and Dick B. Weir, of Georgia Tech, all of Atlanta, and Frederick S. Dale, of Rome.

Men's Bible class of the Second-Ponce de Leon Baptist church led in Sunday school attendance Sunday with attendance of 303. The Agoga class of Baptist Tabernacle was second with 301 and the Men's Bible class of Druid Hills Baptist was third with 270 present. Miss Martha Loud, of the Ramabai Mukti mission, India, will deliver an address on the work of the mission at 7:30 o'clock tonight in the parlor of the North Avenue Presbyterian Sunday school building. Her lecture will be illustrated by slides.

Judge Jesse M. Wood Monday placed Arnold Shutley, 20, of a Holderness street address, and William Gorman, 17, on 12 months' probation after they pleaded guilty to possessing a small amount of whisky. It was understood that the boys had been placed under a suspended fine by Recorder John Cone, but were re-arrested by detectives.

County police early Monday seized an automobile and 100 gallons of whisky after a 10-mile chase. According to a report filed by Officers Vinson, Davis and Clay, three men escaped afoot from the liquor car.

Cecil Evans, 26, of Atlanta, and James Corbin, 38, of Yoland, Ala., soldiers who escaped from Fort McPherson guardhouse last week, were reported under arrest at Meridian, Miss., Monday. The Fulton grand jury has indicted them for the alleged theft of an automobile used following the escape and for an alleged attempt to take another car from a woman in Colonial Hills.

Federal grand jury held a one-day session Monday and returned five true bills, all charging alleged liquor violations, and three no-bills. The jury then recessed until April 11.

DR. ANDREW J. LAMAR PASSES IN NASHVILLE

Native Georgian, Retired Methodist Leader, Succumbs to Illness.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., March 27. (AP)—Dr. Andrew Jackson Lamar, 86, retired publishing agent of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, died at his home here tonight after several months' illness.

Dr. Lamar resigned as publishing agent last May after serving in that capacity since July, 1903. Prior to 1903, he had been presiding elder of the Montgomery and Mobile districts of the Alabama conference of his church, and he also served the Alabama conference as secretary for more than 20 years.

He was born in Walton county, Georgia, May 29, 1847, and graduated from the University of Georgia in 1872. Two years later he was ordained in the Alabama conference as a minister in the Methodist church. Southwestern Methodist University conferred the honorary degree of doctor of divinity upon him in 1895.

Dr. Lamar served pastorates in Union Springs, Greenville, Auburn, Mobile, Montgomery and Selma, Ala., before becoming presiding elder of the Mobile and Montgomery districts.

In 1890, he was elected a member of the general conference of the denomination, and attended all subsequent general conferences. He was a member of the Methodist ecumenical conferences in 1901 and 1911, and was president of the board of trustees of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South.

Brief services will be held in McKendree Methodist church here at 3 p. m. tomorrow, after which the body will be sent to Montgomery for funeral services at Dexter Avenue church, to be conducted by Dr. H. Warnings Preceded Fatal Plane Crash

OAKLAND, Cal., March 27.—(AP) Warnings of storm conditions in the Oakland area were broadcast, federal authorities said today, a few minutes before the Varney Speed Line plane crashed in suburban San Leandro Saturday night bringing death to 13 persons.

Department of commerce authorities here said the records showed a regular broadcast at 7:30 p. m.; a special warning at 7:42 p. m., and regular weather reports at 7:50, 7:55 and 8 p. m. The plane crashed about 7:55 p. m.

E. E. Mouton, department of commerce aeronautical inspector, said the plane was west of Tracy, Cal., some 20 miles from San Leandro at 7:55 p. m. and the pilot had not only that opportunity but also one at 7:42 p. m. to learn of the local storm which was blamed by the company officials for the catastrophe.

Notice.

Examination of nurses for the purpose of becoming registered will be held on April 27 and 28.
